HUSKIES TO PLAY LAST GRID GAME

Ziel, Two Hills and Bryan Will Don Uniforms Last Time Saturday

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 29.—Four University of Washington football players, Leonard Ziel, halfback, Wayne Hall, captain and end, Jimmy Bryan, guard and Ray Hill, substitute quarterback will don their football uniforms for the last time for the University of Washington Saturday when they play the University of Oregon here.

Ziel, the most famous member of the quarter because a shy modest youth, had been overlooked by other coaches before Enoch Bradshaw came to the university three years ago. In Ziel, Bradshaw saw a great football player of wonderful kicking and passing ability. Because of the confidence his coach had in him Ziel soon found himself and has been a star ever since.

Along with Ziel passed the other end of a famous Ziel to Hall forward pass combination that has been the downfall of several Washington rivals since its first attempt. Hall played quarterback for probably the weakest team that Washington ever had, the left-overs given Bradshaw in his first year here. The following year Hall played end and made good, being elected captain to lead this year's squad and lightest end in the Pacific coast conference.

Jimmy Bryan has been the greatest all around athlete for the Huskies. Bryan won letters three each in basketball, track and football. He played guard, end, tackle and fullback during his football career.

They are billed for 10 rounds. Burris believes he will be able to match the winner with Bill Hunt for the Salem card the following Friday.

GONZAGA LOSES TO DETROIT BY 7-13

Intersectional Game in Michigan Ends Season for Spokane Team

DETROIT, Nov. 29.—The University of Detroit put a brilliant finish to a mediocre season today by defeating Gonzaga university of Spokane, Wash., 13 to 7. Detroit, playing its best game of the year, was a stone wall on defense checking flashy Houston Stockton, Gonzaga's star halfback while it showed an aerial offense that kept the ball in Gonzaga territory much of the time.

Detroit's scoring resulted from two drop kicks by Captain Welch, fullback, in the second period, a touchdown by Brett, left halfback, in the third and a point after a touchdown kicked by Thornton who subbed for Welch. Welch's kicks were made from the 20 and 22-yard lines respectively. Brett broke through the line for 25 yards to score his touchdown.

Gonzaga started long passes working in the final quarter in an attempt to cross the Detroit goal line but made small gains. The westerners marched down the field as the period opened, only to lose the ball on a fumble on Detroit's 30-yard line. A few minutes later Stockton intercepted a Detroit pass and had a clear field for his fifty-yard run for Gonzaga's only touchdown. He kicked the extra point.

Both eleven resorted constantly to passes, Curran, quarterback and Welch doing Detroit's tossing, with Stockton on the throwing end of the Gonzaga. Few line plunges were resorted to by either team.
