

Gloria Swanson plays hide and seek with her husband's heart and leads him a merry chase in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife."

The prettiest girls in Hollywood take part in the gorgeous society lawn party scenes in Gloria Swanson's new picture.

A few last-second touches for the screen bride. The wedding in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" is said to surpass all previous movie nuptials for splendor.

One of the Season's Greatest Film Productions.

When a husband returns home unexpectedly and discovers another man's hat and his pet bottle of champagne (open) and two glasses and—well, better come and see what happens!

Bluebeard (Huntley Gordon) and his Eighth Wife (Gloria Swanson).

Gloria Swanson and Bobby Agnew in a scene from "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" that is as screamingly funny as it is dramatic.

Who says screen stars never take chances? Here's Gloria Swanson diving from one of the highest rocks on the California coast into the Pacific. The dot in the air is Gloria.

Could you love a cave-man?

"Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" is an adaptation of the stage play by Alfred Savoir. Sam Wood produced it for Paramount with Gloria Swanson as the star, Huntley Gordon as the Bluebeard and Bobby Agnew as the boy.

