YOUR HOUSE OF HAPPINESS
(By B. Y. WILLIAMS)

Take what God gives, O heart of mine,
And build your house of happiness.
Perchance some have been given more;
But many have been given less.
The treasure lying at your feet,
Whose value you but faintly guess,
Another builder looking on,
Would barter heaven, to possess.

Have you found work that you can do?
Is there a heart that loves you best?
Is there a spot somewhere called home
Where, spent and worn, your soul may rest?
A friendly tree? A book? A song?
A dog that loves your hand's caress?
A store of health to meet life's needs?
Oh, build your house of happiness!

Trust not tomorrow's dawn to bring
The dreamed-of joy for which you wait,
You have enough of pleasant things
To house your soul in goodly state:
To-morrow Time's relentless stream
May bear what now you have away.
Take what God gives, O heart,
and build
Your house of happiness today!

Mrs. Frederick Lamport was hostess to the members of the Thursday bridge luncheon club for the first luncheon and afternoon of the new club calendar year at her home at Ben Lombard Park. Brightly colored dahlias formed a cheerful centerpiece to the table around which were seated Mrs. J. Shelley Saurman, special guest for the day, Mrs. David Eyre, Mrs. O. C. Locke, Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mrs. J. H. McNary, Mrs. Henry Meyers, Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mrs. George Rodgers, Mrs. William Walton, Mrs. Dan Fry, Jr., Mrs. James Dusenbury and the hostess. Mrs. Dusenbury will entertain at the next meeting.

Miss Eva Raistick, who has been the house guest of Mrs. C. P. Bishop for the past week, returned to her home in Portland yesterday. Mrs. Bishop accompanied her guest, and will spend the week-end as the guest of her son, Roy Bishop of Portland.

Mr. C. P. Bishop is expected to return today from southern Oregon where business took him the first of the week.

After the short business meeting of the WCTU Tuesday afternoon which will be held in the hall on the corner of Commercial and Ferry streets, the Reverend Hocking will speak to the members. The program will be followed with a social hour.

All persons having clothing or fruit for the children's Farm Home box are asked to have it at the WCTU club rooms by Tuesday, as the box will be shipped during the week.

Mrs. G. E. Schuneman returned to Salem yesterday after spending the past month in Council Bluffs, Iowa, where she was called by the death of her mother.

Miss Marie Churchill of Portland is spending the week end in Salem at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Churchill. Mr. and Mrs. Churchill returned Tuesday evening from a two weeks' motor trip through southern Oregon, going by way of the Columbia River highway and returning by way of Roseburg and Eugene.

One of the largest dinners ever sponsored by the First Congregational church was given Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the church. Mrs. W. H. Gross had charge of the arrangements for the dinner, and quite an elaborate program was planned for the evening. The quartet from the church choir, Mrs. Laura Harms, Mrs. J. J. Roberts, Charles Muston and Albert Gille sang during the dinner and Mrs. Harms and Mr. Muston sang solo numbers. Mildred Roberts played a violin solo and after dinner Frank Wagon delighted the group with a number of tricks of magic.

After the program a social evening was enjoyed.

To commemorate their wedding day of last year, Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Hartman entertained the bridal party with a charming dinner at their home on North Cottage street Friday evening. Pink and white cosmos centered the table, and the same shades were carried out as far as possible in the menu, the cake being adorned with pink and white icing. The evening was spent talking over good times of the past. In order to keep the bridal party in touch with each other, it is planned to celebrate the anniversary in this manner each year.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Steusloff returned to Salem Thursday night from an extended trip to the east where they visited various of the large cities. While attending the national packers' convention in Atlantic City, September 17, 18 and 19, the Steusloffs were guests of friends, and several days were spent in Buffalo visiting with relatives. Other cities visited on the trip were New York, Washington, D. C., and Chicago. During their absence, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lee occupied the residence on North Commercial street.

Miss Constance Kantner spent Wednesday and Thursday in Portland visiting with friends.

A large number of Salem matrons were guests of the Salem Woman's club during the special guest day program which followed the business meeting yesterday afternoon in the club house on North Cottage street. For the occasion, Mrs. Harry Styles, chairman of the music committee had arranged an attractive program of music which included violin solos by Miss Iva Claire Love; tenor solos by Charles Muston, and a group of songs by the Woman's club chorus quartet—Mrs. Ada Miller Harris, Mrs. Ward Willis Long, Mrs. Merle Rosecrans and Mrs. Arthur J. Rahn.

The social hour was preceded by an important business meeting. A report from the house committee, stating that the church, which has been occupying the club house since the purchase last summer, will be entirely moved out of the building this week, called for discussion as to the necessary furnishing and equipment of the club rooms that will be necessary in renting to other clubs and organizations of the city.

Upon request of the Chamber of Commerce, the Woman's club will participate in the opening of the highway, October 25, by serving punch to the visitors in the state house.

Mrs. C. F. Hamilton, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, and Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding were appointed to represent the club at the county federation meeting in Jefferson this week.

Have You Measured Yourself By Your Head?

