Bairy Cows for Pasture
BEND, Aug. 20.—The future growth of the dairy industry in central Oregon, and especially in the vicinity of Bend, cannot be readily forecast by the present status of the industry, believe local men who are interested in the message brought to this section of the state by former Congressman C. N. McArthur, who intends to ship dairy cows and heifers to Deschutes county this fall for placement on alfalfa farms.

Burning Oil in Wood Country
EUGENE, Aug. 20.—Oil instead of wood will be burned in the furnace at the courthouse hereafter. The county court yesterday signed a contract with the General Heating plant, of which A. H. McDonald is manager, for the installation of an oil-burning system and it is expected that the change will be effected in time for the cool weather.

Salem Man Is Manager
CORVALLIS, Aug. 20.—C. S. Hammett is the new manager of Busick's store, replacing Mr. Shinkle, who has resigned. Mr. Hammett was formerly a clerk in the Salem branch of Busick's, and announces that he will move his family to Corvallis in the near future.

Change in Pastors
MARSHFIELD, Aug. 20.—Rev. W. L. Deming, pastor of the Church of Christ, announced today that he has accepted a call to the pastorate of the church at Fresno, Cal., and will leave Marshfield with his family early next month for that city.

Rev. Deming has been on Coos Bay for the past two and a half years, during which time the membership of his church has more than doubled. Extensive improvements have also been made to the church edifice.

Style Show For Albany
ALBANY, Aug. 20.—The style show to be held during the Linn county fair will be extensive and will show the latest fashions in men's and women's clothing, if the plans of Barkley A. Newman are carried through. The purpose of the style show is to show the people of Albany the very latest fashions," said Mr. Newman today. It is now planned to hold the style show on the night of the crowning of the queen. On Monday the successful candidate for the crown will be known as princess. Tuesday evening she will go through the coronation ceremonies and will then review the models of the style show.

Will Build New Bridge
McMINNVILLE, Aug. 20.—In the election here voters approved bond issues to provide new equipment for the fire department and to build a concrete bridge on Grant street over Cozine creek, only one ward returning a majority against either measure. The exception was the second ward, which voted against the bridge.

The election aroused considerable interest and 562 votes were cast out of a possible 1000 on the fire department issue. Fire Chief Holden and Commissioner Bigelow of Portland were here yesterday with one of the Portland pumps, which was demonstrated to the crowds. They came on Mayor Wright's invitation.

The vote was:
Fire equipment bonds, $16,000—
for, 445; against, 117.
Bridge bonds, $36,000—
for, 367; against, 132.

Two Large Deals Made
EUGENE, Aug. 20.—Two of the largest transactions in Lane county for many months were completed today, the most important of which was the purchase of the Oakridge Lumber company by Guy and Neil Roberts, two brothers who reside in Toledo, Ore., where they are heavily interested in timber and other projects. The other was a real estate deal involving $80,000 whereby E. B. Kingman traded his 1100 acre ranch near Creswell for a large ranch near Orland, Cal., owned by Ed Kirkpatrick.

The Roberts purchased the local concern for the consideration of $75,000 from E. Davis and A. E. Webber who have operated the mill for several years. Davis and Webber have put in about $35,000 worth of improvements in the last few years, making it one of the finest mills in this region. It is located on Salmon river above Oakridge and has also been known as the Davis and Webber mill.

SALEM young folks will be leaving in numbers during the coming weeks called by the opening of schools and colleges. Some will return to their work as instructors, others go back to their work as students while a large number will go for their first time to take up college and university work.

While the Salem schools will not open until October, Salem girls who will teach in other points in this state and adjoining points, are leaving even now. Portland schools, where a number of Salem young women will teach, will open September 4.

Willamette university will resume class work September 17 while class work at the Oregon Agricultural college will resume September 23 and the University of Oregon will open early in October.

Among the Salem women who will leave soon to resume their work as instructors are Miss Lucille Emmons who will be music supervisor in Boise, Idaho. Miss Emmons has taught music in Albany, McMinnville and Kelso, Wash.

Miss Mary Bayne has gone to California where she will be instructor in physical education during the coming year at Maryhill. Miss Bayne was graduated in June from the Oregon Agricultural college.

Miss Lulu Heist will leave within a few weeks for Portland here she is an instructor in the high schools. She formerly taught at Everett, Wash., and with Miss Lina Heist, a Salem teacher, she has been attending the summer session of the University of California.

Miss Genevieve Phillips and Miss Mildred Strey will leave Thursday for Doty, Wash., where both will teach the coming year.

Miss Lucille Ross will go to Chicago this fall to study advanced pipe organ with private instructors and at the American Conservatory of Music.

Miss Ross has been piano instructor at Willamette university for some time and has been organist at the First Presbyterian church for four years.

