"Up and Down Broadway"

The Passing Parade Musical Comedy company will present for the last time tonight "Up and Down Broadway," a snappy musical revue at the Bligh theatre.

With all the slashing courage of Brand, "the Iconoclast," with all the keen understanding of a W. L. George, Daniel Carson Goodman reveals the heart and soul of modern woman in his latest and greatest contribution to the record of the photoplay "Has the World Gone Mad," at the Bligh theatre today under the auspices of Equity Pictures, by which it is being distributed. Big city life and its effect upon the lives and morals of men and women is the theme of Mr. Goodman's newest offering. The cast includes Robert Edeson, who leaped into fame in such noted old dramas as "Strongheart" and "The Great Divide"; Chas. Richman, long famous as a Broadway leading man; Hedda Hopper, Mary Alden, Vincent Coleman and Elinor Fair. The production was directed by J. Searle Dawley, under the personal supervision of Mr. Goodman.

An ice jam in Bow River, photographed by cameramen suspended over Bow River Falls in a steel cage; a real, rip-roaring blizzard near Banff; a dog-team race in the shadow of Mt. Robson; a fierce attack by wolves upon a Northwest mounted policeman and his prisoner; and a wild canoe ride through the dangerous rapids of Seymour Creek.

These are some of the highlights of the schedule on which Barker worked in making "The Eternal Struggle." Innumerable hardships, such as were the lot of these pioneers who "mashed" towards gold along the old Yukon Trail in this same section, were part of the daily routine of the film company.

BLIGH

On one occasion the director, cameramen and players tramped seven and a half miles on snowshoes in order to take advantage of a glacial background for some scenes. They started before daylight with an Indian guide and worked till sundown before starting on the long return tramp. Such is the penalty of giving the public realism.

The cast includes Renee Adoree, Barbara La Marr, Earle Williams, Pat O'Malley and Wallace Beery. "The Eternal Struggle" opens Friday evening at the Oregon theatre for a four days run.

"The French Doll" opened at the Oregon theatre last night with Mae Murray as the star. In excellence and story as well as in Miss Murray's individual characterization it follows close upon Miss Murray's recent photoplays, which were the highest examples of screen art.

"The French Doll" is the story of a little, joyous French maiden who is brought to this country by her unscrupulous parents to aid them in disposing of false antique furniture. Her exquisite charm is to be the chief aid. Miss Murray, quite unconscious of what the real business of her parents may be, really helps to dispose of many dollars' worth of "antiques"—until one day, walking in the park, her dog runs after a squirrel, dragging her violently after, so that she is almost seriously injured, when in the nick of time there appears—Wellington Wick, a wealthy fish packer.

From this point on, "The French Doll" already vivid and alive with Miss Murray's exquisite charm, takes on a swiftness of action and a delicious humor. The various adventures that befall Georgine, that is, Miss Murray, and her various admirers, all of whom become lovers of antique furniture, form an evening of enchanting entertainment.

"The French Doll" is a Metro picture presented by Robert Z. Leonard, incidentally, Miss Murray's husband, through Tiffany Productions, of which Mr. Leonard is director general and M. H. Hoffman general manager.

Patrons of the Liberty theatre are to have a real treat when the William Fox production, "Bells of San Juan" starring Charles Jones opens tomorrow. Charles Jones, who has been called "the most convincing actor on the screen," is said to be at his best in this western story of romance and adventure.

Jones, who is cast in the role of the Sheriff of San Juan, is fast becoming one of the leading screen heroes. His acts of daring are especially noteworthy.

The story is one of wild and woolly westerners, in which Jones won his fame. He plays the part of a young westerner who is elected sheriff to succeed his father who was murdered. He swears to avenge his parent. The keeper of the local dance hall and saloon is suspected and the son of the murdered official brings him to justice.

A pretty love theme is wound through the story. Fritzi Brunette, in the role of a lady doctor, is said to do exceptionally good work.

All in all, "Bells of San Juan" comes to the Liberty theatre with a good box office record and that tells the story. With a goodly amount of praise from press and public in other cities it is bound to please here.

Mystery, love and adventure are blended in the latest William Fox production, "Calvert's Valley," starring John Gilbert, which will be shown at the Liberty theatre for three days starting October 9.

Mr. Gilbert's magnetic personality has won him a host of friends. His admirers will be glad to hear that his latest picture offers exceptional opportunities for his ability.

Mr. Fox has surrounded the star with a notable supporting cast, including such favorites as Sylvia Breamer, Philo McCullough, Herschel Mayall and Lulu Warrenton.

Mr. Gilbert plays the role of a young lawyer, who is both brilliant and popular.

The solution of the mystery is exceedingly ingenious and will undoubtedly come as a surprise to even the most blasé movie fan.

"Calvert's Valley" is said to be distinguished by an exceptionally beautiful love story.

"Children of Jazz" Coming The Paramount picture of the play, "Other Times," by Harold Brighouse, with Theodore Kosloff Ricardo Cortez, Robert Cain and Eileen Percy in featured roles, comes to the Grand theatre for a three days' run next Friday evening. Beulah Marie Dix adapted the production which was directed by Jerome Storm. The supporting cast is of the finest.

Two St. Paul Boys are Proud of Pig Record

Sylvester and Raymond Smith of St. Paul are very proud boys as they are the winners of third prize at the Oregon state fair for a Chester White gilt. This pig was won by these boys in a purebred pig contest conducted by the Pacific Homestead a short time ago.

Mr. Smith, the father of the boys, is cashier of the bank at St. Paul and is a great booster of the livestock industry in his community, and his cooperation with the boys undoubtedly has a lot to do with their success in raising pure bred.

The boys belong to the county club, which is under the direction of W. H. Baillie, county school supervisor, and a considerable part of the success of the enterprise is undoubtedly due to his interest.

Explosion at King's Shatters Windows

An explosion of a fumigating boiler in the north end of the Kings Food Products plant yesterday afternoon resulted in several windows being shattered, some siding being torn out and a general jar to the whole building. Several women employees fainted, while two, Mrs. Bessie Beers and Mrs. James Taylor, suffered from shock and were removed to their homes.

Damage to the equipment was nominal, it was stated in the office, and the havoc is expected to be repaired by early this morning. The explosion was due to natural causes, and was the third in the history of the plant. Carbon bisulphide has been used in fumigating the fruit, and in view of its uncertainty and unstable composition, is expected to be replaced by another compound in a short time.

Your Children NEED MUSIC

That baby whose first smile was directly in your eyes—that toddler who you trotted on your knee to the tune of a nursery rhyme—he needs music. You want your child to grow up strong, happy and noble in character. Do you realize what an important part music holds in the growing child's life?

There is Health-Building Happiness in Music
The National Child Welfare Association says that the musical instinct is as deeply rooted as the speech instinct and that to deprive a child of music is to rob him of his birthright. Specialists are now advocating the giving of rhythmic exercises to the baby, beginning when he is about a year old, and continuing through childhood. They say that these rhythmic exercises with musical accompaniment not only develop the child's muscle and improve his health, but benefit and also soothe his nerves and in some subtle fashion put him into harmony with the rhythmic orderliness of the world about him.

You Can Now Play Music
You do not have to deprive your children of music because your fingers have never been trained to strike the notes on the printed page. The new Playerpiano gives you the ability to play with all the delicate expression and technique that comes from many years of practice. Won't you come in some day this week, and see this wonderful instrument? We know that its presence in your home will bring more happiness to your household and especially to your children.
