

PORTLAND LAWYER
JUSTED FROM BAR

Court Takes Goldstein's
Name From Practicing
Attorneys of State

An opinion of the supreme court yesterday disbars Morris A. Goldstein of Portland from the practice of law in the courts of Oregon and orders his name stricken from the roll of attorneys of the Oregon supreme court. The case was that of the state on relation of the grievance committee and the board of chancellors of the Multnomah bar association who accused Goldstein of unprofessional conduct. The opinion was written by Justice Hand and concurred in by all the other justices except Justice Burnett, who did not sit in the case. It was an original proceeding in disbarment. Judge Harry H. Belt of Dallas was appointed referee in the case to take testimony and make findings of fact. The grievance against Goldstein arose from his method of dealing with Tom Dillon and John Goulen, who were arrested for illicitly manufacturing liquor in Portland. It was found that a few hours after the arrest Ted J. Long, a professional bondsman and an office associate of Goldstein, went to the city jail to solicit the business of supplying bonds for Dillon and Goulen. Long furnished cash bail of $250 for Goulen who was released, but Dillon was unable to furnish bail and remained in jail. Upon information furnished him by Long, Goldstein is said to have gone to Dillon and sought to represent him as attorney, and was employed. Goulen, for whom bail was furnished, disappeared and has not since been seen. Goldstein, as attorney for Dillon, is said to have told his client that in his opinion a jury trial would be necessary, and Dillon's wife succeeded in borrowing $12 from a friend to cover the trial fee. There was a continuance of the case and after a conference of Goldstein, arresting officers and city attorneys in which it was agreed that a fine of $500 would be recommended to Judge Elwell as proper disposition of the cases against Goulen and Dillon. Referring to Goldstein's conduct in entering pleas of guilty for both Dillon and Goulen and recommending that Dillon be fined $450 and Goulen $50, and the court acted accordingly. It is found that when Goldstein so recommended he knew, or had reasonable ground for believing that Dillon would be unable to pay the fine, and that he never had been employed to represent Goulen. He is said to have known that Goulen had forfeited bail and was a fugitive from justice. While Dillon is said to have agreed to have a plea of guilty entered he did not know that Goulen was to be fined only $50. Goldstein is said to have been particularly solicitous for Long, his associate, "but acted in utter disregard of the rights of his client, Dillon, whom he was employed to protect." It is found that Goldstein entered the pleas of guilty "for the purpose of protecting Long; that after sentence was imposed, Long paid Goulen's fine of $50 and drew down the balance of the bail money, viz., $200. That under all the facts and circumstances of this case the defendant perpetrated a fraud upon the judge of the municipal court, in that he failed to disclose the fact that he had no authority to enter a plea of guilty for Goulen, or to represent him at all, and failed to advise the court that Goulen was a fugitive from justice.

The court also today made an order revoking the temporary license of Charles Garland, Portland attorney, to practice law in Oregon. Some years ago Garland was disbarred. About two years ago he was granted a temporary license for 18 months. The order gives no specific reasons for refusing to allow him to continue, but it was said some complaints had been received.

Other opinions were handed down as follows: George W. Burroughs by Bert H. Burroughs, guardian ad litem vs Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, appellant; appealed from Multnomah county; suit for damages for personal injuries; opinion by Justice Brown; Judge W. N. Gatens affirmed.

Malcolm A. Moody, appellant, vs the state highway commission; appealed from Wasco county; condemnation proceeding; opinion by Justice McCourt; Judge Fred W. Wilson affirmed.

A petition for rehearing was denied in the case of Christensen vs Christensen.

On stipulation the cases of O. M. Trembley vs the Oregon Exploration company, and Jensen vs the justice court for Coos county, precinct No. 2, were dismissed.

LIVESLEY

LIVESLEY, Ore., Nov. 28.—The GT club held its first meeting for the winter at the home of Mrs. M. P. Kugle in Salem. A delicious luncheon was served at 1 o'clock. The afternoon was spent in sewing on a quilt for the children's home at Corvallis.

Mrs. P. A. Henningsen and daughter Aloha are visiting relatives in Washington.

Ernest Henningsen has rented the new store in Livesley and intends to have his stock ready this week. In connection with the store is a club room where the public is invited to hold any meetings.

The basket social given by the school last Friday evening was a great success. The money from the baskets will be used for school apparatus. The following program was given:

Opening song, "Thanksgiving Prayer."
Recitation, "Thanksgiving," by 12 primary children.
Recitation, "Sambo's Advice," Merle Davis.
Recitation, "Thanksgiving Joys," Eva Cronn.
Recitation, "Pussy's Thanksgiving," June Brown.
Recitation, "Thanksgiving," Al. La. Lefly.
Playette, "In 1621," by several children.
Recitation, "Gobble," Adelaide Bettineom.
Recitation, "Johnny Pumpkin," John Walker.
Recitation, Dorothy Salchenberg.
Thanksgiving cantata.
Song by school, "Swing the Shining Sickle."
Mrs. Irene Kelley made a trip to Sheridan last week to visit her brother Morlan Hallin who was recently injured in an automobile collision.
The musical at the church on Sunday night was enjoyed by a large audience.
Rev. E. McAbee preached at Hall's Ferry for Rev. Pedillio last Sunday.

CLOVERDALE

CLOVERDALE, Or., Nov. 28.—W. H. Wilson returned home last Saturday from Salem where he has been employed the past month.

