

Tennis on Shipboard

New York. The absolutely individual, unaccounted season, to hit on her daily need of golf, set of tennis, or other outdoor no longer need through these beautiful pleasure when taking a trip to Europe on one of the luxurious steamers of the United States Lines.

Today, when practically everyone in the country, from grandma to little sister Sue, is taking up exercising in some form or other, in order to keep in perfect physical trim, the thought of spending several days on the ocean, on no matter how comfortable a boat, brings up the question of out-door sports on ship board. Unless they have previously traveled on the George Washington, President Harding, President Roosevelt, or other vessels of the United States Lines fleet, they are surprised to learn from those who have crossed the Atlantic on these vessels that they are equipped not only to care for every comfort, but for the physical welfare of passengers.

Now that the food of tourist travel has started strongly eastward, and fair weather and calm prevail, there is an increasing call for out-of-door diversions upon the part of passengers. Everything from sports to deck tennis and golf may be indulged in on these liners, and only resulting in many pleasures being whittled away, but allowing nothing to mar the trip.

Deck tennis is proving very popular. The court on the President Harding is laid out on the aft part of the best deck of the liner, and is practically as large as a regulation one. Canvas back stops and heavy nets on the side guards prevent balls from being scattered overboard. The younger passengers especially find tennis on the high seas, beneath a cooling breeze, a most appealing sport, and from sunrise to sundown await their turn to play "doubles" for, as the case may be, "singles" or other variations.

Particularly on other decks, however, that there is a tennis court on the main deck, often looking the full size of a tennis court, and on the President Harding and on the President Roosevelt of the United States Lines fleet, the courts are also in the vicinity of the main deck. These courts are not only as great a benefit to the passengers from a health standpoint, but are greatly to the joy of the trip across the Atlantic.

A PRETTY wedding yesterday afternoon at the Delta Phi sorority house Miss Emma Shanafelt became the bride of Lester Day. Miss Lorlei Blatchford and Clarence Gillette were the attendants. Little Gertrude Winstow, in a dainty pink orsandy, was flower girl and preceded the bride.

The couple stood for the marriage service before a lattice work of roses in the living room of the sorority house. The bride wore white satin trimmed with panels of lace. Her full length veil was held in place with a spray of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of Cecil Bruner roses, and white sweet peas in shower effect.

Miss Marguerite Cook sang "At Dawn" before the entrance of the bride party, and Byron Arnold played Mendelssohn wedding march, and also played softly during the marriage service. Miss Sadie Pratt sang "Beloved, It Is Morn," following the wedding.

A profusion of roses were used about the rooms of the Delta Phi house. Dainty refreshments were served following the ceremony, when sorority sisters of the bride assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Day left last night for an outing trip into Washington. They will leave June 19 for Boston where Mr. Day is working in the YMCA. He has spent the last year there, having been graduated from Willamette university last June. Mrs. Day was a graduate of the college with the 1923 class.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. I. Day of Bremerton, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dimmick and Miss Virginia Mason, Delta Phi girls, alumnae, and members of Sigma Tau were among the guests at the wedding.

The bride was one of the popular girls of the university, having been chosen May Queen in 1922.

Mrs. John J. Roberts was one of the Salem women attending the Portland Rose festival yesterday.

Miss Lorlei Blatchford announced her engagement to Clarence Gillette at a pre-nuptial party given Monday evening for Miss Emma Shanafelt, whose wedding was a social event of yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schramm of Corvallis were visitors at the home of Mrs. Schramm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kuntz, this week. They attended the alumni banquet at Willamette university Tuesday.

Mrs. W. L. Teutsch and her son, William Leroy Jr., left last night for San Francisco where they will join Mr. Teutsch. Mrs. Teutsch has been visiting for more than a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spitzbart in Polk county.

Pupils of William Wallace Graham, violin teacher, were presented in recital Wednesday evening at Waller hall. The program was especially well received by the friends and relatives who attended the affair. The students seemed to give unusual promise of future ability as violinists.

Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. John J. Roberts, Ruth Kuser and Miss Reed.

The program was well arranged and the students appearing and their selections were as follows: "Romanze sans Paroles" (Conte) Eleonore Everall.

Berceuse (Godard) Mary Keith. Le Menuetrier (Weinlawski) Jean Crocroy.

