

PRISON EXHIBITS HEMP AND FLAX

Penitentiary and State Hospital Have Large Agricultural Booths

Two exhibitors who have been missed ever since the war came back strong for the fifty-second state fair when fine displays were entered by both the penitentiary and the Oregon state hospital.

Though greatly handicapped by the loss of the greatest portion of the furniture display in the recent fire, the prison display shows the work accomplished in different departments. Shoes, clothing, bread, brick, some furniture and a variety of articles made by prisoners and offered for sale are shown. Several cases of finished products

Reduce Your Fat Without Dieting

Here are the formula for fat reduction with "diet" exercise. Today it is "Marmola Prescription Tablets." Friends tell friends—these friends tell others. They eat substantial food, live as they like and still reduce steadily and easily without going through long stages of tireless exercise, starvation diet, and stomach graces and aches. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all drug stores the world over at one dollar for a case, or if you prefer you can order direct from the Marmola Co., 4212 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.

from the hemp and flax department, in charge of Robert Crawford, are displayed, though the major portion went up in smoke. Oregon state hospital's display consists of both work done by inmates and a special display from the state farm, which supplies produce for table use. Practically all of the vegetables came from the Folk county farm, while the grain and grass displays are Marion county products from the Cottage Farm. Four hens with individual egg records are in the poultry department.

More Pigeon Exhibits Than For More Than 15 Years

More pigeons are being displayed in the poultry division than at any time during the last 15 years, according to Edward Shearer, Estacada, who has had charge of this department for seven years. "The pigeon display, he said, consists of more than 300 birds, approximately double that of any previous display. There were about 450 birds last year, and slightly few more at the Pacific International Livestock exposition in Portland.

The largest individual exhibitor is the A. J. Edwards & Son ranch, near Salem. Several displays have been sent from near Portland, and while there are some outside displays, a majority are owned by Oregon fanciers.

In addition to the poultry proper, there is a large rabbit, rabbit fur and articles manufactured from rabbits.

THE wedding of Miss Wanda Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Brown of Stayton, to J. R. Shaw of Klamath Falls was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents in Stayton, Wednesday. Mr. Brown gave his daughter in marriage, and the Rev. Mr. Poling of Albany read the ceremony in the presence of the members of the two families, and a number of special friends.

Proceeding the ceremony Miss Wava Brown, the bride's sister, sang Cadman's "At Dawning," accompanied by Miss Ruby Spear, who later played Mendelssohn's wedding march during the bridal procession.

The bride was beautiful in a gown of white georgette and satin, with her veil held in place by a pearl ornament. She carried a bride's bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

As maid of honor Miss Wava Brown was attractively gowned in coral crepe and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. As bridesmaids, Miss Ella Rawlings of Portland, Miss Cecelia and Miss Clara Mielke of Stayton and Norma Stamp of Portland, appeared in organdy frocks of pastel shades, and carried bouquets of asters and roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the guests. Assisting in the dining room were Miss Mary Stamp, Miss Margaret Miesler and Miss Helen Mielke.

After a wedding trip in the mountains of Canada Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will make their home in Klamath Falls where Mr. Shaw is engaged in the lumber business.

Mrs. Shaw is a graduate of the University of Oregon, and taught in the Klamath Falls high school last year.

Straight Line Coats

The straight silhouette rules the mode, and it is particularly attractive in practical coats of this style. Camel's Hair, Bolivia, Lustrosa and other soft woolens which seem particularly suitable for tailored coats are employed. Many take the fashionable side closing with no suggestion of a belt.
