WATER SPORTS AT YMCA YESTERDAY

Places in Contests are Awarded Boys in Two Classes of Events

Monday was "water day" at the YMCA, and two interesting series of races were put on for the boys. The first, class A, was for the younger lads, 12 years or under; the class B was for the older and larger boys. A good crowd attended, and the events were vigorously contested. Ivan White was starter, and William East, John Edwards and Meade Elliott were the judges:

The class A events were:
One length—First, Russel Renfrow; second, Horace Stewart; third, Paul Walp.
Plunge—First, Horace Stewart; second, Paul Walp; third, Russel Renfrow.
Three lengths—First, Russel Renfrow; second, Horace Stewart; third, Paul Walp.
Diving—First, Paul Walp; second, Horace Stewart; third, Russel Renfrow and Kenneth Lee.
Underwater swim—First, Paul Walp; second Russel Renfrow; third, Horace Stewart.
The class B events covered the same items, but were entered separately. The winners were:
One length—First, Scotty Marr; second, Earl Bushnell; third, Bobby Hutcheon.
Plunge—First, Earl Bushnell; second, Wesley Hisey; third, Scotty Marr.
Three lengths—First, Scotty Marr; second, Earl Bushnell; third, Bobby Hutcheon.

BENNY LEONARD REMAINS KING

EFFORTS OF TENDLER TO WREST TITLE ARE BLOCKED BY HOLDER

Lightweight King Out-Classes Philadelphia Challenger in Every Department Through 15 Hard-Fought Rounds; Tendler's Method of Attack Successfully Met by Champion; Record Crowd Attends Fight.

RINGSIDE, Yankee Stadium, New York, July 23.—(By Associated Press.)—Benny Leonard, king of the lightweights of the past six years, demonstrated conclusively tonight his undisputed title to the throne by trouncing Lew Tendler, his Philadelphia challenger, in a slashing, bitterly fought fifteen round match at the Yankee Stadium.

Before a crowd of more than 65,000 that paid a half million dollars to see the match, setting a new high mark for championships outside the heavyweight class, Leonard out-generalled, out-boxed and out-punched his foremost rival from start to finish. He held the upper hand, had Tendler on the verge of a knockout at the close and the judges' verdict in his favor at the finish was merely a formality.

Spectacular as was the fight, it lacked the thrill, the suspense and swiftness of their memorable battle a year ago at Boyle's Thirty Acres, where Leonard, hanging on at one stage, was barely able to gain a margin of victory.

Leonard fought with consummate skill. A master of ring tactics, he had his rugged southpaw challenger baffled by the speed and precision of his attack, while at the same time he made futile most of Tendler's attempts on the offensive. The champion landed three blows to one in nearly every round.

Tendler, on the other hand, seemed slow, lethargic by comparison to the titleholder. Blocked in his favorite method of attack—for which Leonard apparently had perfected a remarkable defense—the challenger was left with no effective weapon. He was wild repeatedly, and though he stood up gamely under a terrific battering in several rounds, he seemed in much poorer form than when he gave Leonard a slashing struggle a year ago.

Leonard evidently had learned the lesson of his last fight with Tendler. Instead of permitting his rival to get the jump, the titleholder took the aggressive in the second round and quickly piled up a decisive margin on points. He jumped in and around the challenger, blocking, ducking and sparring while he shot jolting uppercuts and hooks to the head and body. Tendler trying gamely to stem the tide, tried rushing, but the champion beat him at his own game.

Knockout Evaded
For 12 rounds the champion held the upper hand with ease. Then in the 13th he cut loose with a savage drive that soon had Tendler in distress. Sensing the real thrill of the fight, the crowd jumped to its feet, as Leonard, swinging rights and lefts to the head with terrific force, drove Tendler about the ring. Once, from a right to the jaw, Tendler slipped to his knee and it seemed he would take a count, but he jumped back to his feet, only to be met with another withering attack.

Vainly the challenger tried to stab with his left, but Leonard was too quick and the round ended with the challenger in full retreat.

Two hard shots to the jaw had Tendler again in distress in the 14th. He weathered this storm only to face another smashing attack in the final round. Leonard, trying hard for a knockout, had his opponent reeling and bloody with smashing hooks and uppercuts to the head, but they lacked the power to bring down Tendler, who fought back gamely, but ineffectively, to the close.

