

Blooded Jerseys Bring Good Money at Sales

Two interesting Jersey sales were held in the Willamette valley last week that showed something of the estimate in which Oregon Jerseys are held. One was the Watts sale on Saturday, where the females of all ages brought an average price of $289.55. One 2-year-old cow brought $600. Bids were received by mail from Washington, California, and British Columbia. At the Brewer and Gentry sale near Aumsville, Friday, the average price was $205 for 25 head in a dispersion sale of the whole herd except six animals. Col. J. M. Hughes, of Forest Grove was the auctioneer, and E. A. Rhoten of Salem the sales manager. The Ed Cary sale near Perrydale, a few days earlier, brought an average of $196 for all animals, including the males, considered a remarkably good price.

FORDS LEAD ALL AT CAMP GROUND

Park Is Busy Place These Days, According to Superintendent's Report

"And the Ford leads all the rest" applies at least to the cars which bring tourists to the Salem auto park, according to the records kept by Superintendent T. G. Albert. More than 140 of the 320 cars registering at the camp last month were Fords.

May, 1923, leads the same month last year by 114 cars and of the 320 cars 133 came from California, and 85 from Washington, 55 from Oregon, 24 from Idaho, seven from Montana, three from Indiana and one each from Nebraska, Vermont and Alberta.

The record attendance for the camp this season was Sunday night when a total of 48 camps were made within the park, according to Mr. Albert. Last night the total was 4 with the possibility of others coming in after the office was closed.

Those registering last night were:

M. H. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. O. Benton, Boise, Ida.; Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Zimmerman, Green Falls, Ida.; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Howard, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. E. Billings, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Dalke, Blackfoot, Ida.; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Godley, Newport; Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Duke, Yakima; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wilcox, Los Angeles; R. E. Gallant, Redmond; E. Landry, Albuquerque, New Mexico; Robert Durand, Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. W. Jones, Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Shaw, Glens Falls, Ida.; S. J. Turner, C. E. Turner, Duma, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoag Are Honored at Brush College

The women of Brush College gave a banquet Friday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight A. Hoag to show the appreciation of the district of the work that these teachers have done during the two years they have been teaching there.

It was a surprise to the Hoags, who thought the tables were being arranged in the spacious schoolhouse basement for a party after all were seated. Mrs. Karl Harritt advanced with a large cake, bright with lighted candles, and placed it before Mrs. Hoag and said:

"In honor of your birthday which comes soon the people of Brush College present you this cake as an expression of their love."

The beautiful cake was baked by Mrs. Lee Gibson.

After a response by Mrs. Hoag, Miss Annie Singer spoke the following words:

"To write or speak a few words of appreciation usually leaves one vaguely and excitedly grasping into the air for bright and tactful ideas. In this case, however it is not a matter of wanting ideas but an adequate means of expressing the love and appreciation for our dear teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Hoag, and our sincere regret that we are losing them from our school."

"A teacher is one who gives to us new thoughts, inspirations and ideals; one who is able and willing, often at an inconvenience to himself, to give us an ambition and enthusiasm to strive for that elusive and always hard fought for goal—success. We feel that our two teachers have all these qualities, and that our neighborhood is a better community for having had their kind and sincere influence upon the children of the Brush College school." Both Mr. and Mrs. Hoag responded.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoag have accepted positions in the Liberty school for next year.

Musical Program Benefit To Silvertown's Library

SILVERTOWN, Or., June 2. — (Special to The Statesman). — A musical program such as is seldom heard in Silvertown was given Friday night by the Silvertown Silvertown Library. Only a medium-sized crowd was out. This was due to lack of advertisement, it is said. The two pianos used were furnished by the Stiff Furniture company.

Of the three numbers given by the Choral society perhaps "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" by Gounod, was most enthusiastically received. This was undoubtedly due to the solo and duet work which the selection contained and which was carried by Mrs. S. Richardson and Tom Kaarhus. A women's trio composed of Miss Esther Larson, Mrs. Fannie Hyett and Miss Ethel Freeman was also a very popular number.

