THANK GOD FOR FOOLS

Thank God for fools—for men who dare to dream beyond the lean horizon of their days; Men not too timid to pursue the gleam To unguessed lands of wonder and amaze.

Thank God for fools—absurd and blind and great. We rear our temples on the stones they laid. Ours is the prize their tired souls might not wait; Theirs—the high requiem of the unafraid. —Ted Olsen, in Forbes Magazine.

Miss Ruth Peck, freshman at Oregon Agricultural college, is spending the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Mina Peck.

Kenneth C. Perry, sophomore in the department of pharmacy at Oregon Agricultural college, is spending the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Perry.

As a suitable background for the annual Harvest Home services at the St. Paul's church today, the chapel is decorated with fruits and foliage from the field, garden and orchard. A special musical service will be offered at the hour of 11 in the morning, according to the following program: Processional, "Come Ye Thankful, Come, by Elvy. Kyrie, by Nares. Gloria Tibi and Laus Tibi, by Cooper.

Anthem, "Break Forth Into Joy," by Barnby. Hymn, "Oh Come Loud Anthems, Let Us Sing," by Venua. Anthem, "The Earth is the Lord's," by Hosmer. Presentation, Anon. Sursum Corda, by Woodward; Sanctus, by Cooper. Agnus Dei, by Woodward; benedictus, by Cramer. Hymn, "And Now O Father, Mindful of Thy Love," by Monk. Gloria in Excelsis, old chant. Fourfold Amen, by Neukomm; Nunc Domitils, Gregorian.

To celebrate the 38th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Henderson, the sixth of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Henderson, and the first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ben G. Woeike of Silverton, the three couples with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Phillips, the parents of Mrs. Woeike, and Mrs. M. E. Henderson and little Miss Mary Francis Henderson, enjoyed a line party at the Oregon theater last night, followed by a supper at the Gray-Belle.

Miss Lena Belle Tartar went to Portland yesterday on a short business trip.

The young women of the World Wide guild of the Baptist church met Friday, night for a pot-luck supper to hear Miss Louise Hunderup, field worker for the Baptist state convention. Miss Hunderup met with the children at the church yesterday afternoon to organize a children's Crusader band.

Officers of the guild for the coming year are Eunice Hart, president; Nellie Pickens, vice president; Flina Morley, secretary; Alice Southworth, treasurer.

The Thursday afternoon club will start its calendar year Thursday afternoon when the members meet for the first social time at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. John Albert and Mrs. W. E. Kirk will assist the hostess during the afternoon.

After spending the past few days visiting among friends in Salem, Mrs. C. A. Gray returned to her home in Independence yesterday.

Mrs. A. A. Lee, Mrs. C. E. Powell and Miss Isla Gilbert are representing the First Methodist church of this city at the Columbia River branch meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary societies of the Methodist church. This is to be the last day of the session which began Thursday morning. The delegation is composed of representatives sent from Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho.

Mrs. Mason Bishop will be hostess to the members of the Golden Hour luncheon club Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at her home on South Commercial street. Following the luncheon a social afternoon will be enjoyed by the guests. This will be the first meeting of the club this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bishop were in Salem for a short time last evening on their way to San Francisco and Eureka, Cal.

Mr. Chauncey Bishop of Pendleton was a week end visitor at the C. P. Bishop home.

WINIFRED BYRD

Salem girl who has won wide recognition as a concert pianist.

The fourth season of subscription concerts given under the direction of Mrs. W. E. Anderson at the Grand theater, will be opened the latter part of next month with a concert by Winifred Byrd, Salem's own pianist. Cecil Fanning, the popular baritone who appeared with the Apollo club three years ago, will be the second artist to appear, following with a concert by the Chamber Music trio, consisting of violin, cello and piano.

The appearance of Miss Byrd in this city is always more in the order of an homecoming event. As this is her native state and home town, her friends all greet her with warm enthusiasm. On the occasion of her recital last year at Aeolian hall in New York, Miss Byrd received unusually splendid criticism. Archie Coates, in the Morning World, praised her exceptional ability, both as technician and interpreter in her rendition of "The Golden Cantabile." After a lengthy program of Chopin, Scarlett, Schumann, Liszt, Brahms and Debussy, she was called back repeatedly for encore after encore.

