Practically every human being in the United States who has been at Coney Island, the famous eastern pleasure spot, has read about it time and again.

Vienna was once the most dazzling center of Europe. Besides it had a romantic glamor differing from the appeal that any other Continental capital held for the average tourist. Its Coney Island, called the Prater, was a great sight. Then the war came along and—well, those people are human, just as they would be on this side of the water. They suffered; gold stars, starvation and poverty.

Written into the form of a motion picture spectacle, this intriguing atmosphere will be seen on the screen when "Merry-Go-Round," Universal Super-Jewel offering, comes to the Grand theater next Friday evening.

"Merry-Go-Round," which cost time, money and care to film, is the story of two lovers separated as widely by caste as two human beings could be. One is a poor girl of the Prater, an organ grinder. The other is a young count, aide to the Emperor and slays to every royal whim—but leading a life of pompous idleness.

The father and mother of the girl, a faithful hunchback sweet-heart, a great beast of a man who rotes a big concession—these and others of the picturesque population of the Prater appear in "Merry-Go-Round."

Rupert Julian directed, with a staff of ex-citizens of Vienna.

A picture story with a happy ending for Pola Negri! That is something which the admirers of this celebrated screen star will see in "The Cheat," her latest Paramount picture, produced by George Fitzmaurice, which will be on view at the Oregon theatre for four days commencing next Friday.

The story, written by Hector Turnbull, is said to provide the most delightful roles she has ever essayed.

The story of "The Cheat" deals with a wealthy girl of Latin-American parentage who, to avoid wedding an old man, conspires her father, elopes with a young American. In Paris she is loved by an art swindler disguised as an East Indian Prince who follows her to New York. The girl is disinherited by her father, and comes to poverty, she accepts the supposed Hindu's offer of money with which to gamble. At first she wins, then loses not only her own money but a charity fund entrusted to her. Panic-stricken, she borrows from the "prince" and promises to dine with him alone in return for the loan.

At this juncture her husband wins a small fortune by putting over a lumber deal, and gives her $25,000. She writes a check for the amount due the Hindu and carries it to his home. But he tells her, he doesn't want the money—he wants her. When she seeks to escape he drags her to a table and brands her as "a cheat." She takes up a revolver and shoots him, then escapes from the house just as her husband steps into the scene.

Beach beauties who make certain that the silk bathing creations in which they sport never get near the water probably would have heaved a voluble sigh had they been present at the filming of the magnificent garden party in "Enemies of Women," the Cosmopolitan picturization of the Ibanes novel, which opens its engagement at Oregon theatre, September 25.

In making this scene more than enough evening gowns to equip the chorus of a musical extravaganza were ruined and scores of beautiful women received an unwelcome ducking when Prince Michael Lubimoff, the leading character, played by Lionel Barrymore, staged the most extravagant of his many wild parties.

When the scene of revelry is at its height the many Broadway beauties who appear in the picture, all gowned in gorgeous evening clothes, are tumbled into an artificial lake for the entertainment of the host.

"The Passing Show of 1923," is the title of the big musical comedy show with Sam Michels, Florence King, Dave Goodman, Mel Melvin, May Chatelaine and a chorus of dancing dolls, that comes to the Bligh theater for one night only, tonight and they will present one performance only.

A "Mother Machree" in real life.

She is the cherished possession of Tom Moore, featured Paramount player in "Over the Border," the Penrhyn Stanlaws production which will be shown at the Bligh theater next Thursday and Friday. Though she includes in her affections two other film-star sons, Owen and Matt, she chooses to stay in Los Angeles with Tom and the California sunshine. During the making of this picture, in which Betty Compton is featured with Mr. Moore, Chauncey Olcott came to town on his "first and last farewell tour," and Tom took his mother to hear the golden voiced singer of Erin's ballads.

"Shure," said the older lady to Tom's wife, Renee Adoree, as they were driving home, "his brogue is not one bit better than my Tom's."

Miss Margaret Griffith went to Eugene yesterday where she will enter the University of Oregon for her senior year.

Miss Katherine Slade is in Salem visiting with her sister, Mrs. John J. Roberts, and other Salem friends before returning the latter part of the month to Eugene where she will resume her work as a sophomore at the University of Oregon.

Miss Eugenia Zeiber will leave for Eugene Friday, to register as a sophomore in the University.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hopkins went to Portland Sunday where they will make their permanent home. They will live for a short time with Mrs. Hopkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Broughton. While in Salem Mr. Hopkins was secretary of the ex-service men's state aid commission.

The Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity gave their first rushing party at their home on North Church street last night. The first part of the evening was given over to boxing matches on the lawns, and later the boys adjourned indoors to revel in a mystery show, and all the other attractions, that a stag mix and smoker have to offer.

Dr. Carl G. Doney has recently received the announcement of the marriage of Miriam Ellen Stead to Edgar Raymond Attebery on September 10, in Griggsville, Ill. They will be at home after October 1 in Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. Atebery was for three years a student at the Willamette university here until last year when he went to Harvard where he entered the Divinity school. He was well known among the college students here and was active in the YMCA athletics and other campus organizations. He will continue his work at Harvard this year.

CHILDREN'S WEEK at SHIPLEY'S

Now comes a week for the Kiddies, and a big week it will be for we have spent months in the preparations. For the past two weeks the Coats and Dresses for girls of from three to nineteen years have been coming in and now we have them marked and put on racks for easy choosing. Handling so much ready-to-wear, year in and year out, we usually go thru the routine in a matter of fact way but this merchandise for the kiddies has gotten the best of us and we are highly enthusiastic over the designs and materials. They are just like mothers—fur collars, slanting pockets, back panels with tassels, etc.

COATS
For Infants 2 to 6 years
$3.98, $4.95, $6.95, $12.48
For Children 5 to 9 years
$4.95, $7.95, $9.75, $14.75
For Juniors 8 to 14 years
$6.95, $9.95, $17.95
For Girls 13 to 17 years
$9.75, $14.75, $24.75
For Misses 14 to 18 years
$12.75, $14.75, $19.75, $24.75

Materials are of Polair, Astrican Cloth, Velour, Overplaids, Bolivias, etc.; some have collars of self materials while others are of fur. Trimmings are leather belts, nickle buckles, silk tassels, embroidery, buttons of self materials, two tone effects, etc.

WOOL DRESSES

Just in time for school wear comes these new Wool Dresses. Not dresses like mother used to wear to school but real chic up-to-date ones. We bought these at the same time that we found these snappy little coats and they are priced so that mother will readily see that it will not pay to make those school dresses herself.

For Children from 2 to 6 years
$3.95 to $9.75
For Children from 5 to 9 years
$4.95 to $12.48
For Children from 8 to 12 years
$5.95 to $14.75

Shipley's

Thru the determination of our patrons to "pay as you go" we are enabled to make this offering.