The selection which perhaps showed the most skill was the piano duet "Diana" by Holst played on two pianos from memory by Mrs. Gertrude Cammeron and Mrs. Vida Bennett. Mrs. M. G. Gunderson's solo "Little Mother 'O Mine" received a great deal of applause. Mrs. Gunderson, as did most of the other participants, responded to an encore. A male quartet composed of Mayor L. C. Eastman, Dr. H. S. Sauve, James Smith and J. Hoblitt was enthusiastically received. Mayor core Eastman responded for the quartet to the call for encore by an amusing solo. Mr. Eastman was amused and the male quartet then responded to the call.

Other members on the program were selections by the orchestra, "The Pilgrim's Chorus" by the Choral society; vocal solo by Gordon McCall; piano solo by Miss Ruth Fluhrer; selection by a mixed quartet composed of H. S. Sauve, Mrs. G. Benson, Mrs. Fannie Hyett and James Smith; selection by mixed quartet composed of Mrs. S. E. Richardson, Tom Kaarhus, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCall. By special request the Choral society sang "Soldiers' Farewell."

KING'S COMPANY CHANGES FORM

Non-Par Value Stock Is Issued Under New Incorporation Method

To make a change in its manner of capitalization, allowed under an act of the 1923 legislature, the Salem King's Products company has dissolved and re-incorporated under the same name. The recent legislative act allows a capitalization without par value, and under the new incorporation the Salem company shows a capitalization of $750,000 in preferred stock and 7500 shares with no par value.

The Dallas King's Products company dissolved some time ago, and now re-incorporates in the same manner as at Salem, the capitalization in preferred stock being $400,000.

The following articles were filed yesterday:

Erickson Manufacturing company, Portland; incorporators, Albert H. Erickson, Leslie M. Erickson, Harry O. Strom; capitalization, $15,000.

Goodyear Shoe company, Portland; incorporators, Sam Stone, Pauline Bruck, A. F. Flegel; capitalization, $50,000.

Notice of decrease in capitalization from $10,000 to $5000 was filed by the Oregon Land & Timber company of Portland.

WRITER TALKS AT CLUB LUNCH

Albany Author Gives Inside "Dope" On Just How "It Is Done"

Salem business men who thought that a successful author would look like a Matt or Jeff, or like a pop-eyed freak or a long-haired Bohemian with a bulbous nose and a guttural, hoarse voice wondered who the young chap might be who sat at the speaker's table for the Chamber of Commerce literary dinner Monday noon.

But it really was Alexander the Great of Albany, the man who put Oregon dogs and horses and forests and stories on the map and painted them in colors that won't come off. He isn't old, indeed, he's almost new—like radio and the helicopter and the 13-horse-power serial flier that crossed the English channel. He may some day commit the crime of being an old man; but he hasn't yet, and can't for a long time to come.

He told the audience that he started in with $300 a story, from Collier's. They raise the new author $50 a story from the first one, up to $100, tottering places that even a banker or a cherry-grower would consider important money. He wrote two such stories in two days; some men could forge more face value in checks in a like space of time, but not very many young men can actually get that much cash on their handwriting inside of two days.

But it isn't all in the writing, Mr. Alexander says. He might have to spend a long time gathering the material. In introducing him to the audience, Col. E. Hofer said that to get the material for the late Collier success, "The Branders," the author traveled down to Silver Lake, Or., and lived with the roundup until he had the whole cattle business by heart; then he wrote it in one day—what had taken weeks and weeks to gather.

The material for "stories" is everywhere, says Alexander. Being called down to Eugene, to speak before the class in story writing at the university, Mr. Alexander found an individualistic dog that was yelping and biting at his master's heels. The dog had real character, personality. Instantly he fitted into a dog story that the writer had planned long before, but laid away in the morgue for lack of a suitable dog hero. With this jangle-dog hero right at hand, he wrote one of his best stories; and the university Poes and Balzacs and Kiplings were a bit peeved that he had come down and stolen the dog story right from under their noses. "But they might come to my town and find stories that I overlook," he said.

Mr. Alexander claims to be anything but a student of classical lore, anything by a rigid stylist of models approved in the past. He holds that the real writer must so feel his subject that he simply can't help writing the story. With Alexander, the whole story of Oregon; its Indians, its trail-makers and trails, its bears, dogs, jack-rabbits, cows, forests and seashore and fogs and a' that. He

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains, You or Bladder Bothers.

