FIGHTERS TRAIN AT THE ARMORY

Mulkey and Bayes Sparring Together Preparatory for Tuesday Card

"Dubs" Mulkey of Monmouth and Phil Bayes of Salem, who are among the boxers who will appear on the card at the armory next Tuesday night, are working out together each night at the armory from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock. Bayes is to meet Frankie Webb of Portland and Mulkey will meet Jack Hansen of Portland.

When he meets Webb, Bayes will have about the toughest boy he has ever met to contend with, and it is predicted the fight will go the full six rounds scheduled. Webb has participated in about 100 engagements and never has been knocked out. The boys are featherweights.

The semi-windup will be between Stub Harlow of Silverton and Henry Jabs of Portland, featherweights.

Mulkey, who is to meet Hansen, is a favorite Salem boxer, and is said to be in the best of condition for next Tuesday night's affray. In his last appearance here Mulkey was not in good condition, but neither was his opponent, and Mulkey succeeded in getting a decision.

Kenworthy Named Director Portland Baseball Club

PORTLAND, Oct. 17.—The board of directors of the Portland Baseball club announced the election of which was made today contains the name of W. J. Kenworthy, former Portland manager, who was banned from Pacific coast league baseball by Commissioner Landis until 1924. Local sport writers profess to see in Kenworthy's election as a director the possibility that he may be manager of the club next year, though no announcement has been made to that effect.

