FIGHTERS COMPLETE SCHEDULE DEMPSEY ENJOYS A LONG RIDE FIRPO TAKES LIGHT WORK

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—After a day of nothing more exciting than motoring into Saratoga Springs for a haircut, Jack Dempsey crawled into bed in his little cottage on the edge of Saratoga lake tonight for his last sleep before starting for New York to defend his title against Luis Angel Firpo Friday night.

The light workout scheduled for the world's heavyweight champion was cancelled at the last minute. The only exercise the titleholder took aside from an hour's walk with Mike Trant, his bodyguard and pal, this morning, was sitting in the back of his fawn-colored roadster for the 12-mile drive to town.

The champion's visit to Saratoga Springs excited no interest aside from that taken by the barber in cutting Jack's hair.

"I've laid a hundred bucks, Jack, on you," the barber confided.

"Well, I hope you win," the champion replied.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—A light bag punching, rope skipping and shadow boxing workout, lasting less than 10 minutes, ended Luis Angel Firpo's training today for the world's championship match with Jack Dempsey in New York Friday afternoon. Immediately after the workout the Argentine and his party boarded a train for New York.

More than five hundred persons were in the grandstands to see the South American go through his final exercises. They were disappointed because he did not spar, and Luis directed that all admissions be refunded.

Luis Angel seemed in superb condition. He declared he was in a fighting mood, and then he dismissed thoughts of the fight.

Tomorrow and until the time of the contest Friday night he will rest in an apartment in uptown New York, 20 minutes motor ride from the arena. His trainers will not permit any interviews until after the fight.

Means Much Financially
"The program if worked out would mean a million dollars to Marion county," said Joseph H. Albert, of the First National bank, last night after the meeting.

"Concerted action in meeting the problem of production and marketing is needed that a way may be found out of the present agricultural situation," Mr. Maris said.

The meeting of bankers and farmers here last night is the fourth such meeting in the state, according to Andrew Miller, field secretary of the State Bankers' association. Others have been held in Linn, Washington and one of seven counties in the Columbia river wheat district.

Committee Meets Today
The State Bankers Association's committee of which Keith Powell of Woodburn is chairman, will meet in Portland today. Joseph Keber of Mt. Angel is chairman of the Marion county association which was in charge of the meeting last night.

Speakers last night besides Mr. Colt, First National bank, Portland, and Mr. Maris were C. C. Land; Frederick Greenwood, manager of the Federal Reserve bank, Portland, and Gordon F. Kaddish, of the finance bureau of the department of agriculture.

ing an option upon the tract, owned by different persons. E. C. Roberts of Round-Up, Mont., and the Hunt heirs finally gave the committee an option for 90 days. No money was involved in the transaction, Mr. Erixon said, for the simple reason they were working without funds behind them.

All Lots Are Sold
Deeds were received and placed in the bank. When sufficient money had been gathered together to plat the tract it was done. Purchasers with confidence were found and the lots were sold. Confidence was given, he said, through people knowing of their appointment by the Chamber of Commerce and that the organization was back of the movement.

At present the 32 lots have been sold and development of that addition will be rapid now that building supplies can be brought to where needed. New buildings in the addition include a two-story frame building to be used as a store by John Williamson; a service station owned by Henry Thompson; a new building belonging to A. C. Hammell; and a foundation for a cottage to be built by W. H. Brown. Others are expected in the near future.

Route is Ideal
The new pavement connects the northern portion of Capitol at Madison with Fairgrounds road at the intersection of the brick yard road, and proves ideal owing to the absence of street car tracks, cross streets and because of its width.

Highway markers were placed last night, but the first few machines to be observed were a little reluctant about driving over the new concrete. Gradually the traffic increased. Street Commissioner Low, with the department's delivery car, was the first to pass beyond the barricade at Madison street.

Dr. Needham Moves
ROSEBURG, Sept. 12.—Rev. J. R. Needham, pastor of the M. E. church, South, has been transferred to Medford and Rev. Stewart Odell has been assigned to the Roseburg church, according to word from Milton, Oregon, where the northwest conference has been in session for the past few days. The fact that Rev. Needham is to leave this city will bring great regret to his many friends here.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Salem is a factory center—
And growing more so every day.

Truth is still stranger than fiction; as witness the events at the penitentiary yesterday.

As a payroll city Salem shines and keeps right on adding to the army of wage earners.

If you imagine Salem is not growing, note the hundreds of new dwellings just completed and under way and starting every day, and then try to rent a comfortable house.

When the world fully wakes up to the fact that there is a real shortage of prunes; too few of them to meet the needs of the consumers throughout all civilization, the boards will be swept clean—and even the carry-over of small sized prunes from last year will all be taken before picking time in 1924.

Still there are more chronic workers than chronic loafers.

One reason why Salem is a star wage roll town is that everybody here works, even father. We have no idle class.

There is a new poultry district developing out on the Pacific highway towards Jefferson. The poultry boom is taking in every direction. It is one of the biggest things that is happening for the good and prosperity of Salem, the coming Petaluma of Oregon.

WEATHER BAD FOR HOPS AND PRUNES

Mould and Brown Rot Appear—More Pickers Would Be Welcomed

Heavy losses to prune and hop growers of the Willamette valley district are threatened if the fog and damp weather of the past few days continue. Growers are hoping for favorable weather conditions until their crops have been placed under cover.

Calls for more help are being sent out by the growers as a result of traces of mold, and while an accurate estimate of the number of pickers that are needed cannot be made, it is believed that at least 1000 can be used. Pickers have received encouragement by many of the hop men by advance of 10 cents a box, and in some instances are offering additional bonuses in an effort to get the pickers in the field early and remain through the harvest.

Brown rot is beginning to appear on the prunes, and these growers are entirely at the mercy of the weather. Harvest of this crop is regulated to a great extent by the ripening of the fruit. The rot has not spread to an alarming degree yet, and no serious loss will be sustained if the weather continues warm.

Mexico to photograph last Monday's eclipse of the sun were not insured against the fog they encountered, it was said today by astronomers at Mount Wilson near here.