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day; also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weak; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach bours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been tried for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

believes that more Oregonians could follow the urge to write of their native state, and make it a real vogue for the literary world, like James Fox did for the Blue Grass section of Kentucky. He says that his first real triumph was the acceptance of a tale in The Blue Book, "Done in Oregon." It was a punk story, he said, but the title has never ceased to thrill him as the motto of all his work—"done in Oregon."

Col. E. Hofer, speaking of literature in the northwest, urged that there are 110,000,000 people in the United States, ready to pour their reading money into the lap of Oregon, if its writers will only do as did the litterateurs of Indiana—take it! He spoke of Sam Simpson, the tramp printer whose "Beautiful Willamette" is destined to be the rarest, brightest gem in all the history of American literature; there is nothing in Tennyson to equal it, he said.

Largest Bombing Plane Ready For Trial Flight

LONDON, June 5.—England's largest airplane, a huge bomber built in secret for the Air Ministry will soon be given its trial flight. According to the Daily Express, the big plane is built entirely of steel, with the engines installed in a cabin completely armored against machine guns.

The engine room will be in charge of a mechanic, thus leaving the pilot free to operate the lifting and steering levers without regard to the engine details.

MONTH OF MAY WAS NOT WET

Many Rainy Scares During Period, But Precipitation Proves Light

For all the alarms and scares and the dashes back home for a forgotten umbrella, and all the spring hats unworn and the clouds and the near-storms, May was a comparatively dry month. With precipitation on 16 days, with seven days listed as cloudy and 19 as partly cloudy, and with one vigorous hail storm to boot, the total precipitation was only 1.89 of an inch.

The highest temperature was 86 degrees on May 8. The lowest was 24 degrees on the 2nd. The greatest range in a single day was 38 degrees on the 3rd and again on the 8th; the smallest variation for a single day was 11 degrees, between 58 and 48 degrees Fahrenheit, on the 29th, when it rained nearly all day.

An interesting comparison appears in the mean maximum and the mean minimum for the various months of the year. In December the average maximum was 44 degrees, and the mean minimum 34.8, or only 9.2 degrees difference between the high and the low. In January it was 47.4 and 38.1, or a difference of 9.3 degrees between high and low. In February the high and low began to separate widely, the one being 44 degrees and the other 29.3; considerably the coldest month of the year, as to its minimum temperature readings, but with the day readings the same as in December. In March they separated yet farther, from 55 to 35.6 degrees. April showed a maximum average of 62.9, and a minimum average of 41.5, and May shows a maximum average of 57.4 and a minimum average of 46.0. The difference became yet more marked through the heat of the summer, until it reached an average difference of close to 30 degrees as against the December variation of only nine degrees.

SEATTLE IS THE HOTTEST IN THE NORTHWEST, June 5.—Seattle was the hottest day in Seattle, 1923, George N. Salisbury, weather observer, reported. The mercury went up to 82 degrees.

A "Gritty" Carbon

that scores cylinders and rings

There's a softer, fluffier kind

Some carbonaceous residue is deposited by all motor oils. Every manufacturer of motor oil knows that. But there are two kinds of "carbon." One is hard, flint-like and gritty. It clings to the pistons, cylinders, valves and rings. Cylinders can be scored by it. And chisels or acetylene torches are required to remove it.

Causes "Knocking"

Being hard and gritty, it acts as an abrasive, causing pistons, cylinders and rings to wear. Small pieces become incandescent, causing pre-ignition so the motor "knocks." Spark plugs become coated. So the spark is short circuited and your motor misses. Particles attach to valve heads and seats, preventing proper seating and resulting in loss of compression and weak power. And this "carbon" of flint-like hardness collects in quantities two to three times as great as the other kind.

Can Not Wear

The small residue which Aristo Motor Oil deposits is of a different kind. It is soft and fluff. Most of it blows out with the exhaust. What is left is softer than the metal of cylinders, pistons and rings so cannot score or wear them. Motors so lubricated run thousands of miles farther without the necessity of cleaning. Your motor retains tight compression and full power, and you save repairs. Aristo is made by the lubrication specialists of the Union Oil Company, equipped with every accepted facility for producing perfect motor oil. A durable, fine film penetrates to and protects each working part in any weather and at all motor heats. Tested by famous drivers under conditions far more severe than any you will ever cause your motor to encounter. If you would operate a smoother, well-protected, longer-lasting motor, always use an oil like this. For sale at all first-class garages and service stations.
