"Alice Adams," as it will be shown at the Oregon theater Wednesday, is weighted down with distinctions. Florence Vidor, its star, has just been selected one of the six most beautiful women on the screen by Neysa McMein, famous magazine cover artist and portrait painter, as well as an authority on feminine pulchritude. This a new distinction has been given an already distinguished star.

As a novel by Booth Tarkington, "Alice Adams" won the Pulitzer prize of $1,000 for being the best novel written in 1922. Also it is reported by its publishers, Doubleday, Page & Company, as being the best seller of all the popular Tarkington books.

The screen version of "Alice Adams," because of its fidelity to the original, its sincerity and its high entertainment qualities, was chosen by Photoplay Magazine as one of the six best films of the month, and also received special recommendation by the national board of reviews, and the national committee for better films.

Finally, because of its special merit, it was selected by Associated Exhibitors to be released as an Essore Picture. Rowland V. Lee directed and adapted "Alice Adams," in which Miss Vidor is given leading support by Vernon Steel, Claude Gillingwater, Margaret McWade, Harold Goodwin, Gertrude Astor, Tom Ricketts and others.

Come and meet the Happy Couple of Elmsdale—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd. Yes, they are no other than the spectacled comedian, Harold, and his pretty little leading lady, Mildred Davis.

Harold and Mildred are coming to the Liberty theater tomorrow in the seven-reel Pathe-comedy, "Safety Last," and the big event in their lives took place shortly after the completion of the production.

This delightful romance of the silver sheet began about three years ago when Mildred joined the Hal Rosch forces and made her first appearance with Harold in the two-reel comedy, "From Hand to Mouth." A warm friendship sprang up between the young people resulting in merry wedding bells. And "Safety Last," by the way, is the last picture in which Harold and Mildred will be seen together, for Mrs. Harold Lloyd is to star in her own right in feature pictures.

It is a fitting thing that "Safety Last" tells one of the most charming love stories ever presented in a picture. As the Boy, head over heels in love, Harold gets into the most trying difficulties. In fact, Lloyd climbs the side of a 12-story building, and runs into more hair-raising situations than anyone could imagine. But his reward is winning the love of his screen sweetheart. The Girl, and, incidentally, Mrs. Harold Lloyd. Come and wish them loads of happiness!

Proof that successful stage dramas can be adapted to the motion picture screen is shown in the Universal photoplay, "Trimmed in Scarlet," showing at the Bligh theater Saturday and Sunday.

The play was adapted to the screen by Edward T. Lowe, Jr., from the Broadway stage play of the same name by William Hurbutt, in which Maxine Elliott starred.

The usual run which the stage play had on Broadway is being echoed by national popularity since the production of the photodrama.

The story isn't new. It's the child love and mother love theme that nearly every writer and producer have tried their hands at some time. That "Trimmed in Scarlet" is better than the average of this type of play is due in the picture to the versatile direction of Jack Conway and the characterization of the parts by the players.

Kathlyn Williams fits like a glove into the part of Cordelia Ebbing, society's outcast and mysterious woman of Monte Carlo, the role originally portrayed by Maxine Elliott, her daughter, Universal presents to the motion picture public screenland's youngest leading lady, Lucille Ricksen, 14 years old, who plays an ingenue role with the grace and ease of an actress years her senior.

Other prominent picture folk in the cast are Raymond Hatten, Ray Stewart, Phillips Smalley, David Torrance and Robert Agnew.

Pierce Is Convinced
"The facts stated, as well as much corroborative evidence brought out in the trial have fully convinced me that Dan Casey was one of the two men at the freight car on the evening of June 14, 1921, at about 10 o'clock p. m., when the fatal shot was fired that killed James Harry Phillips.

"I believe that he had a fair and impartial trial and that he was found guilty by an honest jury. The case was presided over by a competent judge. The supreme court, on careful review of the facts and law, confirm the decision of the trial court. I fail to find error or wrong in the trial and verdict, and as unpleasant as it is, I, as governor of the state of Oregon, refuse to interfere in what I believe to be a just and righteous decision of our courts."

BULLETIN GIVEN ON DIPHTHERIA

Prevention of Disease Held Important at Opening of Schools

The state board of health has issued a bulletin on diphtheria. It is entitled, "Why Have Diphtheria?" No appeal could be more timely, it is declared, now that school is about to open. The bulletin says:

years ago, when a case of diphtheria was almost pathognomonic of death itself. The fatal outcome was the more certain if the victim happened to be a young child. The disease was held in such abhorrence that the pronouncement of the diagnosis in a home was sufficient to cause the sudden collapse of anxious mothers.

About 30 years ago, as the result of prolonged and tireless efforts on the part of scientific medicine, providence rewarded their efforts and a remedy for the dreaded malady was perfected. The diphtheria antitoxin was specific in its action, and its results certain, provided the element of time was not overlooked. As the result of this discovery the death rate from diphtheria has been reduced 85 per cent.

"While we have had a specific remedy for the disease for about three decades, not until the last half decade has there been available a preventive for the disease that is just as specific as the curative agent. Toxin-antitoxin administered subcutaneously in three doses of one c.c. each at seven day intervals will protect an individual against the contraction of the disease. The use of the toxin-antitoxin causes no illness and practically no inconvenience. The younger the individual the less severe the reaction. Children are more susceptible to the disease and to its fatal results than adults. Sixty-four per cent of all the deaths from the disease in Oregon occur before the fifth year. The time to administer the toxin-antitoxin is early; in the second six months of age. If every child was given toxin-antitoxin before the 15th month, practically all the diphtheria cases and deaths could be eliminated. About 75 per cent of all children in the grades at school are susceptible to the disease. With the opening of schools there comes increased contacts and increased probabilities of the disease being contracted. Why run the risk of having the school year interrupted, sickness, unnecessary expense, grief and possibly death? You are responsible for your child's life. Are you going to juggle that responsibility and jeopardize a life?"