Miss Marion Emmons will return to Chicago in September to resume her violin study. She and Miss Ross will return to Chicago at the same time.

Miss Marion Seely, and William

Mrs. Austin Ellis and daughter of Portland were guests for the week-end of Mrs. Minnie Massey.

Mrs. Ella J. Clinton has returned to Portland from a two months visit to her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Angle Woodworth, in Chicago. During her stay Mrs. Clinton had the pleasure of greeting a young grandson, Howard Clinton Woodworth, born July 17.

Lewis Angle Woodworth of Chicago, is a son of Will C. Woodworth, formerly of Salem, and now living in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Wilhelm, of Lawrence, Kans., were Salem visitors yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dekter of Dubuque, Iowa, are guests at the B. F. Schultz home in Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Thomas entertained at dinner Sunday for Morton A. Goodnaugh, Portland pianist, and Mr. and Mrs. Ruthyn Turney of Chemawa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Duncan returned Saturday from Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Brown have returned from an extended trip into southern Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvro Hussey and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson returned Sunday evening from a trip into southern Oregon. They visited Crater lake and the Oregon Caves.

Mrs. John A. Carson who is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Barsch in Oakland, Cal., will return the last of this week.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's church will meet Friday with Mrs. T. G. Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Shipley will occupy their new home after September 1. They have recently purchased the J. L. McAllister residence, 975 E street.

Guests at the home of Mrs. James Heltzel recently were Mrs. E. R. Fountain and son, Billy, of Merced, Cal. They left yesterday for their home. Mrs. Fountain is a sister of Mrs. Heltzel.

The board of directors of the YWCA met yesterday in a special session to consider the possibility of the local association opening a residence home for business women in Salem. It was decided not to do anything at this time but it is hoped that some such building may be opened by the association during the coming winter. It would be similar to the Blue Triangle homes of the larger cities and would be a residence home for business girls and women located permanently in Salem.

The only action taken by the board was to defer the opening of the YWCA cafeteria until September 4. It was to have opened Saturday, September 1, but owing to the fact that Labor day comes on Monday the date was changed until after the holiday.

SHARP UPTURN IN CORN YESTERDAY

Slight Rise in Wheat—Chicago Exchange—Other Movements Quiet

Chicago, Aug. 20.—The sharp upturn in September corn which closed at 82¢, or 3½ to 3¾ higher than Saturday's finish, was the outstanding feature of the grain trade today. Other deliveries ruled from ½¢ to 1½¢ up. Wheat finished ½¢ to ¼¢ higher, with December $1.04 to $1.04½ and May, $1.09½ to $1.09½. Oats were unchanged to ¼¢ up, and provisions ranged from 17 cents off to 5 cents gain.

High quotations at Liverpool and the firmness of the stock market, coupled with the bulge in September corn, here gave wheat values on this side of the Atlantic an upward swing at the outset today. Offerings increased on upturn, however, with principal selling being in the way of hedging which brought about a reduction and most of the advance was wiped out. Prices fluctuated

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Woodry, Mrs. Glenn Unruh and Zella Unruh recently returned from a trip to Pacific City. While there they enjoyed the thrills of deep sea fishing going three miles out in a row boat where they caught 14 deep sea fish.

Included in the party were Miss Melissa Persons and Miss Odille Persons who made the trip fishing with them. They were told that it was the first time women had gone deep sea fishing in a row boat from there.

The F. G. Deckebach garden on D street will be open to the public under the sponsorship of the Salem Floral society next Saturday, August 25. It will be open during the afternoon and until dark in the evening. This is the third of these garden parties and the fourth will be held at the W. E. Anderson home on Court street.

Miss Lela Johnson will entertain Saturday for Miss Fay Bolin whose marriage to Henry J. Millie will be an event of September.

Mrs. George W. Pearce and Miss Dorothy Pearce are in White Salmon, Wash., for a week. They left Sunday.

Miss Genevieve Phillips is visiting with her family near Lebanon and will return Thursday. She leaves Thursday for her work in Doty, Wash.

Francis B. Sayre, Harvard professor and son-in-law of former President Woodrow Wilson, expects to leave the United States in October to accept an appointment as adviser in international law to the King of Siam.

with a narrow range with the tone of the market firm near the close. The seaboard reported 200,000 bushels of wheat worked for export, partly Gulf grain, and shipping sales here were placed at 15,000 bushels.

Paucity of offerings of corn shortly after the start tended to cover a number of stop loss buying orders, which brought about a sharp upturn in this grain, the September delivery taking the lead.

Oats were in good demand from commission houses and while best prices were not held to the last, the close was at fair gains for the day.

Provisions although firm with gains and an advance in hogs at the start failed to hold and eased in the latter session trade.

Doney Is Speaker at Sunday Park Service

One of the most interesting Sunday programs of the whole summer park series was held Sunday afternoon. President Carl G. Doney of Willamette university was the principal speaker in a profoundly interesting address on the growth of civil, social and personal rights through the growth of Christianity.

