"taxation" will be discussed. Phone Miss Beatty, 304-J.

2. Art—Mrs. Alice Dodd, leader. Art as expressed in architecture, sculpture and painting will be traced through the medieval and renaissance periods and compared with that of today. Decorative art will also be studied. If interested phone Mrs. Valiton, 1424-J, mornings.

3. Drama—Mrs. W. E. Anderson, leader. This class will study the history and origin of drama. Beginning with Greece the drama of the various countries—England, Italy, France, Germany and Scandinavia—will be studied before taking up the modern works of Shaw and Galsworthy. This class will be limited to twelve members and will continue next year with modern drama. Phone Mrs. Anderson, 624-J.

4. Psychology—Professor Sherman of Willamette university, leader. This class will study the principles of psychology. Any phase desired such as social psychology, child psychology, or the workings of the normal or abnormal mind may be studied. A small fee will be charged to enter this class. Twenty would be a desirable enrollment. Phone Mrs. Bowersox, 1164, if you wish to join this class.

5. Shakespeare—Mrs. C. A. Kells, leader. This class will meet, provided fifteen members sign for it. Three Shakespearean plays, a comedy, a tragedy, and an historical play will be thoroughly analyzed and studied. It is possible that one of the plays will be presented to the public at the close of the year. And if so the cast will make its own scenery, costumes and complete stage sets.

Mrs. E. E. Fisher was hostess on Thursday afternoon for Chapter G of the PEO sisterhood. The occasion was the annual Guest Day. The two past state officers were among the guests, Mrs. Mary K. Logan of Tualatin, past state president, also past state organizer, and Mrs. Emma Parks of Portland, past vice president.

Other guests were: Mrs. C. K. Logan, Mrs. Wm. McGilchrist Jr., Mrs. Carl Chappel, Mrs. H. S. Boushard, Mrs. C. W. Elgin, Mrs. C. A. Downs, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. Walter Buchner, Mrs. J. A. Carson, Mrs. Emma Parks, Mrs. Reeves, recently from Lebanon, and Mrs. H. M. Styles, Mrs. H. J. Wenderoth and Miss Lena Belle Tartar of Chapter AB.

Mrs. Logan has visited the chapter a number of times before in an official way. This time she came as a lay member. She gave a short talk in her charming way, touching upon some of the events of the recent supreme convention at Seattle from which she had lately returned.

Mrs. Laura Grant Churchill had charge of the program which follows:

Two vocal numbers, "Thou Art Like a Flower," Southernland, and "Persian Love Song," R. De Koven. Mrs. H. M. Styles. Reading, "Ransom of Red Chief," O. Henry, Volens Jenks. Piano solo, "Impromptu," Reinhold, Anna Howell.

Harvest Fox Trot Ushers In New Dance Season

Arthur Murray Sends Forth Fall Terpsichorean Dictum

New York City.—From the cradle of jazz and wiggles comes directions for the season's first new dance and also the cheering news that dancing is getting easier and easier.

Arthur Murray, of New York, president of the National Institute of Social Dancing, whose word is law as to new steps, has named this new invention of his, "Harvest fox trot." It was suggested to him by "Saw Mill River Road," a favorite Broadway tune to which it is danced with moonlight and country atmosphere.

"The slenderizing craze is increasing the ease of dancing," handsome Mr. Murray declares. "In an effort to get thin, men and women, too, are becoming more supple. They dance more gracefully and with greater ease as a result—granda as well as anybody else."

The steps of the "Harvest fox trot" are:

The War Mothers, ever busy earning and doing their bit to help the boys and the families of the boys who served the country overseas in the war, are planning to have a large cooked food sale for next Saturday. By half past ten the sale will be under way in the small lobby room at the Court street entrance of the Moore building. The proceeds will go into the memorial fund.

The health clinic sponsored by the Marion County Health association, which was scheduled for Wednesday, October 24, has been postponed to Wednesday, October 31.

The past summer has brought many of Oregon's authors before the reading public through their publications of verse, short stories, novels and more serious works. Already our state is becoming famous for its number of well-known writers, as well as those who have only made a splendid start on the road to fame. Salem, itself, boasts of a few of these writers.

Andred Bunch, a promising young poet of Salem, has been writing with a freshness and beauty that is creating much comment. Her poem, "My John Would Have Me Keep a Quiet Face," appearing in the October issue of a Varsity Fair, is unusual in content and reveals real ability as a technician on the part of the author.