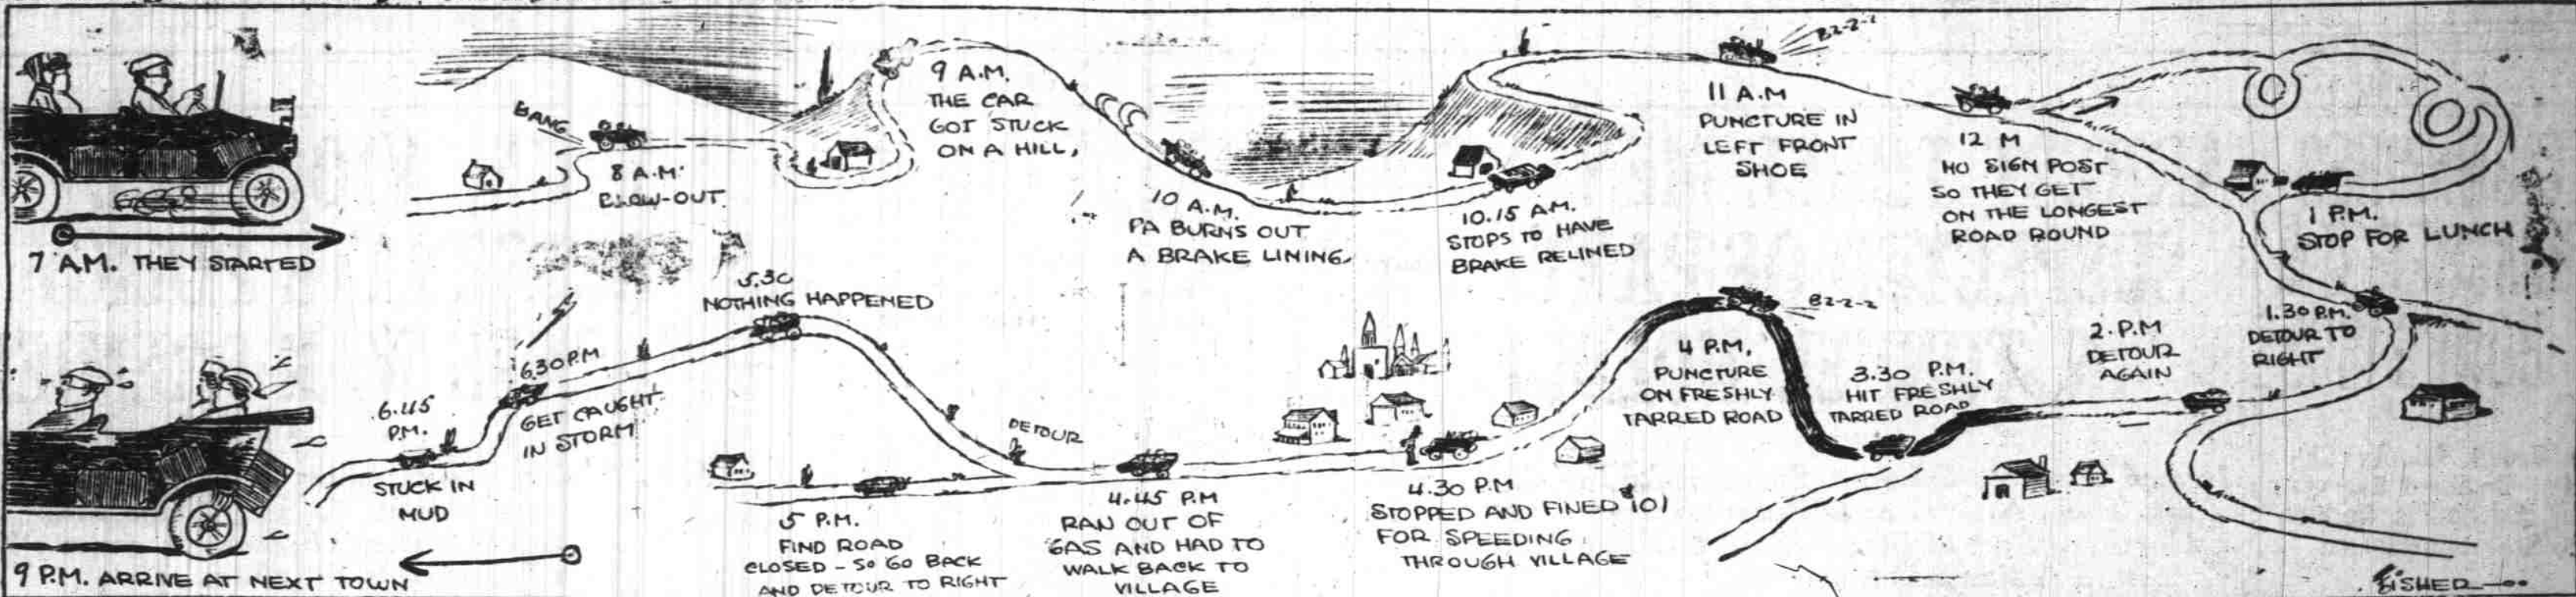

Officers of the Portland club for 1924 were elected as follows: William H. Klepper, president; Dr. Earl V. Morrow, first vice president; Gus C. Moser, second vice president; W. R. McDonald, secretary, and Joseph Mauck treasurer.

SALEM HIGH TO PLAY TOMORROW

Forest Grove Eleven Coming—Huntington's Line-up Tentative

First of the interscholastic football games to be played in Salem this season will be staged on Sweetland field, back of Willamette university, tomorrow afternoon when the Salem and Forest Grove elevens meet.

Though confronted with the problem of building up an entire backfield, Coach Hollis Huntington has succeeded in working out what he believes to be a satisfactory solution by using Patterson as a quarter, around whom he has been developing the rest of the backs. Patterson is the only man in the bunch who has had any experience back of the line, and will be depended upon to do most of the footwork, as well as pilot the red and black team.

