

SOCIETY

Of especial interest to students and former students of the University of Oregon will be the wedding of Miss Marjorie Sweezie and Austin Hazard, which will be celebrated tomorrow at the bride's home in Pasadena. Until 3 years ago Mr. Hazard attended the University of Oregon where he was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. For the past year he has been in Salem with the sales department of the Standard Oil company. On the trip north to Salem, which the young couple plan to make by motor, they will stop for a short visit with Mr. Hazard's family in Coquille. They will make their home in apartments on Court street.

Mrs. M. P. Adams is planning to leave the latter part of the month for an extended visit with her mother who lives in Maine. Mrs. Adams will be honored at a luncheon given tomorrow by members of the Sweet Briar club at the home of Mrs. Lou Grote.

Miss Bertha Shroat of Pasadena was the guest of Mrs. Geo. Waters while she visited the fair one day last week. Miss Shroat is now in Portland for a short visit but expects to spend a longer time in Salem again before returning to her home in the south.

Mrs. James Hipier had as her guest last week her sister, Mrs. E. P. Miles of Olympia, Wash. Monday Mrs. Hipier returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Dafty, former Salem residents, recently motored to Oakland, Cal., and have decided to stay there for the winter. Mr. Dafty is employed in an automobile accessory factory. Mrs. Dafty will be remembered as Miss Dorothy Esch of Salem.

Mrs. Catherine Brown is spending a few days in Portland visiting with relatives.

Mrs. Edna Dafty will teach in a school near Dallas for the coming year. She is a member of the modern writers' section of the Salem Arts league, and hopes to be able to attend some of the meetings this winter.

Miss Margaret and Miss Ruth Griffith were in Salem during the week-end visiting at their home. Both of the young women are attending the University of Oregon.

For the pleasure of Mrs. W. P. Lord and her son, Montague Lord of the Philippines, Mrs. George T.

By BETTI KESSI, Phone 106.

Gerlinger of Portland entertained with a luncheon at the Waverley Country club Monday. Miss Elizabeth Lord and other out of town guests were also present for the affair. The Lords have only recently returned from Seal Rocks where they have been spending the summer.

During the past week-end Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Wilkins of Eugene were guests in Salem. On their return trip they stopped in Albany for a short visit.

Mrs. L. H. Tarpley of Portland and her house guest, Miss Sophia Casey, motored to Salem last week to be the guests of Mrs. Henry Lee for one day.

Miss Wanda Nelson of McMinnville was a guest in the home of Judge and Mrs. George H. Burnett over the week-end.

Mrs. Hollis Huntington and her little daughter, Shirley, were guests of Mrs. Herald White of Eugene last week-end. Both Mrs. White and Mrs. Huntington were college mates and sisters in Gamma Phi Beta.

The Bridge Luncheon club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry W. Meyers on Summer street. This was virtually the last of the spring calendar meetings which had been postponed because of the absence of one of the members at that time.

The club was organized over 12 years ago and is the only one of its kind in the city. It is composed of 11 members and meets 11 times during the calendar season, the prizes being awarded at the last session. For the past season Mrs. William S. Walton won first prize, Mrs. John H. McNary the second, and each of the other members received a prize for their respective scores.

Mrs. James Dusenberry and Mrs. Dan Fry, Jr., were the new members elected yesterday to take the places of Mrs. Ben W. Olcott, recently moved to California, and Mrs. John J. Roberts, who has withdrawn from the club.

The Royal Neighbors of America held their weekly business and social meeting Monday night in Elk's hall. During the evening Mrs. Mary Ackerman and Mrs. Bertha Loveland gave several readings for the pleasure of the party. Light refreshments were served later in the evening, and a good time was enjoyed by all.

The exhibition of tapestries at the Gilbert art studio will be open to the public again today. The exhibition includes many excellent reproductions of the old artists, such as Van Dyck and Hals. The pieces shown here are a part of a collection owned by Mr. Leska and Mrs. Thorn, both from Antwerp, and are recommended by Professor Albert H. Schrott, head of the art department of the University of Oregon, as unusually fine works of art.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

St. Monica's Altar society will meet for the first fall meeting this afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory. Election of officers will take place and plans for the year will be outlined. A short social time will be enjoyed.

Chapter G, PEO, will meet at the home of Mrs. W. H. Byrd Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

All members of the Association of American University Women have been invited by the Salem Women's club to join in the covered dish luncheon which will be given at the new club house on North Cottage street, Saturday, beginning at the hour of one. Each member, whether she is affiliated with the women's club or not, is asked to bring one dish of food for the luncheon, and enough silver for her own use. The meeting of the AAUW, which was announced for next Saturday, has been postponed until in November.

The Salem Business and Professional Woman's club will meet for the first time this season to-night in the Commercial club rooms at 7:30. Election of officers for the coming year will take place and several other items of importance will be discussed. All members are urged to attend.

Opening Number of the Civic Music Club of Salem, October 18

A Kaleidoscopic View of Grace Wood Jess in one of her unique programs showing the various National Costumes worn at each appearance.

Completion of the organization of the local club and the outline of a definite plan for the future was the chief business of the first meeting of the Civic Music club of Salem, held last night in the studio of Lena Belle Tartar. Frederic Shipman, organizer and manager of the chain of civic music clubs, was present last night to help put the club on a good running basis.

Already the Salem club has an active membership list of 50, and which was the original quota required. This with the associates that will naturally follow, insure success for the ensuing season of the Civic Music club of Salem. Attractions appearing under the auspices of this club will be for members only. Tickets will not be available for non-members.

