and many others also attended. Addison Bennett, pioneer writer on the Oregonian, was once a Salemite, and he attended and helped to address the meeting. It is described as a notable event in the way of celebrations.

Hawley Addresses Service—The first session of the summer YMCA park Sunday afternoon services was addressed by Congressman W. C. Hawley Sunday afternoon, in a notable talk on Christian obligations. The training school band preceded him with a three-quarter of an hour sacred concert that was well received. By vote of the congregation of almost 1000 people it was decided to form an association of the men's classes of the churches and Sunday schools, to establish a civic unit that shall have a competent voice in discussing public affairs—law enforcement, better morality, the best personnel for public office that can be secured. This association will be worked out during the early summer, with Ronald Glover as chairman, and two members from each of the city churches to help write its charter of services.

More Trustees Escape—Two more trusty prisoners escaped from the state penitentiary wood camp Monday night, Warden Johnson S. Smith reported. They were John Ryan and Edward Bell, both sent up from Multnomah county. Ryan was sentenced to do five years for larceny and was received February 8, 1916. He escaped September 18, 1917, from the flax field and was not returned until July 14, 1922. Bell was sentenced to serve from one to seven years for larceny in a dwelling and was received January 14, 1915. He escaped from the flax field August 1, 1916, and was returned February 6, 1921. The men escaped last night from wood camp Ho. 2, on the Powers ranch near the state hospital farm.

Pereshetians Return—Rev. Martin Pereshetian and family drove to Olympia, starting last Friday and returning Monday evening. They took the old road, but found it badly torn up for paving, so that they had to make a detour of about 15 miles of terribly hilly road. "It was as steep as THAT!" exclaimed the genial dominie, telling of it with shivers in his usually solid voice. "I guess we were scared, but I hope we were not as bad off as the man we met on the worst part of the worst hill. He had let his wife drive, and she was clearly a novice, but they got on to the hill and started down before they knew it, and they couldn't switch drivers. That man's eyes and his whole horrified face stuck out like sausages out of a stuffer. I don't believe he'll ever sleep peacefully again; certainly not within sound of a motor and within sight of a steep hill." The Pereshetians returned with no mishap.

Nearly a Million—A car bearing the license number of 910,431, California, was in Salem Tuesday. The highest Oregon number is just under 135,000, only a little more than one-seventh as high as the top California license.

Street Filled In—Dirt is being hauled to fill in on South Liberty street, between the Traglo warehouse and the new Northwest cannery. The grade was about 18 inches below standard at this point and enough dirt will be filled in so that with the addition of the six inches of concrete paving, it will be brought up to grade. The street shows the most marked change of all in the city of Salem, covering the past six or even three months of time, because of the completion of these two important buildings, and the filling in of what had been two terribly unsightly holes.

Has Chance for Movies—Mrs. Oscar B. Gingrich of Salem, whose interpretative Indian dances have been enjoyed by many Salem people, may be "drafted" into the movie army to contribute something new and fine to the silent drama. Her work has led to her being considered for some important stage roles, not yet entirely worked out but pending as something that promises an exceptional film future. Mrs. Gingrich has spent years in a close study of Indian music and folk lore, and her stock of stories and legends, illustrated or for mere verbal presentation, runs up into three figures. The invaluable studies of the Smithsonian institute of Washington, and the Indian music from the various high class composers of today, are the text-books for these explorations into folk lore of a most fascinating character.

Stark Funeral Held—The funeral of Mrs. Bertha Stark, who died Saturday at a local hospital, was held Tuesday at 10 o'clock, from the Terwilliger home. Interment was in the Odd Fellows cemetery. Mrs. Stark was the mother of 16 children, 13 of them surviving her. She was born in Germany, as was her husband, Fred Stark. They never quite got away from the mother tongue and part of the funeral service was in German, though Mr. Stark served in the Spanish-American war after he was married and had several children, and they had two sons of military age who served in the World war. The older children were daughters. They lived six miles north of Salem, on route 9.

Auburn Contract Let—At a meeting of the Auburn school board Monday night, east of Salem, a contract was let to Jones & Larsen for the building of a modern, two-room school house, to be completed ready for occupancy by October 15. Bonds for this work were voted last May. The contractors have had wide experience in building similar structures, they having built the school houses at North Howell, Pringle, Lake Labish and others. There were seven bids in all, the Jones & Larsen firm having the lowest and best figures. The school district plans to have a strictly modern school in every department.

Building Near Completion—A. H. Moore expects to have his new apartment house and store building on North High street, just north of the new Bilgh stores, ready for occupancy by the middle of August. He will occupy one of the two large store rooms with his own stock of bicycles and supplies, now housed on Court street, and will increase the stock so as to fill the room completely. There are eight suites in the apartment section on the second floor, all with three or four rooms, and fully modernized in every way. There is to be a "roof garden" on the roof, and if there's anything fine they don't have to begin with, Landlord Moore is going to get it. The building is of superior construction.