Cecil Fanning will be remembered by those who heard him at his last appearance in Salem when he graciously responded to encores until he was too hoarse to sing and was forced to recite two of his own poems before the audience would be dismissed.

The Chamber Music trio will offer a program of classical and modern music that should be of particular appeal, as nothing has been heard here in the way of good chamber music for many years.

Interest in the newly organized Civic Music club of Salem continues, and many new names appear on both the active and associate membership lists. Active membership is limited to performers, composers and interpreters of music, but anyone interested in the promotion of musical taste may become an associate member by paying the required fee. Membership cards only will admit to concerts and recitals given under the management of the club.

The first of the three visiting artists to appear before the club will be Grace Wood Jess, in a costume recital, October 18, in which she will sing the folk-songs of the different nations. The second will be a concert by Carol Robinson, a concert pianist who is new, but most favorably known in eastern cities where she has appeared before the most critical audiences. The third visiting artist has not yet been announced.

The local teachers are already selecting pupils to enter in the violin, piano and vocal contests, and the student competitions promise to be an interesting feature.

The chain of civic music clubs, of which there are now five in the northwest, under the management of Frederic Shipman, is attracting much interest from musicians and musically interested people in the east, as well as the northwest, as is evidenced by the fact that already a personal letter has come from the vice president of the National Federation of Music clubs urging that the chain join the national federation.

Mrs. Lou Grote spent the week-end in Dallas attending the Polk county fair.

The many friends of Mrs. F. E. Shafer are happy over her return to Salem after spending the summer in New Zealand and Australia. Although as yet nothing social has been given in honor of her return, many friends have called during the week to exchange friendly greetings and to hear of the many interesting experiences of the summer.

Mrs. Shafer, with her son Earl, on June 15 sailed from San Francisco for Wellington, New Zealand, on the Union ship, Mauncani, and were on the water 12 days before sighting land, which happened to be Tahiti, the colorful little island of the Society group. The next stop was the island Raretonga, one of the small group belonging to New Zealand. It was here that Mrs. Shafer purchased some exquisite yellow pearls from the native divers.

The travelers reached Wellington, known as the "windy city of New Zealand," in the midst of what was known to be the worst winter experienced in the last 50 years.

The months of July and August were spent visiting with friends and relatives all over the north and south island, as well as in Australia. Sailing from Auckland on September 11 for the states, on the Niagara, the largest ship that plies from Vancouver, B. C. to Sidney. The trip home afforded short stops in the Fiji Islands and one at Honolulu, before reaching Victoria, B. C., on September 29. Mrs. Shafer and Earl arrived in Salem Sunday morning. Earl left Wednesday to register as a senior in the school of journalism at the University of Oregon.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The young women's Bible study class, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Park, will meet at the city library tomorrow evening at 7:30. All young women in the city are cordially invited to attend.

The Junior Guild of St. Paul's church will meet on Tuesday at the hour of 2:30 at the parish house.

The Monday Night dancing club will meet for the first social evening of the new club year tomorrow in Derby hall, from 8:30 to 11 o'clock.

The Etokta club, formerly the North Salem Woman's club, will have its first meeting of the year at the home of the president, Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. After the business session, at which plans for the coming year will be formulated, a social hour is planned for the members.

The postponed meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Christian church will meet in the church parlors Friday, October 12, at the usual hour of 2:30.

A number of the state Christian Endeavor workers will be present at the Christian Endeavor convention to be held at the Highland Friends church, October 26, 27 and 28.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Leslie Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. E. E. Dent, 1330 South Commercial. Mrs. Selee will lead the lesson.

Mrs. W. E. Anderson will go to Portland to attend the luncheon of the state federation of music clubs which will be held at the Portland hotel on Wednesday. The national federation has selected Portland as the place for the convention of 1925. This will be the first time the convention has been held in the west, with the exception of the one which met in Los Angeles a number of years ago. Formulations of the plans concerning the convention will be the main business of the meeting in Portland this week. Mrs. Anderson has only recently received word of her appointment to the office of treasurer of the state federation.

