HEALTH THEORIES ARE EMPHASIZED

Public Schools Asked to Give More Attention to Instruction

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The social organization was compared to an intricate machine by Dr. Oscar Dowling, state health officer of Louisiana, at a meeting of the Preventive and Industrial Medicine section of the American Medical Association convention here today.

Dr. Dowling said that for proper operation, health is fundamental. "Health implies right conditions of growth and development for the child, proper heredity, prenatal care of the mother, recreational direction and an ideal environment," he added. "In securing these results every part of the body politic bears a reciprocal responsibility." He emphasized particularly the need for teaching the principles of hygiene, citizenship and the right social order in the public schools.

The discussion was continued by Dr. Frederick D. Sticker of Portland, Oregon, with a plea for more efficiency and less spectacular demonstration in public health work. He compared such exploitation to "Blue Sky" as it relates to stocks and bonds.

The session closed with a pay-or by Dr. John Sundwall of the University of Michigan, who urged constructive health activities in the public schools. "The most effective and far-reaching results to be anticipated in our present nation-wide health movement," he said, "are now being conducted in the public schools. The impressions of childhood and the habits formed in early life are lasting."

"There should be ingrafted into the school boy and girl, be repeated and prolonged precept and example, ineradicable health habits. When every school establishes and maintains an agency by which these objectives in human conservation are realized, then our public health problem will be solved and our society will heal itself. Every endeavor must be made to organized efficient health services supervised by full-time, adequately trained teachers, whereby a consummate and progressive health program will be sustained."

The hospital will care for 1500 patients, and is the first of four to be established in four states for the treatment of tuberculosis.

Huge Airship Planned for Hamburg-New York Service

LONDON, June 29.—An airship to carry 300 passengers on a regular service between Hamburg and New York, says the London Daily News, is now in course of construction. The ship will be more than 900 feet long, fitted with 12 engines of 360 horsepower each, giving a speed sufficient to make the journey between the two cities in 45 hours.

When not in flight the plane designed to float on the surface of the docks at Hamburg and New York.

Parisian astronomers figure that there are now about 300,000 stars and planets visible to the heavens. Not counting, course, the moving picture stars.