By JANE HILL

Was there ever a woman in the world who couldn't recall, sometime, somewhere, a sombre hour spent alone, in front of her mirror wishing she were different?

Maybe it was a lonesome evening at a dance that sent her mirrorward at midnight. Maybe it was her third invitation to be bridesmaid. Maybe it was an utterly frank family. Maybe it was just a man's eyes . . .

If she was really plain, she hated herself—to top to toe—stomach, defiantly, drearly, hopelessly, according to her age and temperament. If she was just the average girl, she loathed her insignificant nose, or that mole on her chin, or the color of hair, or her fat ankles, or whatever special un-beauty spot she thought she carried in the forefront of the impression she made. Even Cleopatra, you may be sure, yearned in such an hour for something she hadn't been born with and dreamed that Antony would have been just a speck more devoted if she'd had it!

You, yourself . . .

Certainly, certainly. We're all alike in that sombre hour. It's a racial heritage. But we divide—sharply, inevitably, forever and ever—into two groups for the hour that comes after.

The foolish virgin, who considers herself quite wise, dries her tears, pats on cold cream, dusts a bit of powder, and says resolutely, "I won't do that again! I'll just pretend it never happened!"

Mary Smith the Truly Wise

The truly wise virgin says, "Mary-Smith-in-the-mirror, this is an epoch in your history. That's what you really and truly are. Never forget it, not for a minute. And now, let's see if we can't fool some of the public all of the time into thinking you're quite, quite different!"

If a woman has brains, she begins, right then, not to overlook her defect, but to legislate it out of existence so far as the minds of her friends are concerned. She begins to do away with it altogether, if it's a thing that can be disposed of, like superfluous flesh or a bad complexion, and she doesn't allow anything to interfere with her fight.

If it can't be done away with—if it's a short neck, or a short waist, or a too-high bust, or a general commonplaceness of feature—she knows it can be disguised. And those good points that can be so played up around it that no one but Mary will ever guess that she once went in fear and trembling because of it.

Fruits and foliage of the harvest season will form an appropriate setting for the annual harvest dance sponsored by the Junior Guild of the St. Paul's church which will be given in the armory on the evening of October 19. This is one of the biggest dances of the year, and many Salem folk are looking forward to the event with much anticipation.

The committee in charge of the dance states that the music which will be up to the standard of former years. An orchestra of eight of the best jazz players in Salem has been engaged to play for the dance.

An added attraction will be the Portland Telephone quartette, which is being brought here through the courtesy of C. E. Hickman, division commercial superintendent of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph in Portland, and W. H. Dancy, the local manager.

At a meeting of the Guild Tuesday afternoon in the parish house final arrangements were made for the dance and committees were appointed. Mrs. Clifford Farmer is president of the guild and Mrs. William Walton is chairman of the ticket committee.

Tickets have been out since Tuesday and the women are busy selling them now.

Members of the Junior Guild of St. Paul's church and others who are helping to promote the dance at the armory are:

Mrs. G. L. Arbuckle, Mrs. G. G. Bingham, Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner, Mrs. Wm. Belle, Mrs. E. L. Baker, Mrs. Curtis Cross, Mrs. Russell Catlin, Mrs. Caughell, Mrs. Henry A. Corroyer, Miss Chadwick, Mrs. F. W. Durbin, Mrs. Homer Egan, Mrs. Clifford Farmer, Mrs. L. S. Geer, Mrs. Clifford Irwin, Mrs. E. H. Kennedy, Mrs. Walter Kirk, Mrs. V. E. Kuhn, Mrs. Wm. Lytle, Mrs. O. C. Locke, Mrs. Louis Lachmund, Mrs. J. E. Law, Mrs. J. R. Luper, Mrs. Carey Martin, Mrs. Olinger, Miss Elizabeth Putnam, Mrs. D. C. Roberts, Mrs. F. J. Rupert, Mrs. Carlton Smith, Mrs. Homer Smith, Mrs. U. G. Shipley, Mrs. A. Strong, Mrs. G. E. Terwilliger, Mrs. Fred Thielsen, Mrs. Wm. S. Walton, Mrs. Lenta Westcott, Mrs. W. L. West, Mrs. T. L. Williams, Mrs. Geo. A. White, Mrs. E. McMecham, Mrs. B. L. Darby, Mrs. Frank Spears, Mrs. Victor MacKenzie, Mrs. Linn C. Smith, Mrs. Phil Neimeyer, Mrs. E. N. Gillingham, Mrs. John Rottle, Miss Elizabeth Lord, Mrs. James Linn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hawley returned to Salem Wednesday after spending the week motoring through the Coos Bay country. While in Eugene the congressman was tendered a banquet by a group of Republican workers. Mrs. L. E. Bean gave a reception for Mrs. Hawley Tuesday night.

Major Geo. L. Berry, Dan McDonald of Boston, John Boscoe of Seattle, Alfred King, James Brooks, and Mr. Nealand of Portland were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Heenan Wednesday evening. Mr. Berry is president of the International Printing Pressmen Union, and has been in Portland attending the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

The young married people's club of the First Presbyterian church will meet Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the church parlors for a luncheon and social evening. This is the first meeting of the season and is in charge of Mrs. H. T. B. Glaisyer, assisted by Mrs. N. M. Finkbner, L. G. McLaren, Mrs. May Chambers and Mrs. Lewis D. Griffith.