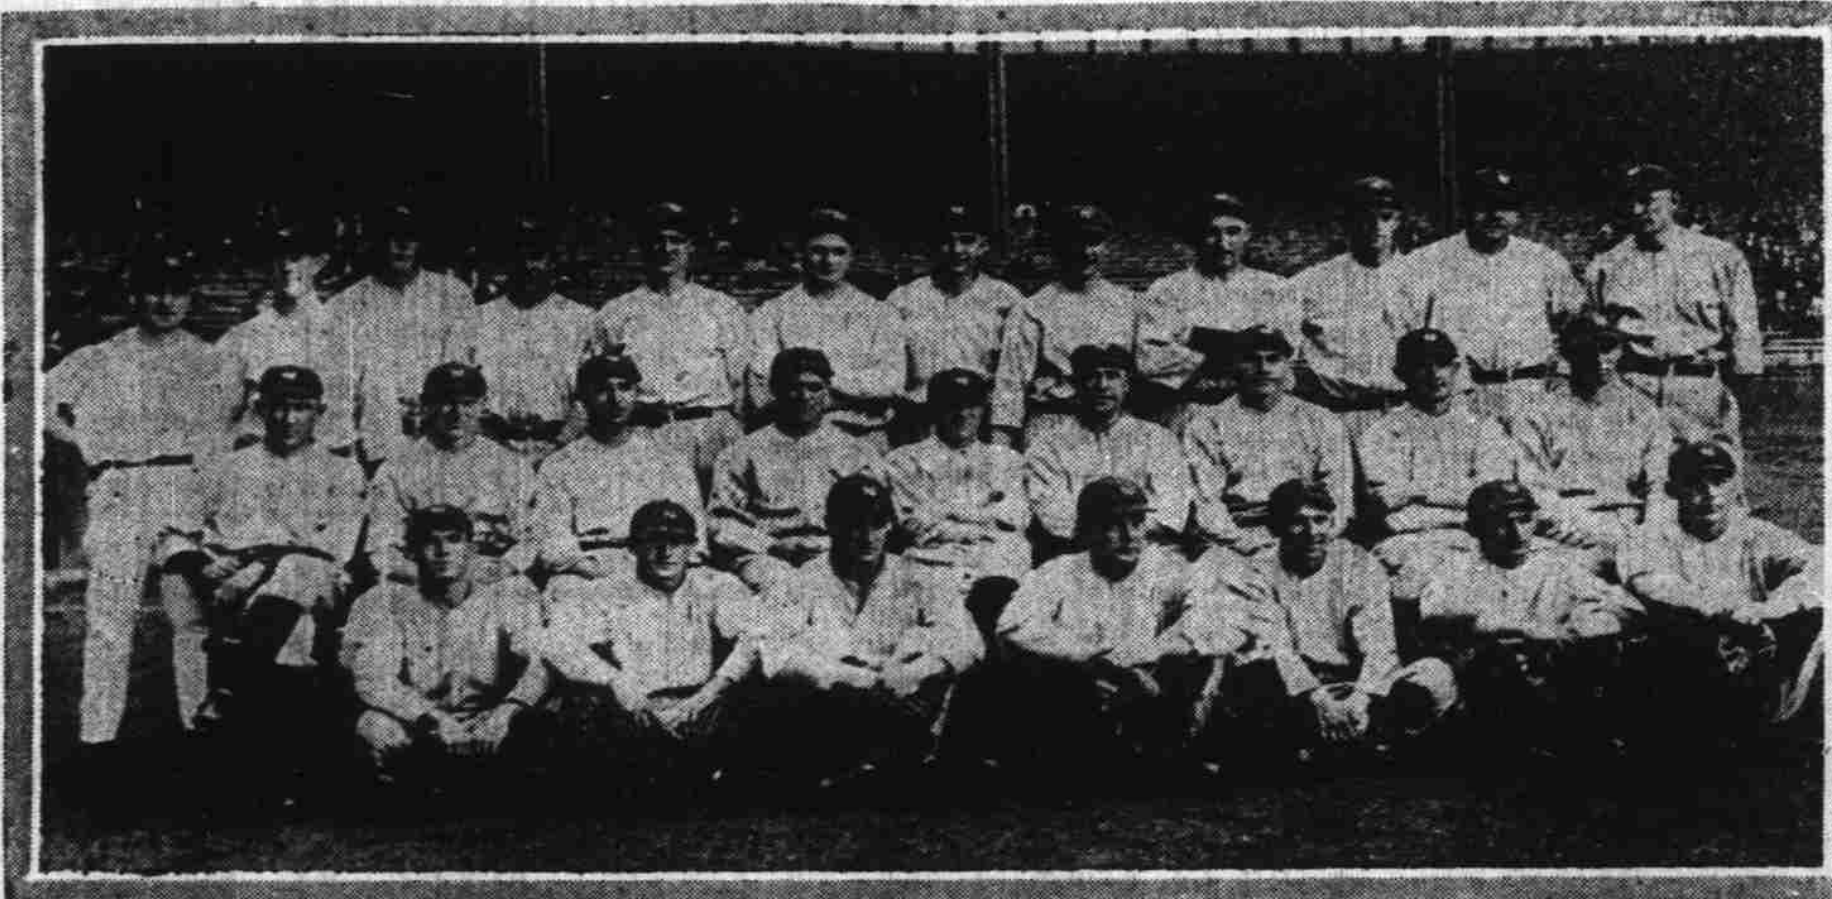

Just how the backfield men will perform is a matter of conjecture, for they are in reality unknown. Some scrimmages have helped the coach to make his decisions and get a line on his proteges, but the backfield men have been working at a disadvantage owing to their opponents having knowledge of the signals.

Salem will put a heavy and fairly fast football machine in the field this season, the entire aggregation averaging around 165 pounds. Five of the men are 180-pounds or better, and are fast on their feet. While the weather on the whole has been unfavorable for good football practice, Coach Huntington has had an opportunity to watch his men perform on a hard and dry field, one decidedly muddy, and again when the field presented ideal conditions.

Line men who will probably be seen in action Friday afternoon are Ringie, captain, and Fallin, right end; Gould, left end; Ausmond or Townsend, right tackle; Blankenship, recently promoted from the second squad, left tackle. The guard positions will be taken care of by Coffey, Harris and Jackson.

Caulhill will pass the ball from center. Patterson is the only man certain of starting the game in his regular position as quarter, and will be depended upon for the kicking. The Kelly brothers—

TO AVENGE DEFEAT

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 17.—Ten years ago Enoch Bagshaw's Everett High school team defeated Elmer Henderson's Broadway High school eleven of this city 13 to 7. Tonight Henderson, as coach of the University of Southern California was in Seattle to avenge that defeat Saturday by a triumph over the University of Washington football team, tutored by Bagshaw.