Mrs. Frank Barton's poem, "Listening in," appeared in a recent issue of "Radio," a Los Angeles magazine. After sending a poem to "Rhythmus" (New York) the editor, Oscar Williams, wrote Mrs. Barton a personal letter commending her upon her splendid work.

Because of illness, Miss Mina Harding has been unable to put the finishing touches on the manuscript of her operetta, "Fancy Garden," before sending it to the publisher. Miss Harding wrote the opera during the summer vacation and Mr. Loth, a well known composer of New York, has furnished an exquisite musical setting.

A story-sketch, "When I Was a Butterfly," written by Mrs. W. F. Fargo, was published in the June issue of Beautiful Womanhood. Mrs. Fargo has published a number of short stories in the large magazines. "Nobody Else's home Seems Just Right" is the American magazine, about two years ago, brought a letter asking for more such stories from A. S. Siddals, who before his death was editor of the magazine. But because of poor health, for the past year or so, Mrs. Fargo has not been able to stand the strain involved in the mechanics of creative work.

Numerous others of the literary talents in Salem have been doing commendable work during the summer, but have not tried the publishers.

Some five or six members of the Writers' section of the Salem Arts League have entered the contest held by Pearson's magazine this summer. The announcement of the winners is to appear in the December issue of the magazine.

EUGENE SMITH AGAINST TAX

Portland Man to Answer Pierce in Chamber of Commerce Speech

In order that voters at the November 6 election may be in possession of information both in favor of and against the proposed income tax measure, Eugene E. Smith, Portland, will speak on the negative side of the measure at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon on Monday noon. He was invited to speak on this side of the fence by C. E. Wilson after he had received a letter from the State Income Tax Referendum league in which he was highly recommended.

Mr. Smith served in the 1915 legislature as a representative from Multnomah county, and has served in important capacities in Portland and San Francisco in labor offices and also of national committees. He was formerly president of the Central Labor council of Portland, and has been active in civic affairs and war drives. In addition to his work with labor unions, Mr. Smith is an editor and publisher, a member of the Portland Press club and the Portland Ad club. He will be introduced by Seymour Jones.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce heard Governor Walter M. Pierce speak in favor of the proposed income tax measure at the luncheon a week ago.

ONLY $2300 IS YET TO RAISE

Another $750 Reported by YMCA Campaigners at Friday Conference

With only $2300 remaining to complete the $13,000 quota of the financial budget of the YMCA, team captain and workers pledged themselves at noon Saturday to complete the campaign Monday night. Saturday proved a poor day for the workers, for only $750 was reported at the luncheon. No outside speakers were heard, but the optimism and enthusiasm of the campaigners was the highest of the drive.

All of those taking part in the drive will meet at the Chamber of Commerce room immediately following the regular luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce Monday noon to report on the progress of the campaign. The workers will meet again for dinner at the YMCA building at 6 o'clock, and

COUNTY BUDGET WAITS SCHOOLS

Census Cannot Be Completed Until About December 1, Is Report

The county budget cannot be made up by the county court until the school budget is received and the school budget cannot be made up until the school census is completed which probably will not be until about December 1, according to Mrs. Mary Fulkerson, county school superintendent. "The last week in November is the earliest time the school census has been available in previous years," said Mrs. Fulkerson yesterday. "The clerks start taking the census Oct. 25 and are allowed a week to complete the canvass and then 10 days more in which to file the report. It is a physical impossibility for the larger districts to file the reports within this time, however, because to make so many trips to certain places in the large school districts. "The school census is vitally important in making up the budget since the law requires that $10 shall be assessed for each child of school age to be used for school purposes and 10 cents for each child shall go into the library fund."

he had been visiting several weeks. Mrs. J. B. Smith of Glendale, Calif., is visiting her nephew, Charles Lorne for several days. Ernest Shirvin who passed away in Oregon City, Sunday, Oct. 14, was buried at Scotts Mills, Tuesday afternoon. Services were held in the Christian church, Rev. J. A. Bennett of Silverton officiating.

Miss Grace Dunagan who is teaching school near McMinnville was home over the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Mason Bishop of Salem also visited Mrs. C. A. Dunagan and family on Sunday. Scotts Mills school opened Monday with a large attendance and one extra teacher, making five teachers in all. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Magee were in Salem Wednesday on business.

Miss Lorraine Hogg was home over the week end. Miss Enid Lamb and Miss Edith Cole of Sweet Home visited here over the week end. Miss Arnette Coiling spent the week end with relatives in Se-