Mrs. Helen Butsky and her son, W. Everett of Oregon City motored up to Dexter last Wednesday to visit her son Louis Rambo and family. They returned home Thursday evening.

Howard Hunsaker and family from Cambridge, Idaho, are here visiting with their relatives.

Mrs. Nettie Morris has been in Portland for the past few weeks taking care of her new grandson.

Mrs. Francis Whitehead visited in Portland recently with her sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Durbin of Salem spent Saturday evening here with her sister, Mrs. Grace Thomas.

H. Wiper has been quite ill but is slowly recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blaco and daughter, Miss Cleo, left here last Saturday for Newport where they expect to stay until after Thanksgiving day.

W. Everett, who has been visiting here with his mother, Mrs. Helen Butsky returned to his home in Oregon City Sunday.

MRS. THOMPSON
NOW IS LEADER

Contest for Diamond Rings
Becomes More Interesting Each Day

Mrs. G. N. Thompson is on Honor Roll today with 181,200 votes. Many changes in big Automobile and Prize Voting Contest.

Who will be the winner of these two beautiful $85.00 Diamond Rings?

Today is a big holiday for every one. One time in the year when every body is at their homes, enjoying the Thanksgiving dinner. In would be a big day for the contestants to start out and see their friends for this is the day you will find your friends at home and it will only take a few spare moments to secure at least five or six yearly subscriptions. Today might mean one of those valuable diamond rings, so why not make it a Thanksgiving day of getting out and hustling and see what you can do toward winning one of these special prizes. These votes will also count on the grand prizes at the end of the contest.

Mrs. Thompson is on the honor roll in the big automobile prize voting contest. It means a great deal to a contestant to get up at the top of the list for it shows their friends just what they are doing, and then they are willing to give their help. Let me see a new leader every day. So far every day we have had a new leader.

Two Special Prizes
So far no one has won the two $85 diamond rings that we are giving away to the contestants who bring in the most money on subscriptions. It is everybody's fight. These diamond rings were purchased at Hartman Bros. Jewelry store and are on display in the window daily. He will be glad to have you call and see them. He can tell you more about the diamonds than I can. These diamonds are very beautiful stones and just what one would want for themselves or for their friend. Wouldn't it be a wonderful thing to find that with very little effort you have secured one of these diamonds. I am sure no one would refuse them. In some instances the people who are running very close for the capital prizes are people who have made contest history within the past few days.

The result of yesterday's voting simply goes to show that the territory covered by the Statesman has not been half or even a quarter worked.

The contest editor has continually been urging the contestants and their friends to make a house to house canvass, taking a street at a time, a village at a time, or a rural route at a time, and calling at every house, every store and upon every person possible. The candidates who have followed this advice are the ones who are getting the votes and subscriptions.

Prize Offer Closes
The big extra prize offer is two $85.00 diamond rings and comes to a close on December 8th to the two who turn in the most money on subscriptions during that time. No one has really started as yet, so it is every body's race. Why not make it yours. This big prize offer will close at 9 p. m. Saturday, December 8th, sharp.

I would like to have my contestants call and see me at the Statesman office and get acquainted. If there is anything I can do to help you in any way, I will gladly do so. Automobile Contest Editor, Oregon Statesman.

Jung Chung Breaks Into Residence of Charley Low

Thoughts of another tong war possibly passed through the mind of Patrolman Walter Thompson Wednesday morning when he heard the racket and dashed to the assistance of Charley Low, 187 South High, who was engaged in a hand to hand conflict with a strange Chinese whom he discovered in the act of looting his trunk. He was taken to the police station where he gave the name of Jung Shung (phonetic spelling), and later bound over to wait action of the grand jury. Unable to furnish $100 bail demanded by P. J. Kuntz, justice of the peace, Shung was committed to the county jail.

Entrance to Low's room was gained by breaking a latch on one of the doors and a chisel employed in opening the trunk, from which $17 was taken by the prowler. Shung told the police that he had been in Salem for the last 20 years, but his story is discredited by the officers, who say they are familiar with all local Chinese. At the justice court Shung presented a really pathetic appearance, sitting in a chair by himself, toes pointed in, wearing slippers, and his head nodding continuously, cupped in one hand. Officers say he is in need of a "shot" of dope or else a few good "drags" from a pipe.

St. Marys Episcopal Guild met with Mrs. Keith Powell Tuesday. The members worked on their Christmas presents. A report of the guild sale was given and over $60 was taken in. The sale was held last Saturday in H. M. Austin's grocery store. Mrs. Powell was assisted in serving by Mrs. Courtney and Mrs. H. M. Austin. The women present besides the members were Mrs. Eugene Courtney, Mrs. Lyman Shorey, Mrs. Blaine McCord and Mrs. F. W. Settlemyer.

Mrs. F. X. Beck entertained the Friday evening bridge club, November 16.
The women of the Methodist Aid society gave the second annual dinner to the old folks over 70 years old in the dining room in the basement of the church Wednesday noon. Eighty-two accepted the invitation. S. C. Curtis and J. H. Baughman were both past 97 and were presented with bouquets. The old people had a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Poorman, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Settlemyer, Eugene Moshberger, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Richards, R. H. Scott and S. B. Layman attended the funeral of General W. E. Finzer in Portland Monday. The general lived in Woodburn a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Miller entertained the members of the Five Hundred club at their farm home just north of town, Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Shorey received the prizes. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. E. G. Emmett and Mrs. Lyman Shorey.

CLEAN KIDNEYS
BY DRINKING
LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts.
Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.
The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.
Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.
