

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Hallowe'en Celebration—Last night the Salvation Army hall was filled with a happy, jolly crowd of young folk. A real Hallowe'en celebration was on and the costumes were considered great by the children. Ducking for apples, playing the games that go with the festivities, and a real cut-up was the order of the day. The Salvation Army Sunday school was having its annual celebration and they surely did celebrate. Candies, cakes, nuts and all the other goodies that go with Hallowe'en were there.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST
Talking about a boom—
There is a filbert boom on in the Salem district. See Slogan pages tomorrow. And if you have anything of value on filberts, please inform the Slogan editor today.
There is a very busy crowd over at the Salem Fruit Union build- ing of the Oregon Growers Co- operative association—receiving and grading and sorting and packing walnuts. It looks like a mountain of walnuts. And the best walnuts grown in the wide, wide world.

The Filipinos do not want to become a part of the United States according to one of their half- baked but leading politicians. What they want is the protection of the United States, and a free hand to do whatever they please, however foolish. If congress does not give that country an act, amounting to a constitution, de- fining the places where they "get off at" and making it plain enough for the dullest Filipino to understand, it will be most derel- ict in its duties.

The concrete spaces on the east side of the Salem postoffice have been increased in size in the past few days. There will be more room for the patrons, especially those who come and go in auto- mobiles. Many people can remem- ber, just a few years ago, when the postoffice building was erected, that it was the general opin- ion that it was too large—that Salem would never grow up to it. Salem has passed it, and there is an addition; and Salem will keep on passing it, and there will have to be more room provided.

Cinder Ordinance Again Considered Last Night
The special cinder ordinance committee of the city council held another meeting last night to con- sider pro and con the ordinance introduced by Alderman Patton at a recent meeting of the council and a substitute ordinance which it has been proposed to introduce. Members of the committee are Al- derman Dancy, Patton and Ralph Thompson.

Another regular meeting of the city council will not be held until next Monday and since the last one two weeks ago two special committee meetings have been held on the cinder ordinance, one of which was open to the public. Those specially opposed to the so-called cinder ordinance claim that it is too drastic and should be toned down, while Alderman Patton who introduced it insists that it is just what is needed to curb what has become admittedly a nuisance.

PREMIUM LIST BEING PREPARED

List of Awards for Corn Show and Industrial Exhibit Ready Soon

Printing of the premium list for the annual Polk-Marion County Corn Show and Industrial Exhibit to be held in the S alem armory November 22, 23 and 24, is now well under way and will be ready for distribution within a few days. Every teacher in the two coun- ties will be supplied with a few copies for children to take home to parents who are interested in corn growing.

Prominent speakers and a good program for each evening of the show are promised. Special or- chestra music will be heard each night between 7 and 9 o'clock. Efforts are being made to ob- tain a number of community ex- hibits by cooperation between the Marion County Community fed- eration and the Chamber of Com- merce. Last year three commu- nities, Salem Heights, Brush Col- lege and Liberty had displays and others are sought this year.

In connection with the corn show and industrial exhibits a prominent place will be devoted to boys' and girls' club members. Prizes are offered to boys for the best 10 ears of yellow dent corn. First, $5; second, $3; third $2 and fourth, a ribbon. Similar prizes will be made for the best 10 ears of other corn, and to the girls for the best loaf of bread.

SALEM MAN HUNTS ON TOP OF ROCKIES

Big Game Away Up in the Teton Range South of the Yellowstone Park

Rev. U. S. Crowder is back in Salem after a hunting trip at the very top of the Rockies—and mightily glad to get back. He left Cheyenne, Wyoming, last Wednes- day night in 20 inches of snow, and still snowing.

Mr. Crowder and wife came to Salem to live last August, after purchasing a couple of pieces of property here. Soon after his ar- rival here he bought the Gilbert house at 116 Marion street, and that is their home. Their daugh- ter is a student of Willamette uni- versity. Before coming to Salem Mr. Crowder had been pastor of the First Methodist church at Evanston, Wyoming, and while in that region he had become inter- ested in a hunting lodge, together with three other men. This hunt- ing place is 50 miles south of the Yellowstone park, in the Teton range of the Rockies, within sight of the Grand Teton, nearly 14,000 feet high.

Mr. Crowder had bagged a 600 pound elk up there last year, and he went back a little while ago for another big game hunt. The party had to go by pack 225 miles, and then with pack horses 50 miles. Mr. Crowder himself got no elk, but his party got three, and two bears.

In a district, right around the very backbone of the continent, at the summit of the Teton range of the Rockies, 80 by 70 miles in extent, there are said to be as many as 16,000 elk.

In the time since Mr. Crowder has become familiar with and in- terested in Salem, he has become a genuine Salem booster. If ev- ery one did as much in spreading the fame of the capital city as he does, things would be fairly booming here.

It is estimated that every nor- mal child is equipped with enough spare parts to net a surgeon $125.

Another excellent way to in- crease your earnings during your spare hours is to get outdoors and play.

It is in retirement that one feels the preciousness of genius and friendship as one hears best in the silence of the night the sound of the sea, or the song of the night- ingsale.

CAT AND CANARY COMING TODAY

Show at Grand Promises More Kick Than Pre Pro- hibition Grape Juice

"The Cat and the Canary" by John Willard will come to the Grand tonight. This is the latest of the popular thrill plays, and it is said, by playgoers who have seen it to rank with "The Bat" and "The 13th Chair." If this craze of the public for thrill plays continues some ingenious individ- ual will be marketing a shock ab- sorber for use in the theater. The mystery play will make it profit- able. However in "The Cat and the Canary" the author, it is said, has provided a self-starting shock absorber in the form of natural comedy—both in lines and situa- tions. When the nerves become so tense it seems only a scream can give for relief, along comes a fun- ny line or out pops a comical sit- uation and the shriek is strangled—but there are two places in the course of the play where the audi- ence almost invariably does shriek the warning, despite the laugh made shock absorbers.

The way to make sure that it is a drug store is to step outside and look at the sign again.