Mrs. F. E. Zinn leaves for San Diego, where she will spend the winter with her two brothers, L. L. Welch and Ray Welch.

One of the most important affairs on the social calendar of the college team was the annual Junior tea given in honor of the freshman maids, at the home of Mrs. W. E. Kirk yesterday afternoon.

Large baskets of gay autumn flowers and foliage transformed the reception rooms into a colorful bower against which the evening gowns of the hostesses stood out in dainty contrast.

The guests were greeted at the door by Miss Elizabeth McClure, and Miss Dorothy Owen. In the receiving line were Miss Frances Richards, Mrs. George Alden, Miss Adella White, Miss Helen Gatke.

Mrs. Kirk and Miss Verna McKeenan presided at the tea-table which was lovely. Its dainty appointments and lavender and pink centerpieces of stars over which the lighted candles cast a softened glow.

The afternoon was interspersed with music for the pleasure of the guests. Miss Frances Hodge played two piano solos, "Love Song" and "The Night Song," followed with vocal solos by Mildred Macle, "I Passed by Your Window" and the "Kashmiri Love Song"; violin solo by Jeannie Corski, Schubert's "Serenade" and the "Sextette" from Lucia; vocal solos by Fay Sparks, "Secret Languages," and the "Flatterer," with Erma Boughey at the piano; piano solos by Grace Jasper, "Shoherd's Tale" and "Russian Romance" and Edelweiss"; piano solos by Volena Jenka, "Lento" by Scott, "Eagle" by McDowell, "Scherzo" by Mendelssohn.

In honor of the engagement of her daughter, Dorothea, to Lewis J. Kearns of Portland, Mrs. W. S. Buchner, of 1310 Court street, was hostess to a number of maids and matrons for a one o'clock luncheon, Saturday, October 6. The table was decorated in pink rosebuds and autumn mosses. As a finale to the luncheon, a mound of mosses was raised and the announcements on tiny cards were drawn by the guests from a silver basket.

Those bidden were: Mrs. Oral Lemmon, Mrs. Thomas Champlain, Mrs. Walter J. Kirk, Miss Veda Howd, Miss Martha Hutt, Miss Lella Johnson, Miss Margaret Gates, Miss Florence Howe, Miss Luella Patton, Miss Ruth Buchner, and the hostess and guest of honor.

Miss Dorothea Buchner has a wide circle of warm friends in Salem where she has spent the greater part of her life. She is a graduate of Salem high school, and was graduated from the Willamette university with the class of 1922. She has been teaching near the city for the past year.

In the main auditorium of the new Salem Woman's club house, which was transformed into a bower of gorgeously colored zinnias dahlias, marigolds, and trailing ivy, over 100 club women of the city met yesterday afternoon

EVALINA SHOPPING GOES

A week after the fair is closed finds Salem returned to normalcy and doing business as usual. The stores are now in full swing on the fall trade and records will be broken this season. Salem merchants are more and more getting away from fear of Portland and taking care of all the trade of this city and territory. Evalina continues her shopping tours and is gratified to note the substantial improvement all along the line. Salem is finding itself.

Thursday afternoon—a party planned! Wouldn't it mean much to you to have the very daintiest of refreshments proffered to you all laced and ready for the tea-table? Appealing indeed, to the knowing hostess are the wafers, macaroons, and the fine, snow-white sandwich breads baked at the DIXIE shop. Their cakes are delicious with that delicate flavor no other make of cake has—and so reasonable! The DIXIE shop carries the most complete line of fresh baking in town. Special orders for fancy pastries for the family or for social occasions are given the most careful attention. Phone 954.

Drenched marabou is the newest feather trimming for hats.

The musician, will find a most attractive line of genuine leather music rolls and bags at the LEATHER GOODS STORE. There are all styles and prices, and the quality is assured by F. E. Shafer's 35 years in the leather goods business. 710 S. Commercial.

Be it fresh fruits, vegetables, or something in the line of canned goods or staple groceries, PICKENS & HAYNES have anticipated your needs in their complete line of quality groceries. Before buying your canned goods for the winter do not fail to look over the full assortment of Monopole and American Club stock at this store. Watch for specials to be offered soon on the new arrival of fall staples. For "service and quality" phone 256.

