SET FOOLISH FIRE

HOOD RIVER, Or., Aug. 11.—Setting fire to scare away the squirrels proved expensive for one ranch, S. Amundson, in charge of the ranch place of J. Nichols of Philadelphia, claimed that digger squirrels entered his house and worried him. Yesterday he set fire to a grass patch around the cottage to keep the animals at a distance. The fire spread to a dry alfalfa patch in an orchard and burned over 15 acres of fruit trees and reached the ranch of Carroll Hurburt.

Fifteen men were called in before it was placed under control. Amundson was arrested by State Fire Warden Barnes, sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $50 by Justice of the Peace Outhank.

REVIVALIST FACES CHARGES OF FRAUD

Wisconsin Man Missused Mails Is Claimed; Arnold Says He Is Victim

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 11.—Victory H. Arnold, banker and revivalist of this city, was arraigned in the Federal court at Superior, Wis., August 7 to answer to an indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud. Arnold was president of the now bankrupt Madison Bond company and gained wide comment by his religious revival meetings in New York City and Madison before the United States government began investigating his alleged bond selling work in Wisconsin.

The Federal Grand Jury, meeting here last December, returned a complaint against Arnold which pointed to transactions in which investors were found to have lost nearly $600,000. Residents of southern Wisconsin are largely concerned. While those responsible for the complaints leading to the indictment claim that Mr. Arnold unlawfully acquired and invested money of other persons, Arnold himself takes the position that he is a victim of a "vicious circle of Madison business men" who oppose him. The indictment sets out three alleged schemes which it says are fraudulent and which Arnold will be called upon to explain during the court hearing. He is charged with misrepresenting the value of securities offered for sale by this company, with attempting to defraud investors out of company bonds by offer of an unsecured note, and with causing the false arrest of company officials.

In December of 1921 Arnold gave the needy of Madison a Christmas dinner costing $25,000. Thereafter he led a series of revival meetings, at which he urged a return to the teachings of the Bible. Then he and his family moved to New York where the revival meetings were continued. A gushing matron was getting up an afternoon affair and called on a somewhat elderly dame who had promised to assist. "Now" she asked the matron, "I have cured a sweet girl to pour tea. You, my dear, will look after the slices of lemon." "What am I to infer from that?" asked the other. acidly. —Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Fashion Notes From Salem Shoppes

With the approach of the fall midday's eyes turn toward the new things for the coming season and she would know just what will be the thing for the coming months. From Salem shoppes comes word of the season's prediction of just what will be worn, just what will be smart during the coming months.

New fall models are arriving each day and the shoppe windows reflect fashions with new additions noticeable week by week and day by day.

The jacquette remains popular both as a blouse and as a short coat. The latter may be had in either balloon effect or with tie at side.

The new winter coats are long some just a few inches from the floor. The bell sleeves, the tie on the side, the circular skirt, these are all dominant notes seen in viewing the new winter coats.

One smart dress coat might be a vogue model. It is a wrappy model of geona cloth in brown tone with beaver collar. It is fastened at the side. The back of the coat is absolutely straight with nothing to break the line from the collar to the bottom of the coat. The front is full draped with a circular skirt.

Sport coats are being shown in the 48 inch lengths.

Satin is the most popular of weaves this year and anything with a satin finish abounds in this popularity. Some of the smartest satin chamusee models have wonderful frills of lace which is a smart touch on the silk frocks.

High crowns and high trimming characterizes the latest in the early fall hats. One smart French model shows a new high arrangement of feathers while others show similar high trimmings.

Feathers are good on hats this year and numerous fancy rime-stone ornaments on black models especially, are noted.

The bell sleeve, the circular skirt and the straight back without anything to break the line from the neck to the hem, these are the very latest fashion notes for both dresses and coats. The long waist, and the straight lines are still good however, and with the varied trimmings in vivid shades of blue, bright red canary yellow, are seen frequently in the new fall dresses.

One of the pleasing variations of the long waisted models are those with circular ruffles around the waist line. One of these shows the ruffles on a dark blue will edged in vivid red.

Broadcloth is coming back into its own this year and serges will be better this year than they have been in several years.

Velvet is to be more favored this coming season that it has been in many years, according to those who know. The crepes remain in good favor.

The new coatings include Marvella, Velverette and Gerona.

For the sport outfit which one would like for the unexpected trip or outing, the pleated skirt and the sport jacquette is one of the outfits in special favor just now.