First Round Tendler's
A majority of ringside experts gave Leonard every round except the first, which went to Tendler by a small margin. Some gave the challenger an even break in the seventh but the fact remained that at no time did he appear to have a chance.

Leonard bore few marks of battle when he left the ring, to be lifted to the shoulders of an admiring throng, while Tendler had cuts under his left eye and on his nose and mouth.
"Tendler is the greatest southpaw and one of the greatest lightweights I have ever seen," said the champion, later. "He put up a stiff battle and even in the final rounds, when I got him the hardest, I wasn't able to put him down, although I tried hard."
"Leonard is a great champion," declared Tendler, in paying tribute to his conqueror. "I did the best I could, but it wasn't good enough. Benny is a master ring general."

60,000 Attend
Billy Gibson, the title holder's manager, declared the fight would go down in history as one of the greatest of lightweight battles.

"We are ready for anybody now," he added, "but there does not appear to be anybody in sight in the lightweight ranks. Leonard aspires to the welterweight title, and we may arrange a match with Micky Walker, the present champion in that division."

The crowd, massed in every nook and corner of the stadium, was one of the most picturesque in fight history. Though promoter Jimmy Johnston's estimate was 15,000 less than the announced capacity of 80,000, it appeared that every spot was filled except possibly some of the far reaches of the bleachers. Both the attendance and estimated receipts, however, eclipsed the former record for lightweight championships, set at 60,000 and $375,000 in the last Tendler-Leonard scrap.

Round 1—They came together slowly, sparring. Tendler missed a right lead. They clinched tightly. Leonard landed a light left to the jaw and took a left to the jaw. Tendler backed away from Leonard's lead and the crowd roared. Leonard backed slowly to the ropes, avoiding Tendler's rush. They clinched in a neutral corner, moved out into the center and clinched again. Tendler sent his left into the champion's ribs, but did little damage. They exchanged body blows in a clinch. Tendler drove Leonard into his own corner with overhand lefts to the jaw and the crowd grew excited. Leonard landed two light left jab to the face. Tendler rushed in again. The champion clinched. They were squaring away when the bell rang. Both men took it easy.

Round 2—Tendler continued to lead, lashing out a right to the jaw. The champion fell into a clinch. They had a light exchange and clinched again. Tendler rushed into Leonard's arms and took an overhand right to the jaw. Tendler rushed again, but Leonard grabbed him with his right hand and sent a volley of solid rights to the jaw. Tendler drove the champion to the ropes, where they had a furious exchange to the challenger's advantage. Leonard jabbed stiffly with his left to the jaw, meeting Tendler's next rush with a stiff right to the head. Leonard resumed the defensive. He then caught the challenger with left jab and pounded him with his right. Tendler walked into a trap in a neutral corner, taking blows from both hands when Leonard laced out. It was a fast round.

Round 3—They sparred in the center of the ring, Tendler again taking the lead. at Leonard's pleasure. They had a furious exchange of body blows, moved to the center of the ring and clinched. Tendler led again, catching Leonard with his deadly left, pounding him with his left, which he moved in a horizontal cross-fire from belt to head and back again. In the next exchange, the champion fired better, landing short right uppercuts. Leonard caught Tendler with a hard right to the jaw and sent him spinning to the ropes, but remained cautious. Tendler landed a light and a hard left to the jaw and the champion sunk a right into Tendler's midriff. They clinched. Leonard clinched on Tendler's next rush. Ben stepped back, landed two hard rights to the body and poked two lefts to the head. That was how the round ended.

Round 4—Tendler led with a right, but was short. Leonard retaliated with his left, sending two long uppercuts to the jaw. Then Leonard jolted Tendler with a left hook to the jaw and repeated. Leonard landed twice heavily to the head in a clinch and then soaked Tendler in the left eye. Tendler landed two hard lefts to the head and then was caught with his back to the champion, who reached around and curved his right into the challenger's body.

Leonard sent two short rights to the body that hurt. They exchanged lightly to the body in a clinch. Tendler left-hooked the champion's jaw and then shot a right below the heart and was short with two rights. Leonard caught the challenger with two stiff rights to the jaw just before the bell stopped the challenger's rush. Tendler's seconds showered him with water when he came to his corner and the champion listened patiently to his handlers' advice.