He showed the condition of society at the time of the coming of Christ, with three-quarters of the world in slavery and not legally able to marry, to own property, to make contracts, to have even a mind or a national or personal name of their own that was not subject to the caprice of another, because of the Roman dominance of force.

The leveling of Christianity has brought about emancipation of women, he said, the relief of labor from the old-time slavery to the modern freedom, and every progressive thought and deed of modern society. As a historical study, and as an earnest plea for better recognition of the cause that has made these things possible, the sermon was a masterpiece.

Albert Warren gave a cornet solo that was much appreciated, and Miss Kathleen LaRaut sang, with Delbert Moore as violin accompanist. The audience was larger than usual. There is but one more of the park services this year, all the churches opening up their regular evening services Sunday night, September 2. The park services were continued for two months, during July and August, with the cooperation of the Salem Ministerial alliance, and under direct supervision of the Salem YMCA.

FIRE DAMAGE IS $35,000

Oregon Wood Products Plant Likely to Build Again—Offers Made

The fire that destroyed the Oregon Wood Products plant in West Salem, early Sunday morning, hit the company for a total of about $35,000, with about $15,000 insurance. The company had taken out a $10,000 policy on August 3, which will clear up all its liabilities and give it a chance for reorganization, though all its profits and accumulation, and its capital stock are largely wiped out.

Origin Not Known
The origin of the fire is unknown. The first alarm came about 12:45 Sunday morning, when the fire was found well into the center of the building. Whether it was from a spark that had smoldered during the day and the early night cannot be known. H. E. Barrett, the manager, and two of the other boys, had been working late Saturday night, running the sander to finish up some work on which they were behind the rest of the factory. They left a little after 10 o'clock, with no sign of fire. The boiler room is disconnected from the rest of the plant, and the boiler fire had gone out.

Electric Wiring Out
The fire burned out the electric wiring, and shut off the connection with the city water works pump, so there was no water. The Salem city department finally got to West Salem with its equipment to pump the water from the river, but too late to be of service. The whole plant is a total loss. There is hardly a dollar's worth of salvage, save some oak cants that had been sawed and piled out in the yard to season, about $300 worth.

Included in the fire loss was a car of broom handles, $8,800 of them, worth $2300, and uninsured, that had been loaded Saturday too late for the company to receive them under their half-holiday system. The railroad company loses a perfectly good freight car by the conflagration. There was about $10,000 worth of stock in the house and in the loaded car, that carried no insurance.

Credit Is Strong
Based on the careful, conservative and indefatigable management and operation of the plant, the company had been fairly besieged by offers to build new buildings. Not less than half a dozen investors and capitalists have offered to provide buildings, bank accommodations, capital, anything to reestablish the company. Its credit just now is worth far more than the estimated cash value of the plant, and while the stockholders themselves will have to vote as to their future plans, it is expected that the company will rise from its own ashes, bigger and better than it was before. Most of the workmen, 22 in all, were stockholders, the management having encouraged them to join forces in a mutual investment, and they are courageous enough to want to build immediately.

Damage Estimated
The fire spread to the W. F. McAdams residence, across the alley from the factory; to the Moore garage and storage shed; and to the Max Gehlhar cottage across the street, next door to the Gehlhar dryer. The McAdams house had $1000 insurance, and its contents $500; most of the contents were saved, but the house was destroyed with a loss of several hundred dollars above insurance. The Moore garage contained a Dodge car and a lot of contractors' tools, and the loss is estimated at $1000. The Gehlhar cottage loss has not been ascertained.

Hawley Returns Home From Astoria Meeting

Congressman W. C. Hawley returned home Monday from Astoria where he went last week to meet with the congressional naval affairs committee and high naval officers inspecting the coast defenses.

The naval officers and members of the house naval committee were unanimous in their approval of a naval base in Astoria. Mr. Hawley also inspected the waterway leading from the Columbia river to the mills at Warrenton. He found that the present 21 feet of water is not quite enough depth to accommodate the seagoing vessels that should be loaded there for the eastern and world markets. A depth of 30 feet is essential to avoid breaking bulk in transit. He believes that congress will be willing to provide for this improvement, as it is meritorious, and the people of the locality have shown their own faith in already spending half a million dollars on the project.

Mr. Hawley announces that the total spent in river and harbor improvements authorized in this congressional district is more than $13,000,000.

Unavoidable Accident Coroner's Jury Verdict

Unavoidable accident was the verdict of a coroner's jury that last night met in Stayton and investigated the accident that resulted in the death of Ray Mills, 10-year-old boy who died in a

Salem hospital Saturday night. He was run over the previous Thursday by an automobile driven by Edward Bell, a Stayton banker.
