

DEACONESS HOSPITAL IS TODAY DEDICATING NEW UNIT; HISTORY OF INSTITUTION INTERESTING

The new maternity unit of the Salem Deaconess hospital will be dedicated this afternoon at 2 o'clock. A special program will be rendered in the park on the hospital premises at that time and the building will be thrown open for public inspection.

door of the original little wooden structure that accommodated about 30 patients. The hospital has grown until today it will be able to dedicate the last wing the maternity unit.

"We have in the years of our service here, received so much love and kindness so many ways of appreciation," said one of the hospital authorities yesterday, "that we are overjoyed to say, 'now here is the whole building with its various departments, surgical, medical, maternity, old folks department and orphanage. We dedicate them unreservedly to your service, with loyal and willing hearts. We mean to serve you all, to the best of our ability and knowledge,' in the various departments of the work and then we hope to grow in grace with God and man, that we may be able to serve you better as the years roll on."

"The new unit will furnish 15 beds for maternity cases, delivery room, sterilizing room, nursery diet kitchen, nurses lecture room, with extra diet kitchen, laboratory and furnace room and several rooms for free clinic use, later on. We intend to make a good many improvements in the various departments, now that the outside building is finished. The report of the work for the last year shows the following figures for one year's work: 1465 patients were cared for, 514 men, 579 women and 372 children; 773 operations were performed; 221 medical cases were treated; 30 babies were born; 51 accident cases received, 75 old folks and 24 orphan children found a home with us; $2,607.35 worth of charity work was done, during the year and we have undertaken a few things in the line of social service work and a great many people, that could be classed under this head, have run in to us day or night for help. Many people traveling or in need otherwise, have found rest and the comfort we were able to give them free. Forty-nine physicians brought patients to our institution during the year. We are very thankful to these physicians, who so kindly and generously and willingly helped in so many ways and gave us so many of their much needed rest periods for the instruction of our student nurses.

"We are also very grateful to the Ministerial Union which has brought us so many great lessons out of the Book of all Books. These honors have often proved sources of great blessings. After the rush, anxiety and worry of the day, the rest at the feet of the Master has often given us that victory, for the battles of the coming day.

"While we are overflowing with gratitude and joy, we remember that we have never publicly thanked the many folks that have so generously helped us with the furnishing of the rooms, although we have thanked them many times in our hearts and asked the Lord to bless them. The following persons and organizations furnished rooms in the main building: Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Harder, Mrs. A. Holton, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Wedel, Thielson family, North China, C. F. Hicks, Salem Woman's club, Evangelical church, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schrieber, Nazarine church, Presbyterian church, Highland Friends church, Pratum Mennonite church, Dallas Mennonite church, Salem Mennonite Sunday school, South Salem Friends church, Center Street Methodist Episcopal church, First Methodist church, Sprunger family, M. E. Roberts and daughter Laurie, Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Steeves Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kay, Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Baumgartner, Claude Belle, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Condit, Mrs. A. N. Bush, P. E. O. Sisterhood, Bethany Sisters, Mrs. Carolina White, "In Memory of Mother."

"We could not begin to enumerate all the donations kind hearts have given us in different articles—labor, food and many other ways. We cannot tell you how much good your cheerful words and messages have done us. We thank everybody most heartily and sincerely and may the Lord bless you all for it.

"Salem Deaconess hospital was incorporated on December 17, 1917, the duration of incorporation is to be perpetual, the object in which it proposes to engage is the care, nursing and maintenance of sick, injured, and physically weak people, and the care and maintenance of the poor and those who need loving Christian ministry, all of such service to be rendered for compensation or as a public charity; the training of preparing of Christian young women and widows without children to be nurses and deaconesses, and the sending of such nurses and deaconesses into private homes to aid in the care of the sick and injured; for the establishment and maintenance of a hospital for all such purposes, said hospital to be conducted consistent with the rules and teachings of the Mennonite Church.

"In case the question of the continuance of the work undertaken by this corporation should be raised by the corporation, then such question shall be decided by a committee of five members, two of whom shall be appointed by the ordained sisterhood of said Salem Deaconess hospital; two shall be appointed by the advisory board of said hospital, and the fifth member and chairman of said committee shall be the president of the general conference of the Mennonite church, and the decision of three members of said committee shall be final and conclusive as to such question. If such committee shall decide to abandon the work carried on by said hospital, then all the equipment and property of said hospital shall be sold and the proceeds thereof shall be divided into five equal parts and disposed of under the direction of the said committee of five as follows, to-wit:

"One of said parts to be used for the training of Christian nurses for service on the foreign Mennonite mission field.

"One of said parts to be used for the maintenance of beneficiary candidates for mission work on the foreign Mennonite field.

"One of said parts shall be used for the education of teachers within the bounds of the Mennonite church.

"One of said parts shall be used for educational Bible work, preferably on the Pacific coast.

