

REAL WATER SHOW AT FITTS MARKET

Fast Finny Species and Slow Moving, But Determined Turtles Attract

People who pass the Fitts Fish market on North Commercial, and look in to see the fish in the aquarium window, often wonder exactly what kind of fish they are looking at.

Well, they are exactly the same old fish, but they have been kept in a shining white-tiled aquarium, until they have taken on the protective coloration of the tile.

The fish soon get over their first frantic fear, and will come to the surface and take files and other tid-bits from a feeder's fingers.

There is one strenuous little turtle, a little larger than a silver dollar, that is the hustler of the whole tank. He doesn't come to the top for his food, however.

Many children, and not a few grown-ups, stop to watch the fish and the turtles in this natural history window.

violate all the sentiments of my heart and all my convictions if I failed to urge American support of the permanent court of international justice.

"I do not know that such a court will be unfeeling in the avoidance of war, but I know it is a step in the right direction, and will prove an advance toward international peace for which the reflective conscience of mankind is calling."

Achievements Listed Prefacing his review of international achievements with the declaration that "when the present national administration came into responsibility world affairs were in a complicated and very difficult posture," the president said four main tasks were undertaken, as follows:

"First, the re-establishment of peace with the central powers and the orderly settlement of those important after-problems of the war which directly involved the United States.

"Second, the protection and promotion, amid the chaos of conflicting national interests, of the just rights of the United States and the legitimate interests of American citizens.

"Third, the creation of an international situation, so far as the United States might contribute thereto, which would give the best assurances of peace for the future, and, fourth, the pursuit of the traditional American policy of friendly co-operation with our sister republics of the western hemisphere."

"The eminent success and the far-reaching achievements must have their ultimate appraisal by American public opinion," the executive added, "but I submit them with unrestrained pride and sincere tribute to the historic services of a great secretary of state."

Mr. Harding then proceeded to the enumeration of international achievements, taking up first the negotiation of separate treaties of peace with the central powers which was necessary as "the peace negotiated by my distinguished predecessor, though he was impelled by lofty purpose, had evoked a bitter and undying controversy."

"The outstanding historical, monumental achievement in the Washington conference on limitation of armament," declared Mr. Harding before passing to minor accomplishments, "Only a few days ago the government of France gave the ratification which makes unanimous the approval of the nations concerned, and confirms the dawn of a new era in international co-operation for world peace."

"The limitation of armament conference was significantly triumphant in two accomplishments: It relieved and limited the burdens and found a way to remove the causes of misunderstanding which lead to war."

The conference proved one of the greatest achievements in the history of international relations."

Rapid Progress Made on New Building for Stiffs

Rapid progress is being made with the new Stiff furniture store on Court street. The present store is overcrowded, since the used goods store building on the corner was torn away and the whole stock was thrown back to the company for storage.

The rear room of the new Moore apartments and store on North High street was secured for temporary use, and the used goods have been stored there and in the basement of the Court street store.

With the building of the new store the company will then have a main building 82 by 82 1/2 feet square, two main floors, two galleries or mezzanine, and the basement. They will also have the upstairs of the Waters-Adolph building, that is to be erected on the corner where the old Stiff store stood. This will be connected directly with the newer

She is now in a hospital, where physicians say she will recover.

Mine Congress to Ask For More Foreign Labor

MILWAUKEE, July 31.—Fewer restrictions on immigration to meet an alleged need of additional laborers in the mining industry will be discussed by the American Mining Congress to meet here

CHICHESTER'S PILLS

September 24-29. Nearly 3000 owners, operators and mining engineers are expected to be in attendance.

Although mining men appreciate the unwisdom of breaking down the immigration barriers entirely, they feel there should be no abridgement of opportunity in the United States for effective labor and for selecting the right type of immigrant, according to officials of the organization.

A national movement for industrial cooperation between employer and employes in mining enterprises also is to be launched here. Ways and means of assisting employees in maintaining proper standards of living also will be discussed.

The United States bureau of mines and the geological survey will participate in the exposition and the mining states of California, Colorado and Utah will exhibit displays of their mine resources and equipment.

Additional emphasis will be placed on the use of labor saving machinery and equipment in mining enterprises. The American Mining Congress, officials say, has been advocating modernization of the mining industry and the standardization of basic methods for the last three years.

SUZANNE TALKS BY THE RADIO

French Tennis Star Addresses Fans Aboard By Use of Wireless

LONDON, July 31.—Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the famous lawn-tennis star, recently entertained hundreds of thousands of "listeners-in" with a piquant talk about herself and her habits. In winning French manner she tripped from one thing to another, and surprised her unseen audience with her command of English. She told her admirers how she kept her stockings up in play, why she sometimes cried on the court, what it is like to be a champion at Wimbledon and what a false legend it was which depicted her as a slave of her father, who was really very kind and patient.

"I am so very pleased to have a chance of speaking to you," said Suzanne with a charming French accent. "When I play at Wimbledon, where thousands of people may be looking, I cannot talk with you. Now I understand I am talking to thousands. How nice it is to be in England! I have great love for this country, because my great grandmother was English."

"I like to give you tonight some hints about myself, as I understand you all talk about me and are curious about my stockings. How do I keep them up? I role a piece of elastic round twice. I hope the gentlemen will not be shocked."

"Sometimes I feel a little sick. Then you cannot do yourself justice, so I retire from the court. This is allowed, but I am laughed at that I feel faint and I cry. I do not, but I have just dust in my eye. I do not cry because I am behind in the score; they cannot believe I am ever ill, so I cry."

If your skin is so tender that you expect sunburn, rub it well with Vicks before exposure.

After sunburn, apply Vicks gently—do not rub in. It soothes burn and often averts blisters.

For any outdoor vacation, Vicks is "standard equipment." It eases attacks of hay fever, asthma, catarrh and summer colds. Fine for sore feet, too.