The seven circles of the ladies' aid society of the First Methodist church will meet on Wednesday to spend the afternoon in various manners, some to sew others to visit and a few to listen to programs of music or literary things, but all to enjoy a friendly hour or two together in the interests of the church.

The circles are South central circle, Mrs. Frank Myers, 532 South Commercial; West central, Mrs. I. T. Moore, 110 Division; East central, Mrs. W. T. Rigdon, 299 North Winter street; South-east circle, Mrs. J. W. Phenicie, 1692 Bellevue; Yew Park, Mrs. Shade, Leslie street; Naomi circle, Mrs. Eric Butler, 256 North Twentieth; Lucy Anna Lee circle, Mrs. A. B. Hansen, 1745 Chemo-keta.

The east division of the ladies' aid society of the First Presbyterian church will meet on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Steusloff at 2 o'clock. The west and north division will meet with Mrs. George J. Pearce at 2:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon and the south division will meet with Mrs. A. F. Marcus at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon. The women are asked to come prepared to sew.

EVALINA SHOPPING GOES

Evalina had a most delightful time the past week. Every where she went she was greeted cordially and the merchants seemed to be enthusiastic about the trade outlook. Certain it is that more Salem people are buying Salem goods than ever before and this encourages the merchants to stock up accordingly. This week also Evalina went some what out of the beaten track and found some lovely places. "There is no use talking," she declared joyously, "Salem is some city and its people are selling the city to themselves."

FROM her summer at the Fashion Academy in New York, MRS. SUSAN VARTY comes back to Salem brim full of the very smartest ideas in dress design. I saw two clever models she was making, in dark satin with the narrow silk valencienne lace-edged tiered skirt effects—la derniere cri! Mrs. Varty is designing for the women of Salem who demand individuality and superior quality. (Miller's Dress-making Parlors.)

The beltless line has taken its place today side by side with the silhouette that flares near the waist. In the beltless gown the line should be entirely unbroken from shoulder to knee.

WHY be taxed with the extra work and worry preliminary to the afternoon of bridge or tea, when the GRAY-BELLE, with its famous cuisine and expert service is at your command? In the Peacock room, with the service of the dainty uniformed maids, the exquisitely appointed tea table, and the delicious ices and pastries, your party will be a joy to both you and your guests.

WHY be an "odd piece" just because you haven't an abundance of fluffy hair? The new Marinello shop on North High street, offers a splendid line of transformations made of the best human hair. Why not save your combings and have MRS. IRENE SCOTT make them into a switch or other pieces you might need.

A striking mode of trimming the small hat has appeared. The trimming consists of uncurled feathers, fastened at one side with a rosette and brought across the back of the hat to flare across the opposite cheek.

DO YOU know that Salem boasts a real FINDING SHOP, where the really clever woman who makes her own can buy everything from the wire frame to the drenched marabou pom-pom for her winter hat? And even better, MRS. C. A. GRIMM will give you as many two-hour lessons as you will need to make your hat, for only 50c. Think of the saving, especially if you have the expensive yearning for a hat to match each outfit. Or perhaps you have other little heads in your family that need hatting. 517 Court street, Derby building.

With the later autumn styles, fringe is coming into its own, perhaps as an after thought of the Spanish vogue. Silk fringe now decorates girdle sleeves and side panels. It is especially well placed on the lower edge of the little boleros sometimes seen on afternoon and evening frocks.

FOR the stout woman, I found the Stylish Stout corset in at KAFOURY'S that should be an innovation to her. It is made of heavy coutil, and is double over the hips and abdomen where most of the strain comes. The extra heavy short stays, the strong elastic side inserts, and the elastic tubular lacing make it a garment of comfort as well as service. For the average and slender figure, I also found three excellent corsets in Youth Line, the Treo elastic athletic girdle, and those comfy wrap-arounds in Warner's. The expert courtesier will give you her best attention.

"BETTER HOMES WEEK"—This suggests again to the thrifty and neat housekeeper new draperies for the home. There is no place in Salem that one can see a finer assortment of fabrics in all grades from scrim and packonets as low as 25c a yard to black linens and silks as high as $27.50. Fabrics to suit all needs and pockets with a designer to offer you suggestions free of cost, and correct in all details. Be sure to visit this store before making your purchases for fall. H. L. STIFF FURNITURE CO., H. L. Brock, manager Drapery department.

The stuff of which hats are made for the hard, cold winter are velours, velvet, felt, cotton mull, and grosgrain ribbon, in ruffles and in loops, with no other trimming.

WITH Jack Frost lying in wait around the corner, it's time to think of the woolly pajamas for the kiddies. In MILLER'S SUBWAY STORE I saw them marking thousands of yards of the softest, wooliest outling flannels to put on the counter this week at a mark one-third low
