STRIKERS HIT BY INJUNCTION

Permanent Order Affects 400,000 Railway Shop Craft Union Workers

CHICAGO, July 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—Four hundred thousand employees and officers of the railway shop crafts unions who went on strike a year ago in protest against United States railroad labor board decision today were permanently restrained from interference in any way with the operation of railroads in what is regarded as the most sweeping permanent injunction ever granted.

The final decree, which makes permanent a temporary injunction granted the federal government October 5, 1922, on application by Attorney General Daugherty, was entered by Judge James H. Wilkerson in United States district court today. The defendant unions, which comprise the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor, were given 60 days to file an appeal.

In entering the decree, Judge Wilkerson said the evidence in the case showed "beyond doubt that it was part of the purpose of those engaged in the combination to carry on the strike by assaults and acts of violence." He then cited numerous acts of violence during the strike and noted that damage to the roads during the strike, according to the evidence, was more than $95,000,000.

Referring to the contention of the unions that the temporary injunction was an interference with free speech, Judge Wilkerson declared it a "misnomer" to characterize any of the facts of the defendants as peaceful.

"The peaceful words of pickets, the peaceful exhortations of strike leaders, taken by virtue of the atmosphere of law and violence, in which they are spoken, a force not inhering in the words themselves and therefore, transending right of free speech," he said.

RIGHT FROM BOSTON

The doctor's wife had advertised for a girl to do housework, and was showing an applicant over the house. She had been liberal in her promises of privileges and it looked as though the two were going to come to an agreement, when the girl asked: "Do you do your own stretchin'?"

"Do we do our own what?" asked the puzzled mistress.

"Stretchin'," repeated the girl. "Do you put all the grub on the table and stretch for it, or do I have to shuffle it around?"

EDITOR'S CASE TO END TODAY

Magee Declares He Felt Himself Justified of Criticism of Judge

LAS VEGAS, N. M., July 12.—The case of Carl A. Magee, Albuquerque editor, charged with contempt of court, will be decided by District Judge D. J. Leahy here soon after the court convenes tomorrow morning. This was decided upon late this afternoon when both the prosecution and the defense announced that they rested.

The trial today was enlivened by the cross-examination of Magee. He maintained at all times that he felt himself justified in his criticism of Judge Leahy and at the end of the examination declared that he held contempt for that official in the conduct of the affairs in this county.

He expressed the opinion that "this court for a period of years has been misconducted."

Magee said that he had written the articles which resulted in his being brought into court on contempt charges after he had been convicted and sentenced by a jury in Judge Leahy's court on the charges of libeling Supreme Court Justice Frank W. Parker. There were four editorials, upon which the charges were based.

"In the editorial, 'Who is on trial,' what did you mean by the line 'This is the worst boss-ridden county in New Mexico?' The county of San Miguel has the worst government in New Mexico," the cross examiner asked Magee. "In my opinion that is true," Magee said, "I don't know how to make it any clearer."

Asked about his editorial "The machine never slipped a cog," Magee said that "conditions in San Miguel county are so rotten that no man can remain silent. Men are railroaded when they come in contact with the copper-riveted machine."

The editor denied that he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan of the Penitentes.

Cannibal Theory May Be Correct, Scientist Says

NEW YORK, July 12.—Cannibals may be correct in their theory that they gain their enemies' strength by eating them, according to Dr. William Held of Chicago, who sailed for Germany today on the Westphalia to obtain a chimpanzee upon which to conduct rejuvenation experiments. "Perhaps these ancient and primitive people hit upon a great scientific truth," declared Dr. Held. "For instance, take the adrenal glands, which are the glands of courage. We are not using this fluid from sheep as a heart stimulant and in some instances babies and human beings whose vitality has been suspended, have been brought back to life."

Ammunition Seized; Said For Chinese Bandit Band

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 12.—Three trunks containing 75 automatic pistols and about 20,000 rounds of ammunition were seized here today by customs officials. The authorities expressed a belief that the weapons and cartridges had been smuggled in from American ports for sale to Chinese bandits. The seized goods were valued at $4,000.
