one of the choice corners in Salem. It is understood a residence may go up on the property and also that a deal has practically been completed for an adjoining lot.

Prison Publication Off Press—The October-November issue of "Lend a Hand," Oregon state prison publication, is just off the press. This issue is chiefly the work of Marvin Bailey, associate editor, as Editor J. W. S. has been actively engaged in other affairs, chiefly with the annual-prison show. The publication contains several fine illustrations of the prison and industrial plants not damaged in the recent fire.

The French Shop—Millinery sale is attracting many buyers. It being mid-season your selections are not forced by the limitations of a small stock. We have never displayed larger, finer or more varied assortment than at the present. n2

Revival Campaign to Start—Beginning November 9 the Church of the Nazarene, Nineteenth and Marion, will conduct a 10 day revival campaign. Rev. Lem Jones, Oklahoma, will be the evangelist. Special music will be provided by the Ladies Trio, Portland, consisting of the Misses May Bonat, soprano; Annie Putney, contralto; and Nellie Putney, alto. The women also play the cornet and saxophone. Services will be held every evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. C. Howard Davis is pastor of the church.

Grapes Wanted—Ward K. Richardson, phone 494 n2.

Motor Company to Build—The Valley Motor company, between now and Christmas, will build a one-story service department, 50x84 feet, just east of the filling station at High and Chemeketa streets. The building will be of fireproof material. It will relieve the present building occupied by the company of the service department and enable the company to double its shop capacity. Cuyler Van Patten will erect the building.

Committed to Hospital—G. R. Rader was committed to the state hospital yesterday afternoon. He appeared at the police station early in the morning and gave himself up, with the explanation that "they are after me." Who the "they" were he did not say. Rader said he had recently come to the city from San Francisco where he was employed as an egg inspector. Rader was fairly well dressed, apparently not over 40 years old, and had some baggage.

Oregon Eleven Looks Good—Members of the University of Oregon football team passed through Salem Thursday morning on their way to Pullman for the clash with WSC tomorrow. The "varsity" appears in fine condition, and it was stated by several of the players the game will be "no cinch." Several of the men showed unmistakable signs of hard battle with Idaho last Saturday.

India's Needs Portrayed—Vivid portrayal by a dramatic lecture of the educational, medical and spiritual needs of India was given at the Methodist church last night by Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Powell of Kimball college, Rev. E. Blaine Kirkpatrick and several members of the congregation in semi-native costume. Dr. Powell, as spokesman for the Indian delegation, would tell of what was needed, to which Rev. Kirkpatrick replied.

rick could reply, quoting plans of the church for missionary work in that country. Though more than $2,000,000 will be devoted to the Indian field, by the church, this amount is far short of the amount really needed, it was brought out, not only to continue work with the 40,000 native Christians, but with the millions of people in that land. The relief planned will be of great benefit, Dr. Powell said, and is appreciated, though he urged a greater amount of interest in the work in that country. Both Dr. and Mrs. Powell were engaged in missionary work in India.

Wants Home for School Girl—Somewhere in Salem there must be a family who will give a good home to an orphan girl who is doing her best to obtain an education and who is willing to work for her board and room and a small wage, is the belief of Mrs. Blanche Coe, police matron. The girl Mrs. Coe has in mind is not a delinquent, but one who has been handicapped by the loss of both parents while still a child. She is about 16 years old now, Mrs. Coe states she will be glad to receive offers for a home for the girl, and that as far as she has been able to learn after investigating the case, the girl is all that any 16-year-old should be.

Forger Will Leave Today—Albert Preston, who several weeks ago passed a bad check for $2800 on the United States National bank, will leave for Folsom prison this morning in custody of E. B. Rugh, transportation man from the California penitentiary, to complete a term of seven years for an offense committed in that state. In addition, Mr. Rugh said, Preston will have to stand trial in Sacramento for escaping from the state prison, with an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years awaiting him if found guilty. Preston is known to the California authorities under the name of Zepich Saunders, though he has numerous other aliases. The California prison confines its manufacturing to shoes and clothing for the prisoners, Mr. Rugh said, and the chief occupation of the prisoners is working in the quarry, which supplies a great quantity of crushed rock for road construction.