Grace Wood Jess will be the first attraction, opening the series of concerts with a costume recital of folk songs on October 18. The program given by Miss Jess is unique. She interprets the folk-songs of many countries—not only musically, but with well-conceived, vivid impersonation. The second visiting artist will be Miss Carol Robinson, pianist and protégée of Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler. In 1916 she was the district and national winner of piano in the contests conducted every two years by the National Federation of Music clubs. In the future contest she was winner of the best art song by an American composer.

The Salem club is one of a chain of five civic music clubs in the northwest, the others being Seattle, Portland, Eugene and Medford. All are under the direction and management of Mr. Shipman, who for the past several years has managed tours for such artists as Nordica, Eames, Biaphan and many others. This year the chain will function with five only, but next year it is planned to add seven more, making a total of 12 cooperating clubs. In the third year Mr. Shipman is confident there will be 20 clubs on the circuit. The advantages will be readily seen. Tots large number will permit a much more advantageous buying of visiting artists, both for the artist and for the clubs.

The system of interchange of artists between the various clubs will give the opportunity to the good resident local talent to be heard at all the clubs on the circuit. At all times they will be paid for their services. While the competitions to be held annually will afford an opportunity to discover the best talent in the northwest, and will facilitate the means of supplying the northwest's quota to the world's celebrities and near celebrities. The first students' competition will be held during next month, the second during March, 1924, and the third during March, 1925. Immediately following the third annual competition early in 1925, the winners of all the above may compete in a grand competition, the winners of which will be given a three or four months' tour of Australia, New Zealand and Honolulu—all expenses being guaranteed and a fee for their services. Although of much smaller population, Salem will be allowed 12 competitors, the same as Seattle or Portland.

Mr. Shipman has just recently received a personal letter from Mrs. Cecil Frankel, first vice president of the National Federation of Music clubs, urging that all the civic music clubs come into the federation.

SEPTEMBER WAS COOL AND CLEAR

Report on Local Weather Conditions Made By Clarence Oliver

September was a month of cool and clear days, according to the monthly report of Clarence E. Oliver, cooperative observer, with a mean maximum of 77.4 degrees and a mean minimum of 50 degrees. The mean temperature was 63.7 degrees. The greatest heat recorded was on September 7, when the mercury climbed to 97 degrees. The coolest was on the 22nd, with a temperature of 42 degrees. On two days, the 6th and 30th, the temperature varied 40 degrees during the day. Only .7 of an inch of precipitation was recorded, .53 falling on September 24. A trace was noticed on the 11th and 23rd, with sufficient to be recorded on the 20th, 21st and 25th. Nineteen days were clear, with eight cloudy. Three were partly cloudy. The river stood at minus 1.5 feet on September 1, gradually falling until a minus 1.9 was recorded between September 9 and 14, when the river began to rise. A minus 1.4 was noted after September 27, when the river began a gradual rise.

Petition for rehearing denied in Smith vs. Hurburt.

King Jazz Is Hero In New Broadway Production

Ted Lewis, Saxophone Expert, Presents Unique Star

Jazz is the theme and the star of the Ted Lewis Frolics, Broadway's newest whirlwind review. In spite of the way it has swept the country, Jazz has never been so honored before. The reason this time is Ted Lewis, who, you might say, is one of its originators. Certainly no other person has done so much to advance the cause of jazz as this Ohio saxophonist, whose audience consists of many thousands of phonograph hounds as well as those who see him in person. "I have spent all the years of my saxophone career finding out why the public takes to the saxophone and just what it is that gives the kick to saxophone music," he declared. "I have discovered that people can be divided into two types, those who like the humorous and riotous and those who like the sentimental and soothing. Jazz can feed them both. "Personally, I prefer a song that tells a story, a story with a picture and a story with humor. I have just recorded one called 'Hi Lee Hi Lo' that gives the experiences of a German band in China. The tale of these fat, pompous musicians falling in love with dainty, almond-eyed Chinese girls is bound to get a laugh."

Briefs to Be Filed in Habeas Corpus Action

District Attorney Rawles Moore of Jackson county and other lawyers were yesterday granted permission by the supreme court to file briefs in the habeas corpus proceeding begun several days ago to procure the release from the Jackson county jail of Raleigh Matthews and Claire King. O. C. Boggs, appearing as special prosecutor, will also file a brief.

Matthews is in jail for violation of the prohibition laws and King for larceny. They contend that they are held illegally and accuse the county and circuit court judges with prejudices and inability to give them fair trials.

Boggs asked the supreme court for permission to file a brief answering the allegation of conspiracy by the judges. He will be allowed to file the brief, but was told by the supreme court that this question would not enter into their deliberations, which would have to do only with the question of legality of the imprisonment.

Swashbuckling Along Fifth Avenue

We would hate to think of the results if something happened to the buckle in the costume, for, like Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street on a bright matinee afternoon in mid-October, everything seems to center in it. The whole dress is puffed in front and drawn through the mother of pearl buckle, and the dashing, slashing, swashbuckling sash of Fawnkrepe also depends for its corporate existence, as it were, on the good graces of the buckle.

Notwithstanding or possibly because of which our maiden wears a most unconcerned and prepared-for-anything expression. But who would not be in this afternoon frock of black velvet and brown Fawnkrepe from the South Manchester looms?

The coat style, surplice dress which seems to have literally invaded the Paris ateliers is here shown, with a lapel faced with the Fawnkrepe rippling back from one side only. And, by the way, one-sidedness is a virtue in the new frocks, and to be equilateral, as it were, is the deadliest sin in the decalogue of Fashion.

Yes, we feel sure that the young woman has placed her hand on her hip to display the intriguing little knotted wristkerchief of Fawnkrepe, and, by the same token, her dashing parti-colored chapeau unites the classic Napoleon tricornie with the common or garden jockey cap in a way which only a maiden of such evident irresistibility would attempt.
