when certain taxpayers of the district filed suit against the school officials in which it was alleged that the district had been organized illegally. The lower court held in favor of the school district, with the result that the case was appealed to the supreme court. Justice Thomas A. McBride, in his opinion, after hearing the testimony in the case, reversed the lower court. Application then was made for a rehearing of the case, which was granted by the court. It was said that the final decision in the case will affect a large number of school districts in the state. One of these districts is located at Woodburn.

Kiwanians Going to Albany—
For the purpose of attending the first meeting of the Albany Kiwanis club, a number of local members are planning on driving to Albany late this afternoon. According to word received from Lun county by Dr. Henry E. Morris, there have been 40 signatures received, and promise of the necessary 50 had been given by others. The organization of the Albany Kiwanis comes as a result of a great many trips and much hard work upon the part of Salem Kiwanians, who are interested in the organizing of another club. The charter will be formally presented at a future date.

Cherrians Hold Meeting—
George F. Rodgers, King Bing the First, was the principal speaker at the Cherrian dinner held Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. He congratulated the organization upon being a "live body" and upon its success since its inception 12 years ago. Nomination of officers for the coming year will be held at the next regular meeting of the Cherrians. The organization will decorate the big tree in the court house yard as usual this Christmas. It was decided last night.

Distribution System Wrong—
George Putnam, publisher of the Capital Journal, has filed a complaint with the public service commission with relation to the freight rate on news print between Oregon City and this city. Mr. Putnam alleged in his complaint that under the present distribution system the mill owners there refuse to ship news print from that point, but instead send the product to Portland by boat, and thence to Salem by rail. As a result of this arrangement newspaper publishers in Salem are compelled to pay an additional rate of 9 cents per 100 pounds, which is the rate on the paper manufacturer's boats from Oregon City to Portland. Mr. Putnam has requested the public service commission to make a investigation of the situation.

North Howell Plans Exhibit—
The North Howell community is becoming interested in the Marion-Polk county corn show and industrial exhibit which will be held in the Salem Armory November 22, 23 and 24. The question of entering a community display will be taken up at a meeting Friday. North Howell is located in one of the finest farming districts of this section, but never before has exhibited its products.

Driver's License Revoked—
Because Judge Marten Poulsen is familiar with Ben Kentleberg, 1375 North Twelfth, he revoked his driver's license until January 1, 1924, when he appeared in police court yesterday to answer to a charge of speeding. Kentleberg, police say, is an old offender and has been fined several times, in addition to numerous warnings. He was arrested by Officer Edwards for speeding 30 miles an hour along Commercial, between Union and D streets.

Mrs. Staley Is Injured—
When the automobile in which she and her husband were driving turned over twice after skidding on the pavement, Mrs. W. I. Staley received injuries and was taken to a Portland hospital Monday night where her condition was pronounced not serious. The accident occurred near Sellwood while Mr. and Mrs. Staley were returning to Salem. Mr. Staley was not injured. Mrs. Staley is expected to be able to return home some time today.

Petitions Rail Extension—
The county court of Harney county has urged the public service commission to grant permission to the Herrick Lumber company to establish its proposed logging railroad across certain public highways in that county. The railroad will extend from Crane to Seneca, and will provide common service. Similar requests have been received by the commission from various civic and commercial organizations in Harney county.

Ensign Holbrook, If You Please—
It is now Ensign Holbrook, Captain Holbrook, who has been in charge of the Stratton Army for some time, has been superseded by Ensign Holbrook. The promotion is merited. Ensign Holbrook is easily the strongest Salvation Army officer who has served in Salem. He knows men and he has made himself a part of the life of the city. Welcome to Ensign Holbrook.

Would Operate in Oregon—
The Rainier National Park company, which operates a series of stage lines in the state of Washington, has written the public service commission here in connection with extending their operations into Oregon. Officials of the stage corporation have requested a conference with members of the public service commission, at which time the regulations governing the operating of four-hire stage lines in this state will be discussed.