Body at Webb's Funeral Parlor. Funeral announcements later.

Prizes Offered for Apple Week—In order to stimulate local interest in National Apple week, the First National bank is offering substantial prizes in two different classes of displays. For the best display of apples by Salem grocery firms, the bank will pay $15 for the first award, $10 for the second and $5 for the third. A special prize of $20 is being offered for the best display of Starks Delicious apples. Judges for the contest, which will close November 7, are C. A. Park, state horticulturalist; S. H. Van Trump, county fruit inspector, and E. H. Bigh, field man for the Oregon Growers association.

Building Gets Fine Start—November promises to be a good month for building according to two permits issued yesterday by City Recorder Martin Poulsen. F. L. Odum will erect a one-story dwelling at 1630 State at a cost of $4000 while Frank Reeves will build a similar building at 1520 South Commercial at a cost of $4350. The two permits totaled $8350.

Discuss Listing Plans—Discussion of multiple listing plans occupied the attention of the Marion-Polk County Realtors' association at their regular luncheon Thursday noon. While the association contemplates adoption of the multiple listing bureau, there remain many points upon which all members are not yet agreed. A special meeting was called for Monday evening at the Chamber of Commerce for final discussion before the constitution and by-laws are to be put into effect. The luncheon hour was extended about 45 minutes yesterday on account of the arguments and debates.

PERSONALS
Mr. and Mrs. Louis Olson left for Silvertown yesterday for a short visit with Mr. Olson's parents. They expect to return today. C. A. Kells, general secretary for the Salem YMCA, was a Portland visitor yesterday on business connected with his organization and to arrange for a speaker for Father and Son week. Johnson Smith, former warden of the state prison, was in the city Thursday. Mr. Smith is now on a lecture tour of the state, appearing under the auspices of the Prisoners' Aid society. Chief of Police Birtchet completed moving yesterday from 235 Union to 487 North High. Jeanne Christy of the Spa will spend today visiting with her family in Corvallis. Mr. and Mrs. J. Gondeck and children arrived here a few days ago from Minnesota and have located at 517 North Capitol street. Mr. Gondeck has accepted a position at the Oregon Pulp & Paper company's mill.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST
Walnut slogan next week. We are learning that we may almost live by nuts alone. When the nut industries of the Salem district are fully developed, as they are bound to be, and right speedily, the United States will get the bulk of its nut supplies from the Willamette valley—and the wide world its quality nut requirements. Paris reports less than 100 idle men. But a lot of men over there have tasks that would hardly be considered work any where else. During the football season in many of our colleges the curriculum almost ceases to curdle. Dr. Suzzalo convinced the Salem teachers that the schools up to the past few years were taking a lot of time to teach a lot of things that were of little importance in after life. More dead wood has been cut out in this field than in most others. The youngsters of the present time are fortunate that they were not born in the days when their par-

Class for Foreigners—A class in reading and writing for foreigners was started at the YMCA last night with Clarence E. Oliver, Willamette university student, as teacher. The class at the start was small but enthusiastic, and promises to become much larger. The class is one of the educational series that has been started by General Secretary C. A. Kells.

Hallow'een Very Quiet—Anticipation of a busy night, Hallow'een caused Chief of Police Birtchet to put on four extra officers. Though numerous pranks were played by youngsters, none of the vandalism that characterized the day in former years was displayed. Practically the entire business district was free of signs of the "morning after" Thursday, and only the shop windows in the edge of the section were marked with soap. Adam Engle, Salem contractor, complained to the police that certain building materials received damage to the extent of $60 by pranksters.

RELATIONS UNTRUBLES
WARSAW, Nov. 1.—Russo-Polish relations are not troubled, contrary to reports current abroad. The Polish government is aware that soviet troops are carrying out maneuvers in the vicinity of the Polish frontier, but it does not believe that they are a prelude to soviet intervention in favor of the Saxon communists and is not alarmed by them.