Round 5—Leonard met Tendler's rush and they exchanged evenly, moving to a neutral corner where they clinched. Leonard was getting much the better of the clinches now, shooting both hands to the challenger's jaw, and then crossing both hands to the jaw when they separated. They clinched tightly and then Leonard speared in effectively with his left. Leonard sunk a right to Tendler's jaw and then whipped two uppercuts to the jaw. Tendler landed a left to the mouth and then hooked his left to the breast. The champion jabbed expertly with his left which bothered Tendler, who missed and ran away. Tendler caught Leonard with a hard left to the belt and then took a left cross to the head. They clinched and Leonard hooked a left to the jaw a moment later. They danced around. Tendler's right was short and Leonard slashed him with a left. Then the champion whipped his right to the body and bo hered Tendler with a left jab. Leonard retaliated with his left, sending two long uppercuts to the jaw. Then Leonard jolted Tendler with a left hook to the jaw and repeated. Leonard landed twice heavily to the head in a clinch and then soaked Tendler in the left eye. Tendler landed two hard lefts to the head and then was caught with his back to the champion, who reached around and curved his right into the challenger's body.

Twelve Runs Scored in Last Two Innings Monday
SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—Twelve runs were scored in the last two innings of today's ten inning game between San Francisco and Vernon. The Seals scored six in the last half of the ninth, tying the score at 7 to 7. Vernon made five runs in the first half of the tenth but San Francisco won, 13 to 12, by scoring six on six hits in their half of the tenth. With the bases full and nobody out in the Seals' half of the last inning Hendry hit into the left field bleachers for a home run, tying the score. Geary who started for San Francisco, gave 15 hits in the first six innings.

The game was one that was postponed from the opening series of the season. Counting today's contest the Seals won the opening series, 4 games to 3.
Score— R. H. E.
Vernon 12 21 5
San Francisco 13 20 5

HAGEMANN WINS PITCHING EVENT

Lad of Nine Years Defeats Older Chaps in Skill With Baseball

Charlie Hagemann, the littlest lad in the whole lot, was the winner in the baseball pitching contest at the public playground Monday afternoon. The event was for a prize of a fine fielder's glove, given by Anderson & Brown. The elimination series was held last week, with seven boys proving their eligibility for the final stages on Monday.

Hagemann, only 9 years old, entered the lists against the field of boys up to 17 years, and scored 15 out of 25 chances, the best record of all. He had the top record in his preliminaries, also. The game was to throw "strikes" through a hole in the wall, at the regulation pitching distance. The opening in the wall representing the fair-ball space covered by the batting plate. During last week, the total attendance at the playground was a little more than 2000. This was 300 less than the previous week, the fall-off being accounted for by the cold and threatening weather. The average, even with the defection, was more than 330 a day. Some warmer weather, with the sun shining steadily every day, would bring the attendance up above 2500, in the estimation of the playground managers.

The class in folk dancing that had been set for 1:30 o'clock, has been changed to 4 o'clock for Monday, Wednesday and Friday. This work is in charge of Miss Grace Snook. She will also have swimming for the little girls on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The story hour is set for 3 o'clock for Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

A swimming exhibition is planned for some time the latter part of this week, Thursday afternoon if the weather is warm. Friday or later if it is necessary to postpone it for comfort. The more definite announcement will be given later in the week. This contest is expected to bring out some clever swimming, and ought to be worth seeing.

SENATORS BEAT BABY BEAVERS

Score Is 3 to 1 in Good Game—Dallas Team Coming Next Sunday

The Salem Senators won from the Portland Baby Beavers Sunday at Oxford park by a 3 to 1 score. Ashby, pitching for the Senators, struck out 12 men, while Scott for the Beavers sent back nine.
Portland scored the one and only run in the first inning. The Senators scored runs in the second, fourth and eighth innings. Baker made a home run in the eighth inning.
During the fourth inning the local team had three men on bases and but one out. Gill had taken first base on an error by the Beavers' shortstop. Shackman fanned. Kipper and Ashby both walked. Girod filed out to deep left field with Gill scoring.

Fisher

after the catch. The last out followed when Baker filed to right field.
The Dallas nine will be played in Salem next Sunday. It is expected that this will be one of the best attended games this year. A large Dallas delegation is expected to attend.
