By BETTI KESSI, Phone 106.

Mr. Murrel E. Morley and Miss Pearl Heater of Sublimity were united in marriage at the Court Street Christian church parsonage Sunday morning, October 7, at 9:30. The Rev. R. L. Putnam read the ceremony in the presence of the parents of the bride and groom.

The young couple left by automobile for Newport where they spent the week. They will live for a short time at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Healer, near Sublimity.

Mrs. Berrydane Chamlee of Vancouver, Wash., became the bride of George M. Walker at a very simple ceremony which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. E. Chamlee, last Sunday afternoon at the hour of 2:30. Forms and dahlia decorated the living room where the ceremony was read in the presence of only a few intimate friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Walker will make their home in Vancouver.

Mrs. Walker is well known in Salem where she attended the university until her graduation with the class of 1922.

Members of the Salem Women's club will be hostesses this afternoon at 2:30 to a number of guests at their annual Grest day program. For the pleasure of the guests Mrs. Harry Styles, chairman of the music committee, has arranged a special hour of music, which will include violin solos by Miss Iva Claire Love; tenor solos by Charles Muston; and a group of songs by the Woman's Club chorus quartet—Mrs. Ada Miller Harris, Mrs. Ward Willis Long, Mrs. Merle Rosecrans and Mrs. Arthur J. Rahn.

At 2 o'clock the executive board of the club will meet for a short but very important session for the half hour preceding the regular business meeting at 2:30. There will be an unusual amount of business to come before the regular meeting and it is especially urged that every member be present.

After the business meeting the remainder of the afternoon will be devoted to the program, chatting, and tea. The hostesses will be Mrs. L. G. Smith, Mrs. J. J. Roberts, Mrs. G. S. Hamilton, Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mrs. Frederick Lampert, Mrs. David Egre, Mrs. William Walton, Mrs. W. L. Rand and Mrs. J. A. Churchhill.

Miss Iva Ricketts of Portland has been the house guest of Mrs. C. B. Bishop this week. Mr. Bishop left yesterday for Klamath Falls on the Natron out-of-ex-cursion.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Collins, 650 North Twentieth street, have as out-of-town guests for a few days Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lord, Medford, and Mrs. Hazel Rice of Roseburg.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Sons of Veterans will hold an important special meeting this evening at the armory. All members, especially the officers, are urged to be present.

The Salem Women's club will meet for an important business session this afternoon at 2:30 in the club house. The executive board will meet at 2 o'clock for the half hour preceding the regular meeting.

Classes in Smith-Hughes home-making, offered under the direction and supervision of the State Board for Vocational Education, will be started in Salem the week of Oct. 15. Mrs. Blanche Barker, who has formerly had the sewing and millinery work, will again instruct in these subjects in the Red Cross rooms. Mrs. Barker will be at the Red Cross rooms for registration on Monday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock, and from 7 until 8 o'clock in the evening.

HOW TO LOOK SLENDER WHEN NOT

By JANE HILL

Some women are born to be tall and not so slender. Most of these have splendid physiques, indomitable drive. They're pioneers, leaders; other women look up to them, whether their influence extends to the world at large, or just to their own social circle. But such women aren't always appreciated at their true worth, because they don't succeed in mastering the problem of becoming decorative as well as efficient.

The tall woman who is of this generous mould usually has a generous appetite to match her perfect digestion. She must beware of letting her love for the good things of this life run away with her mirror. "Am I getting—not merely well filled out, but stout?" she must ask that honest soul of hers. And if the answer is yes, she must get at the problem with all the energy she has—and it's a tremendous force!

Roll on the floor. That's one of the best exercises to decrease weight. Forward and back, forward and back—what if your hairpins do come out, and your breath gets short? Scrub the floor, too. (Or pay $500 to a specialist to exercise the same muscles for you!) Walk, Run, if you can. Take Turkish baths. But, above and beyond all, cut out fat-making sugars and starches, and always leave the table feeling you could eat just a little more. Hard? Yes. But not so hard as looking at yourself if you don't.

Your corset should be a real miracle worker. It should have a very long skirt, short in front, however, with the length coming at the back and sides. It should never be worn so as to give a pinched-in waist, or so tight all over as to give you that corseted look so fatal to the modern ideals of beauty: so fatal, too, to one's long-suffering complexion.

Be very, very careful as to your grooming, you women who aren't so young. Be careful in the selection of your colors, recognizing that light shades are bad for you and black is your friend. Contrast is fatal. Round and round lines will add a pound or two for every inch of them you use. Up and down lines give slenderness, and long skirts will be your salvation. Panels are good. Dull-finished materials are kind to you, and so are those that drape easily. Never let your dressmaker draw attention to your collar, your belt, or the finish at the bottom of your skirt. Don't wear big hats. Don't wear clothes that are mounded to your form; leave people guessing as to which is you and which is clothes.