"One of said parts shall be used for the support and maintenance of orphan children and aged people.

"The hospital is managed by a board of 17 directors, all members of the Mennonite church. Four ordained deaconesses and the president of the institution form the board of trustees. They, with four ordained ministers of different Mennonite churches as advisory board, and eight members appointed in the different churches as soliciting committee, complete the board.

"There is a great work to do in the Deaconess hospital field, work that knows no competition in any other line; work that requires haste. We look with great hope into the future, knowing that our Captain beckons us to run a straight race toward the goal. He is our direct treasury, our comforter and reward; we shall not want."

Two full-blooded Indian girls escaped from the Chemawa school last night. These were Laura James and Ella Duncan. They are about 18 years old.

Return From Springs—

Dr. and Mrs. Mark Skiff and Mark Skiff, Jr., returned Saturday from an extended stay at Brettenbush springs on the upper Santiam. They report a delightful summer and a fine crowd of visitors. Last Wednesday afternoon, however, there was one unwelcome visitor—a terrific hail-storm that gave them halibuts as large as hens' eggs. One of these celestial missiles measured 6 1/2 inches in circumference and weighed two ounces. A big hail-storm that struck the board rebounded so as to cut a gash in the forehead of one of the boys, which required several stitches to close the wound. The storm lasted for 15 minutes and was traced for 40 miles southward through the national forest. A similar storm visited the camp three weeks earlier, but was not of equal violence. This last storm practically ended the huckleberry crop, and it likewise trimmed many fir trees until they looked like plucked fowls with nothing much but bones showing.

Ill With Pneumonia—

Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., is ill at her home with pneumonia. Her illness followed an operation. She was reported to be improving yesterday.

David P. Junk Resident Here for Many Years

David P. Junk, whose death was reported in Saturday morning's Statesman, had been a resident of Salem for 30 years prior to his death. He served for three years and three months in the Union army during the Civil war, a longer time than most of his comrades in that struggle. Following the war, he conducted a mercantile business in Iowa, for 10 years, then moved to Shelton, Neb., where he engaged in the lumber and grain business. In 1893 he came with his family to Salem. His health had not permitted active business at any time during his residence in Salem, and he did not transfer his GAR membership to this place, though he had been a member in Iowa and Nebraska.

Mr. Junk was a member of the

IT SEEMS TO HURT

Excerpt from the Northwest Journal of Dentistry. (The official organ of the Oregon and Washington State Dental Associations of which nearly all dentists are members.)

The latest addition to the long list of fakirs who follow in the wake of dentistry is the so-called "Twilight Sleep" outfit.

Here we find a cheap appeal being made to the public through the use of a term which was employed extensively a few years ago in various sensational magazine articles, describing a "wonderful anaesthetic" for childbirth.

It is too bad the gullible public is taught to think that there is anything "wonderful" in "Twilight Sleep for the Teeth." It is too bad that folks are led to believe that these "Twilight Sleep" wizards have something in the way of anaesthetics which reputable dentists do not have and use. It is too bad that our Better Business Bureau will permit these men brazenly to tell the public that they can do more in half an hour than the rank and file of dentists can do in a whole day.

Some time ago the Better Business Bureau solicited the Portland District Dental Society to become a member of that organization. The society did so. Are Portland dentists getting anything out of their membership on this latest score again fake dental advertising?

At the earnest solicitation of enthusiastic "teams" of Chamber of Commerce representatives, many of us became members of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce not so long ago. Can this body reasonably expect from us a continuation of our moral and financial support, when they throw their advertising columns wide open to such things as "Twilight Sleep?"

Reputable dentists who join the State Chamber do so from a motive of loyalty to the state. They wish to help in the building up and betterment of the state. Why then, should their own Journal of Commerce be permitted to become the means of the self-exploitation of the renegades of our profession?

It is possible that this representative body thinks more of the few dollars realized from such advertising, than of the good-will and hearty support of the reputable dentists who are its own members?

If they insist on printing such advertising in the official Journal, then decent dentists will simply withdraw from the organization.

It is for the State Chamber to choose whether they wish to play up to the outcasts of our profession, or retain the support and friendship of the dentists in good standing who make up its backbone.

We Would Administer Twilight Sleep FOR THE TEETH

THERE IS NO HURT

We were members of the Dental association until October, 1922, when we decided to do some advertising. The association adjudged advertising as unethical—we had something good to tell the people, "Twilight Sleep" had made its appearance, it was a step forward in dentistry but it was exclusive so it was up to Utter Bros. to refrain from advertising it or to quit the association. We did the unexpected—we chose to give the people the latest in dentistry so stepped out of the Dental association and now that we've decided to run our own business we're termed "fakirs." However, We Are Not Members of Any Combine We charge just a reasonable fee, determined by ourselves, for caring for your teeth in a safe, satisfactory, and painless method.