COAST GRID SEASON TO OPEN SATURDAY

First Conference Football Games Will Be Played This Week End

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—The 1923 Pacific coast football season will open Saturday with games scheduled between the University of Washington and the University of Southern California, the Oregon Aggies and the University of California and Idaho and Washington State. Stanford will play its first conference game on October 27 when it will meet the U. S. C. at Palo Alto and Oregon will start the conference season on the same day with a tilt at Eugene with Idaho.

In its first pre-conference game this season, California defeated Santa Clara 48 to 0, and trimmed the Olympic club 16 to 0. The Oregon Aggies defeated the O. A. C. alumni 13 to 0, but were held to a nothing to nothing score by the Multnomah A. C. The Oregon Aggies have a well balanced team, according to reports from the north and a close contest is predicted by the followers of the California Golden Bears.

The University of Southern California in its two pre-conference games defeated Pomona 23 to 0 and Nevada 33 to 0. The ability of the Southern California team to score on U. S. C. experts assert that the University of Washington, which defeated Whitman 19 to 0 may have an easy victory over the boys from the south.

Washington State, which held Pacific 20-0 but was defeated by Gonzaga 27-14 will clash with Idaho on Saturday. The Idaho boys swamped the College of Idaho 83-0 in their first pre-conference contest.

Everybody must wear out one pair of fool's shoes, if he wear no more.