Finally, don't underestimate the little things. Make life serve you (as you serve it), by playing up all the loveliness there is about you—I wonder, do you know how much there is?

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Remington are entertaining as their house guests over the week-end Mrs. W. N. Smith of Astoria and Col. and Mrs. Percy Willis of Portland.

BRUSH COLLEGE

Brush College was very much elated that its booth at the Polk county fair for the fourth consecutive year took first prize. It contained about 180 kinds of canned fruits and vegetables, besides fresh fruit, vegetables and grain and dried fruit. Mr. Brunk, a hog raiser and fair judge for over 30 years, said it was the best educational booth he had ever seen. Special mention is deserved by Mr. and Mrs. Henry, Fred Ewing, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Page, Mrs. Utley, and others for their faithful work, taste, decorating ability and cooperation.

Jack Frank is home from the navy on a furlough. Bob Lehman spent the week end in Salem with his cousin Bill. Asa Smith and family of Willamina visited Charles Smith last week.

Ed Van Saten from Oklahoma is visiting relatives in the neighborhood.

Dr. A. B. Starbuck of Dallas was a caller at the school last Thursday.

Delbert Harritt had his tonsils removed Friday. He returned to school Tuesday.

M. C. Pettys, while building his new poultry house, fell from a ladder and sprained his ankle. Mr. Pettys' sister from Portland is visiting him.

Mr. and Mrs. Loran are moving to Portland this week. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith are moving to the farm occupied by Mr. Loran.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Smith drove to Portland Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. S. Buell and new son.

The Brush College Helpers were to meet with Mrs. Lee Gibson Thursday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. John Schindler is visiting relatives in Portland.

RECOVERS FROM CROUP

"My boy had a very bad attack of croup. Tried everything but nothing did him much good. Then I used Foley's Honey and Tar and he not only recovered quickly but he has had no trouble since," writes Mrs. William Sims, Burlington, Wyoming. Coughs, colds and croup quickly relieved with Foley's Honey and Tar, the largest selling cough medicine in the World. Free from opiates—ingredients printed on the wrapper. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

The depreciation of the German mark has brought about a situation in which the mark is worth more as old paper than as cash. The photograph shows German youngsters with a mountain of marks worth approximately 1 cent in American money.

LATE JUDGE BUSHEY HONORED IN BAR ASSOCIATION'S RESOLUTIONS

The late County Judge W. M. Bushey has been honored by the Marion County Bar association in resolutions that were made public this week, and which are to be spread upon the records of the circuit and county courts.

The resolutions committee was composed of John Bayne, L. H. McMahan and A. O. Condit. The resolution follows.

"We your committee to whom was referred the matter of preparing and presenting suitable obituary notice and resolutions relative to the death of County Judge William M. Bushey, beg leave to submit the following, to-wit:

"William M. Bushey was born at Waynesboro, Franklin county, Pennsylvania, October 23, 1853, and died at Salem, Oregon, October 3, 1923. He was a descendant of pioneers of Pennsylvania. His father was Jacob Bushey, who married Angelina Hopkins, granddaughter of Stephen Hopkins, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The wedding ceremony of the judge's parents took place in Independence Hall in Philadelphia. Judge Bushey's father was killed in action the first year of the Civil war. His mother later moved to Kansas, where the judge spent his early manhood, later moving to Idaho, and in 1890 to Oregon, and since that time Judge Bushey's life and work have been spent and done in Marion county.

"His first work was that of a country school teacher in which he was eminently successful. During this time he took up the study of surveying and later became a deputy county surveyor of Marion county, and also did a large amount of surveying for the government on contract. During the years 1896 and 1897 he was a deputy county recorder of Marion county and also took up the study of law and was admitted to the bar of this state.

"On June 1, 1908, he was elected county judge and assumed the duties of that office on the 6th day of July of that year. He was re-elected November 5, 1912, and was again re-elected November 5, 1918, so that he served continuously from July 6, 1908, to the day of his death, a period of more than 15 years.

"On February 22, 1906, he was married to Iva B. Little of Salem, Oregon, and she survives him, as does also a foster son, Bert J. Mehl of Los Angeles, Cal.

"Judge Bushey was a man of quiet demeanor, but with an active mind. He was a keen student, alert and interested at all times but seldom pressing his opinions upon others unless asked to do so. He was a man of principles which were of the very best, and he was not easily swayed by public or private approval or criticism. He was considerate of all petitioners but his judgment was the product of his own thinking after due consideration of all of the evidence and the law applicable thereto.