Yesterday Historic Date—Tuesday, July 3, was the 60th anniversary of one of the greatest days in American history. July 3, 1863, at Gettysburg, Pickett's chosen warriors, 18,000 strong, the flower of the Confederacy, set out on that sublimely historic but fearfully tragic march up Cemetery ridge. They marched with all the concentrated determination of the war. But they met men as brave as, and stronger than, themselves. "The high tide of the Confederacy," that bloody crest is known; it stands as one of the decisive battle fields of the world. And at almost the same hour, Grant was destroying the last home of the Confederates at Vicksburg, and opening the Mississippi to the Union fleets; it was never again closed, and it broke the power of the south in the west. Twenty-five years ago yesterday Commodore Schley destroyed the Spanish fleet off Santiago, Cuba. July 3 and 4 have real places in the history of America.

Goods Are Stored—H. L. Stiff & Co., have found a place to store most of their used and second hand goods, now that they have been forced to vacate their old quarters at Court and Liberty. They have leased the warehouse on North High street, and this week the goods have been removed to the new location. Workmen are already engaged in tearing down all the old structures on the vacated corner. There were four stores and shops altogether in the corner that is to be cleared out for modern buildings.

Postal Facility Afforded Campers—Coming of Harding to Portland Lures Many From Salem Auto Park
Many of the tourists visiting the Salem auto park have the local camp down on their route weeks in advance and so enjoy the great pleasure of receiving letters from home folks on their arrival. The letters and parcel post deliveries from the Salem postoffice are made each day to the superintendent's office and of the men and women coming and going, many receive their mail with a sort of regularity.

GOOD RECORD BY POLICE FORCE

Arrests in Past Six Months Probably Greater Than Ever Before

In his report for the first six months of the current year Walter Birchet, chief of police, believes the police department has made a record for the number of arrests during any corresponding period. Official records, he declares, will back up his beliefs.

During this time a total of 1836 complaints were entered on the blotter at the police station, with 523 arrests, which resulted in total fines of $4945.50 and 65 days in jail. There were 247 speeders brought in by the traffic men, and 492 accidents reported. Thirty-five automobiles were stolen, all of which were recovered. Burglaries numbered 37, with 38 cases of petit larceny. Arrests for these two crimes were 36, with 40 being haled into headquarters charged with being drunk, and 22 for having intoxicating liquor in their possession.

Stolen bicycles totaled 95, of which 69 have been returned, in addition to five now at the station. These were recovered from points as far distant as Oregon City and Grande Ronde.

Special reports by officers numbered 75. In addition to the routine work of the department, there were 465 people who received a night's lodging in the city jail.

The letters and parcel post deliveries from the Salem postoffice are made each day to the superintendent's office and of the men and women coming and going, many receive their mail with a sort of regularity.

A new board fence has been placed on the north side of the entrance to the camp ground. The superintendent's office sets back on the property of the Deaconess hospital, and it is hoped to have this moved up to the gate where it will be the camp property and also more convenient for both tourists and superintendent.

One of the smallest crowds in several weeks enjoyed the hospitality of the camp last night. Many departed for the north yesterday President Harding-bound, while others continued south. Only 22 new camps were made and 33 remained for another night.

THOUSAND KLANSMEN MARCH; PROTEST AGAINST NEGROES

TUSKEGEE, Ala., July 3.—Macon county citizens tonight watched a thousand troopers of the Ku Klux Klan as they steadily marched through the streets of Tuskegee in protest against negro officials at the government hospital for disabled negro veterans here. Intense interest has been shown here recently over the threatened move of the federal government to place negro officials at the hospital here.

Active summer and autumn business with good crop yields, such as we are now promised, must eventually put stocks back to quotations which will more truly represent their real value." BITS FOR BREAKFAST

The glorious K...
Some of the pick of the land, will celebrate by picking.
The little town of Shelby, Montana, is sitting on the world today.

The Statesman scored a scoop on the big fight news yesterday morning. It goes to press an hour later than the first edition of the Oregonian—hence the later news, which "breaks" that way every once in a while—or twice in a while.

The Ladd & Bush bank people in Salem paid out gold instead of paper money on Monday, to all who cashed checks and would take the gold. They had too much gold on hand, and so paid it out instead of shipping it away. But it will likely soon all be back. After all, paper money is handier, and there is no loss from abrasion in its use, like there is in gold. But the paying out of the gold on Monday was a reminder of the old times, when, in Oregon, gold was used principally, to the exclusion of paper money. This practice continued here long after gold had almost disappeared.

For those who died that each coming generation might live in peace and safety, we bow our heads in reverence.