Apron effects variously treated are of repeated interest.

Despite the wide range of enticing gay colors of the mode, black remains predominant in the choice of many. MRS. O. C. LOCKE, 115 North Liberty, has just received a number of stunning new gowns in black satin crepes in a variety of approved styles.

Admit it now! Haven't you always had a secret yearning for a palm for the sun-room, or a lovely big lace fern for the living-room window? But being an economical housewife, of course, you didn't indulge. If you are truly economical you will take advantage of the surprising offering MR. BREITHAUP is making on his new supply of fern and foliage plants. Besides the ferns and palms, you will find the colorful dracaena, mauranda, aralia, as well as the showy rubber plant.

Widely striped coats collared in kit fox are among the new arrivals to greet the cool days.

It is so easy to have your furniture match your interior color scheme when you have such paints as Fuller's at your command. Furniture that has served so long becomes worn and shabby, but it can be brought back to a spick-and-span newness by just a few moments of your spare time. Those marring spots and scratches are quickly erased by the easy sweep of the brush you dip in a can of Fuller's. This paint may be supplied in an ecolor of stain enamel or flat paint at the RAY L. FARMER hardware store on Commercial street. It is mixed with special care for the use of the amateur, and can be applied to any surface with surprising results. With each purchase of paint this store is giving a large western landscape done in oil.

The new sheer linen lingerie is seen today not merely in white or fascinating ivory tints. It comes also in exquisite tints, with frilly lace ornaments dyed to match.

A new rose shade, midway between a strawberry and a shrimp, has made its appearance in a tweed coat of sport character.

Whether it be at sports or in the more formal appearances of the social day, Milady displays, a voguish ensemble of graceful spirit, engaging colors and unquestioned correctness in her Meadowbrook chapeau—that subtle touch so quickly recognized, so universally desired—but withal so difficult to demand in words. From Honolulu to New York, there is no well dressed woman who does not recognize the style and serviceability that is significant of the Meadowbrook. One finds these superior hats offered by those shops where only the best may be expected—for instance at the FRENCH SHOP on High street. Meadowbrook carries full display advertisements in such fashion criteria as Vogue, Harper's Bazaar, and Vanity Fair.

Duvetyn is gradually supplanting suede for small severely tailored hats. Panna is also favored.

With a Wedgewood range, such as HAMILTON'S are showing, and a husband, you'd be inspired to write an entirely new version of "Holding a Husband." The grey and white enamel one, with its separate rust-proof gas and fuel ovens, will make your kitchen the cheeriest room in the house. Those golden brown breads and cookies the demonstrator baked in the Wedgewood were positive proof of its ability as a worker. The fact that 16 of these ranges were sold at this store during the past week speaks for itself.

The black handkerchief is smart for evening wear. The square is made of black georgette while the lace edge is either black or white.

It is difficult at present to distinguish the cuff from the muff. Partly because fur is in fashion and partly because Chinese modes are ditto, the cuff in many cases has taken muff proportions. The illusion is heightened by elaborate fur trimmings.

For young girls there are two distinct modes today. One harks back to the basque with its accompanying wide skirt. The other keeps to straight lines, with a line pleated vest-like front and long, snug sleeve.

Tweed suits retain their place today among things pronounced chic. The coats are on the box model with an unusually long notch-collared.

It is easy to select the really smartest color today for the autumn. It's black, in spite of the lovely reds, browns and greens which vie with it. The ostrich or ribbon trimmings, however, may be vivid though all black is more favored.

Black and white gloves form the final brisk touch today to the tailored costume. They are somewhat more than wrist length with a neat strap.

Ma-jongg is everywhere vying with bridge as a popular social pastime. Ma-jongg luncheon Ma-jongg clubs everywhere Ma-jongg, apropos of Christmas, the SALEM ELITE HEMSTITCHING shop has some of the cleverest Ma-jongg table covers in black cotton chameuse with bright borders and those puzzling "Chinky" monograms embroidered in the corners.
