New Cars Furnished—The Idaho Produce distributors have complained to the public service commission that they have 20 cars of apples picked, packed and standing in the orchards at Brogan, Or., and cannot obtain refrigerator cars to ship them. Distributors say they are willing to use ventilated box cars and claim the Oregon Short line has its siding full of them, but will not release them for use of the fruit shippers. The commission took the case up with the Oregon Short line officials and received information that as generous a distribution of refrigerators as possible is being made among the shippers, but that only about 30 per cent of the orders can be filled. The railroad company says it has furnished 11 refrigerators to Brogan and 10 to Jamieson since October 12, and that there are no ventilated box cars available for that service.

UTILITY TAXES MAY BE RAISED
Valuations Doubled in Some Instances — National Expert Here

Francis N. Whitney of New York, nationally known tax expert, was here yesterday to confer with the state tax commission relative to the valuation placed by the commission this year on the Oregon properties of the Western Union Telegraph company. Public utilities are assessed at full valuation by the state commission and the valuation placed on the Western Union properties this year is $2,527,379.80, an increase of $1,064,747.65 over last year, when the valuation was placed at $1,462,632.15.

The valuation placed on utility properties by the state commission are frequently cut by the county boards to conform to local ratios.

The reason given by Earl Fisher, state tax commissioner, for increasing the Western Union valuation is general at the present time though he said that later he probably would give his reasons for increasing the valuations of a large number of utilities operating in Oregon. Some of these, he said, have been more than doubled.

The Joint Savings Account

The happiest family in the world is the one which is united in saving for something—a home preferably. It's surprising, too, how rapidly they grow, these joint accounts. It gives an incentive to each member of the family to save systematically and the spirit of competition soon creeps in.

Give your own family a chance to save for something. It takes but a dollar to start a savings account at the United States National Bank and the reward is something far greater.