"Judge Bushey's outstanding characteristics were hard work and indubitable honesty. Thrown upon his own resources in his childhood in a border state that had been ravaged by war, he acquired by his honesty and thrift a good education, and later became a competent surveyor and a member of the bar of this state. All that he had in character, education and property he acquired by his own efforts under conditions so adverse that a weak character would have considered them insurmountable.

"As county judge he gained by his earnest efforts in the work of economy and reforms, the full confidence of all of the people of his county as well as those of other counties with whom he came into official relations. Of the thousands of dollars of money handled by him not a dollar was expended that did not have for its object the public welfare. In contemplating the long years he served as county judge, and the vast sums of money he directed in the interest of this county, his few errors of judgment are totally lost.

"No public officer was ever more faithful to his trust, none worked harder or put in more hours in public business, yet although being paid a salary inly commensurate with his ability and time, he refused to allow it to be increased.

"Judge Bushey never forgot, overlooked or sidestepped the duties imposed upon him when he took his oath of office, and sought at all times the enforcement of the law without fear or favor, and strove to his utmost to protect and safeguard the highest interests of the whole people of the county. He did not shield himself or shirk his duty but continued at his post when rest and recreation would undoubtedly have prolonged his life, and it may well be said that he died in the harness, leaving a record of faithful service which is seldom equaled and never excelled, and.

"Whereas, in the death of County Judge William M. Bushey, the Marion County Bar Association has lost an honored member, the people of Marion county a tried and faithful officer of the highest type, and the community at large an honest, upright and respected citizen, and his family a kind and considerate husband and father; therefore be it

"Resolved, that we do hereby make public acknowledgement of our appreciation of the public and private life of Judge Bushey, of his faithful and conscientious public service, and of the great loss to the county which his death has caused; and be it further

"Resolved, that a copy of this obituary and of these resolutions be presented to the circuit court of Marion county, and to the county court of said county with the request from this association that the same be entered at length in the records of each of said courts and that the county clerk of Marion county be requested to furnish the widow of said decedent with a certified copy of the same, and that copies be furnished to the local press."

SERIOUS BLADDER TROUBLE

"Could not stand nor sit and was forced to cry out from intense pain," writes Henry Williams, Tarkio, Montana. "The doctor said I had inflammation of the bladder and an operation was necessary. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and improved at once. Tell all my friends about Foley Kidney Pills as it will save many from suffering and perhaps, as in my case, a dangerous operation." Bladder and kidney trouble demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Wallace Bridge Road Relocated By Officials

DALLAS, Or., Oct. 11.—(Special to The Statesman.)—County Commissioners Hart and Riddell have made an order establishing the route of the Dallas-Wallace bridge market road on the north side of Butler hill in the north part of the county. The action was taken by the commissioners to correct a previous order made designating the north side of the Butler hill district the logical place to build the highway and which Judge H. H. Belt had recently declared illegal.

The location of the road on the north side of the hill has caused considerable feeling in that neighborhood and one court action has already been fought out. Just what action will be taken against the court for relocating the road is not known. Most people in this city and Salem are anxious to have the road built, caring little which side of the hill it goes on so as to get a good highway to the Tillamook county beaches which can be reached in about two hours over a good road from this city to the Wallace bridge.

Live Wire Class Has Nearly 100 Enrolled

This year is the brightest in the history of the Live Wire Sunday school class of the Leslie Methodist church. The enrollment is very close to the 100 mark, and will reach a higher one before the end of this collegiate year. The records of the class disclose that there is a very satisfactory gain in membership each year, and particularly during the second semester of college, which is made up of Willamette university and high school students. A. C. Bornstedt, teacher and organizer presents a practical theme of Christianity each Sunday, giving it the business man's point of view of living and practicability. "The Bigness of Little Things" was the topic of last Sunday.

The teacher pointed out that successful businesses were built on small beginnings. Because the young people of today fail to heed small things Mr. Bornstedt stated that the world was sick of a religion of negation, but it does have a lasting interest in the religion of service.

Carefulness in detail was further stressed, the neatness on the job, the finishing of a task started, looking ahead of the job, and putting the best of one's self into the work was sure to bring its rewards, he said.

Whether one is 100 per cent man or woman, he said, depends upon the way he attends to the little things of life—the little things make up its bigness.

A cordial invitation is extended to the young people of the city to attend these meetings held each Sunday at The Leslie Methodist church.

When the man from Jericho felt among thieves, our guess is that those who passed on the other side owed him money.