Meditation (Maseenet-Tommy Livesley).

(a) Waltzes Prestiled (Wilhelm-Wagner); (b) Gavotte (Gossec) Donald Rehbock.

Concerto in A Minor (Academy) Mildred Roberts.

(a) Garden Melodie (Schumann); (b) Liebeslied (Kriesler); Helen Sellig.

Miss Helen Lister, of Grants Pass, is the house guest of Miss Mauntha Davis, coming down from Portland yesterday. Miss Lister will be joined by her mother and the two will leave for their home in southern Oregon. Both Mrs. Lister and her daughter have been attending the Portland Rose festival.

Mrs. Susie Nicholson, house mother at the YWCA, went to Portland yesterday.

Flora and Lorraine Fletcher gave a party in honor of the graduating class of Turner high school at the Fletcher home, 1387 North Winter street on Wednesday.

The rooms and table were carried out in the class colors of purple and white. The members of the class are Lavern Miller, Olga Gath, Arthur Gath, Thelma Delzell, Aralya Delzell, Dorris Barst, Dorsey Gray and Ruth Drager. Other persons than the Fletcher family who were present were John Gate and Charles Mote of Turner.

The wedding of Miss Matilda Peterson and William Overgard was held at high noon Sunday at the home of the brides parents near Shaw, in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives. Rev. David C. Hassel, of Salem officiating.

The rooms were beautifully decorated, a color scheme of pink and white being carried out, and the ceremony was performed before an arch of pink roses and ferns. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Arhutus Rudie sang "I Love You Truly." Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. L. Rudie, who also played softly during the service.

The bride was attracted in a gown of white silk. Her veil was arranged with a cluster of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of carnations.

After the ceremony dinner was served in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Overgard left immediately for a short wedding trip and upon their return will make their home in Salem.

Mrs. H. Hartman and her son, Otto Hartman, went to Portland yesterday and Mrs. Hartman will remain there for a brief visit.

The Junior Guild of St. Pauls church was entertained this week by Mrs. Louis Lachmund.

Willamette university will leave within a few days for Seattle where they will attend the summer session of the University of Washington.

RESTORE POLISH YOUTH

WARSAW, June 17.—Poland's greatest loss of recent years has been, not in devastated regions, but in young men. Therefore physical education was stressed at a recent meeting of school masters in this city, and the government was urged to allot more money for the building of playgrounds and otherwise to assist in the building up of Polish youths.

MOVIE GOSSIP

Jack Hoxie's latest western feature contains a plot of a most unusual nature. Tom Stone assumes the name of his dead pal Jim Bland, and then Jack Hoxie as Jack Stokes comes along and assumes the name of Tom Stone. With a sheriff after both Tom Stone and Jack Stokes, there are many thrilling encounters due to the mix up in identities. Hard riding and plenty of action predominate in this feature which will be shown at the Bligh theatre today.

Monte Montague, who plays the villain in "Hell's Border," after his capture at the cave, refuses to walk, and the hero drags him toward the edge of the cliff. Unknown to Mr. Montague this scene was very short, but Mr. Fairbanks for fun, dragged Montague four times as far. Finally Montague looked up in earnest and remarked under his breath, "Hold up for a minute, Bill, and let me get some of these thistles out of my leg and then continue your dirty work." Mr. Montague was sparring partner in 1915 for Fred Fulton, and played in two serials with Elmo Lincoln, and many other productions before coming to the Bligh, Saturday and Sunday.

An event bound to arouse unusual interest centers in the coming of another Wesley Barry attraction. This is "Heroes of the Street" produced by Warner Brothers and scheduled to play at the Liberty theatre today and tomorrow.

Can you picture the incomparable Norma Talmadge as an adventuress who specializes in a branch of promise blackmail.

As Mary Turner, released from prison after serving time for a department store theft of which she is innocent, and under oath to "get even" with the employer who wanted to make an example of her, she has such a role in the big First National picture, "Within the Law," coming to the Oregon theatre tonight.

Jack Mulhall and Lew Cody have the principal male roles; Eileen Percy portrays Aggie Lynch, the blackmailer who induces Mary to join the band. Prominent parts are also played by DeWitt Jennings, Lincoln Plummer, Joseph Kilgour, Helen Ferguson, Wards Crane, Lionel Belmore, Catherine Murphy and Thomas Ricketts.
