WAREHOUSES MUST ALL BE BONDED

State Market Agent Calls Farmers' Attention to Requirement of Law

By C. E. Spence, State Market Agent:

The warehouse law of Oregon requires every warehouse taking in grain to be bonded and to operate under a license obtained from the grain inspection department. The bond is required in order to safeguard farmers storing their grain. The license is merely a receipt that bond has been furnished and to show to the public that the warehouse is operating according to law.

A few warehouses in the state have not yet complied with the law, and from what can be learned from different sources are operating without a license. The penalty for operating without a license is $50 a day. All licenses terminate July 1, and if not renewed promptly, places the warehouse liable to the fine when ever it operates without a license.

It would not only be the act of a good citizen, but really his duty, for any one to report to the state market agent any irregularity in the warehouse business. If there is a warehouse in the state of Oregon receiving grain from farmers and operating without a license, those farmers storing grain in such warehouse have no protection for loss or theft.

These warehouses are licensed from the grain inspection department and delinquencies should be reported to the state market agent 723 Court House, Portland, as such report might be the means of saving himself or neighbor from heavy loss.
