

LANE NAMED TRUSTEE FOR SHELBY BATTLE

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 30.—(By Associated Press.)—A complete reorganization of the business management of the Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons heavyweight championship fight at Shelby July 4, was effected tonight with the selection of Major J. E. Lane of Lewistown, one of the wealthiest businessmen of the state, as trustee of the bout and the retirement of Loy J. Molmby of Great Falls and Mayor Jim Johnson of Shelby, from further participation in the management. Molmby and Johnson were among the original promoters of the contest.

Alaska Volcano Again Is in Active Eruption

KING'S COVE, Alaska, June 30.—Shishaldin volcano, on Unimak Island, which erupted violently November 29, 1922, was emitting bursts of heavy smoke early in May, officers of the coast guard cutter Haida reported on arrival of the vessel here in the course of her annual patrol of Alaskan and Bearing Sea waters.

The 1922 eruption of Shishaldin was picturesque, according to the stories of eyewitnesses. Great flames burst from the crater and the top of the volcano was blown high in the air, about 200 feet of the summit disappearing. Lava poured down the canyons, melting the snow, and the black streams could be seen for miles. Lava continued to flow for three days, and heavy smoke was emitted for more than a week. At one of the light houses on Unimak Pass, the flames lighted up the sky for days appearing, according to the keepers, in the form of a cross.

On Christmas Eve, 1922, Pavlof volcano, on the Alaskan peninsula, was in eruption and lava flowed for several days thereafter, with a heavy emission of smoke for a longer period. Natives at villages visited by the Haida declared that Bogoslov, the "disappearing island" during a period of heavy earthquakes and volcanic activity in 1906, had changed its contour during the last year, but the report could not be confirmed. Scientists declare that Bogoslov is in reality a submerged volcano, only the peak appearing above the surface of the ocean.

GRIST OF LETTERS

LONDON, June 30.—In the 12 months just ended the British postoffice handled the enormous number of 3,300,000,000 letters, 500,000,000 postcards, 1,500,000,000 printed papers, 175,000,000 newspapers and 120,000,000 parcels. The total is 5,55,000,000 pieces of mail.

Of the 120,000,000 parcels, no fewer than 20,000,000 were wrongly addressed, or not addressed at all, while thousands of tons of letters were not delivered for the same reasons.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Pick 'em all—
And pick 'em daily—

Send the loganberries good and fresh and in fine condition, and this will help the moving of future cars to the fresh fruit markets.

If the Puget sound growers can find fresh fruit markets at 6 cents, the Salem district loganberries ought to bring 5 cents.

The YMCA employment bureau found farm jobs for 245 people the past week. Still they come.

The Salem playgrounds open tomorrow; formal opening, with the Cherrian band, on Friday.

"One way to get rid of the sugar gougers would be for Burbank to cross the strawberry with sugar cane," says an exchange. Or, for the Salem district, the loganberry with the sugar beet.

"If Judge Gary is right, and the world can't find anything better than Christianity, it might be a good idea to try it," says the San Diego Tribune.

The loganberry industry has been through crises before, many a time, many a time. But it will not die. It will grow bigger and bigger, when it is fully organized and intelligently and persistently advertised. You can't keep such a good berry down.

A California man says he can photograph the human mind in the process of thinking. But a cynic remarks that first he's got to catch it doing it.

Canby Can't Get Money, Attorney General Rules

An act of the 1923 legislature authorizing the state industrial accident commission to reimburse the city of Canby in the sum of $1352 for a judgment secured against the city by Peter Hornig, has been declared unconstitutional by Attorney General Van Winkle, and may go through the supreme court for final determination.

Some years ago the city of Canby attempted to operate under the workmen's compensation act, and Hornig, an employe of the city, was injured during that period. He sued the city and collected damages instead of endeavoring to collect from the accident commission. Subsequently the supreme court held that cities could not come under the act as it then stood on the statute books, and the city attempted to procure reimbursement from the state, in ruling against this the attorney general holds that the funds of the commission are trust funds and cannot be paid out in this manner. He holds, however, that the city may be reimbursed in the amount it paid into the commission. Recently the law has been amended to admit cities, but this does not apply to the case at issue.

Willamette Students At All Kinds of Toil

A group of Willamette university boys are at work on the paving crew north of Rickreall, driving out from Salem at 6:30 in the morning and returning at night.

Several of the university boys have gone for the summer on cruises to the Orient, shipping out of Portland and Seattle for the summer. Under the present American seaman's wage scale they are able to make pretty good wages, and to learn a lot of things about the world.

Some of the boys are in the paper mill, that now employs more than 300 people in the mill alone. The canneries take a number of the boys. The wheat fields of eastern Oregon, with their high wages for long hours and slavish toil, attract some of the most heroic ones who know the work and need the money. Some of the boys have gone to Alaska to work in the salmon canneries for the summer. This work pays better than most of the other jobs, although less attractive to many people.

Portland Now Decorating For Harding Party's Visit

PORTLAND, Or., June 30.—Streets along the line of march selected for the parade here on the Fourth of July in which President Harding and his party will participate have been lavishly decorated with the national colors and with rosebud lights. Plans were completed for the rosebuds' parade by school children which is planned as a feature of the president's visit.

Pioneer's Manuscript Received—The Oregon state library has just received the gift of a manuscript copy of the Journal of an Oregon pioneer, one of the Dinwiddle brothers, who crossed the trail in 1853. The copy was given by the Dinwiddle family of Indiana through the courtesy of the Gary public library. The Journal is a detailed one, carefully kept from day to day and written with literary style and feeling. It is considered of special interest just now because of the Old Oregon Trail celebration. Receipt of the copy was announced yesterday by Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian.

PERSONAL

F. N. Woodry and family leave today for Pacific City and the coast mountains for a 10-days or two weeks' outing.

Mrs. Henry Hamilton of Eureka, Kansas, arrived in Salem last week and is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hamilton.

advice on investing her whole fortune of $12,000 in some securities that would pay more than the government bond return, and in the current World's Work the financial expert advised her to invest in the great Oregon power plant, along with Western Union, Brooklyn Union Gas, Niagara Power, and Illinois Central.

The Statesman mentioned a few days ago that much liberty bond money is being invested in Salem in the PRL&P securities that pay practically double the interest rate of the federal bonds. This week an even greater number of Oregon-building investments by the purchase of this power stock, really amounts to making the whole great power project a Sagem enterprise to the proportional extent of the Salem stockholders. At the rate the stock is now selling here, most of the money coming from the conversion of liberty bonds, Salem will soon be one of the principal owners of the whole enterprise.
