women are eligible. Miss Jones is only a freshman in the university, but her work in short story has been sufficient to merit her election to membership in the club. She enjoys the distinction of being the first underclass woman to have been elected by Pot and Quill since its organization over five years ago. Miss Jones was graduated from Salem high school in June and has a host of friends who will be glad to hear of her triumph. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority on the university campus.

The women of the Valley View club have been meeting often during these past few weeks preparing for the bazaar to be held Saturday evening in the Popcorn school house the proceeds of which will go into the school fund, used for necessary extras which the budget does not allow. Beside the numerous booths of fancy work and home-made Christmas candies, three old-fashioned hand-sewn quilts will be sold. One of the quilts will be raffled off during the evening.

The Valley View club will meet for the next social afternoon with Mrs. Will Schwartz on January 3.

In the presence of a number of friends and relatives, Miss Ruth E. Needham and James C. Spidell were married in the pastor's study at the First Baptist church, in Portland by Dr. Thomas J. Wilbers. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Needham, and is well known in Salem where she has worked for a number of years in the employment of the telephone company.

The young couple were without attendants during the ceremony. The bride wore a dark travelling gown with a small hat to match, and carried on her arm a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Spidell will make their home in Portland where Mr. Spidell is working in connection with the Ford company.

Mrs. Carrie Fitzpatrick, who underwent a major operation at the Salem hospital Tuesday, is reported to be recovering very satisfactorily.

A tiny Christmas tree, glittering in tinsel and mica snow, centered the table over which Mrs. R. M. Hofer presided as a charming hostess Tuesday afternoon for the members of the Tuesday afternoon bridge club, at a 1 o'clock luncheon. In the warm glow of the red candles the guests found their places marked by clever little card favors carrying out the spirit of the holiday season. Around the table were seated Mrs. Frederic Lamport and Mrs. Fritz Slade as special guests, with the following members of the club: Mrs. Keith Powell, Mrs. Arthur Rahn, Mrs. Frank Spears, Mrs. Curtiss Cross, Mrs. Harry Hawkins, Mrs. T. S. Roberts, Mrs. Conwell Dyer, Mrs. Prince Byrd, Mrs. Hugh McCannon and Mrs. R. M. Hofer. The other members of the club, Mrs. Ercel Kay and Mrs. Dan Fry, Jr. were unable to enjoy the afternoon with the other members.

After the pleasant luncheon hour the guests proceeded to the living room where three tables were made ready for the afternoon of cards. Mrs. Hawkins took the high score, with Mrs. Lamport following a close second. The club will not meet again until the new year.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hartley will entertain the Cherry City club with a dinner at their home Friday evening.

The Salem War Mothers enjoyed an unusually interesting meeting yesterday afternoon when they met in the chamber of commerce auditorium to hear the reports from the two mothers from the chapter, Mrs. R. J. Hendricks and Mrs. Mark Skiff, who visited the national convention in Kansas City during the first of October. After the business and program was dispensed with, the mothers met informally for a social cup of tea and chatting.

The business part of the meeting consisted mainly in making plans for the memorial and also in outlining the work to be done for the ex-soldiers to give them a bit of Christmas cheer. It was decided to especially remember the sick soldiers and shut ins, as well as those who are in the state institutions.

Over fifty women of the WFMS of the First Methodist church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. L. Utter for the monthly missionary meeting and tea. An unusually interesting lesson was read by Mrs. M. B. Paroungian in which were presented and discussed the militarism, reaction and the creative forces in Japan. Devotionals were read by Mrs. W. D. Smith, and Mrs. C. E. Powell, the president of the society, presented the work which the national society has outlined for Japanese relief, and plans were made for the part the local auxiliary will take in the work. As a part of their program, the WFMS has called a mass prayer meeting for women to be held at the Kimball college Sunday afternoon at the hour of three thirty, in the interest of the rebuilding of the Methodist institutions in Japan.

Over thirty dollars were given in the Christmas offering, which goes to help purchase the ambulance to be used by Dr. Ferris in her work as a medical missionary in India. Miss Gladys McIntyre, accompanied by Miss LaRaut at the piano, sang very beautifully "Oh, Loving Father."

After the missionary meeting a tea hour was enjoyed by the women. A color effect of lavender and pink was carried out on the tea table with a centerpiece of violets and pink carnations in a princess basket, the handle of which was tied with a large fluffy maline bow of lavender. Mrs. Kay L. Farmer and Mrs. E. C. Richards poured during the social hour.

Assisting the hostess for the afternoon were: Mrs. H. R. White, Mrs. Ray L. Smith, Mrs. B. B. Sisson, Mrs. C. Hawley.

The Sons of Veterans met at the armory Tuesday evening for the annual election of officers. Glen L. Adams was chosen for commander for the year, and H. R. McWhorter as senior guard, with Martin Nelson as junior guard, and John Robins, secretary treasurer.

Decidedly unique was the Christmas party of Tuesday evening when Professor and Mrs. T. S. Roberts, assisted by Mrs. Richard Barton, Mrs. J. E. Purdy and Mrs. Ronald Glover, were hosts for over sixty members of the Yonarc Sundry school class of the First Methodist church. In the studio room where the fire in the large fireplace cast a cheerful glow, the evening was passed merrily at a number of clever stunts arranged by the hosts. As the guests were ushered into the room they were given red and green cards whereon was listed the evening's program of six stunts. During the course of the fun partners were changed for each number which added to the liveliness and interest of the party.

For one of the numbers Mrs. Lola Cook Bellinger told a story, "The Great Walked Country," from the collection of Christmas stories, "Why the Chimes Rang" by Aldon. The climax of the evening came when the lights went off and from somewhere in the distant part of the room came the voices of a mixed quartet singing very softly the Christmas song, "Holy Night, Silent Night." The doors of the piano room were thrown open revealing a lighted Christmas tree with a jolly old Santa Claus. On the tree were presents for each of the guests, in the form of conical toys, which were responsible for much merriment while Santa Claus presented them. After the gifts were used they were all put into the Christmas basket which the class makes up each year where they will go to help brighten the lives of some children at Christmas time.

In the cheer of the tree the guests gathered round to sing many of the old familiar Christmas carols. Refreshments were served in buffet style, and the motif of the season was further carried out in the cake which was served like small gifts wrapped in holly papers. After visiting the coffee urn, presided over by Mrs. Richard Barton, the guests passed by the Christmas tree where Santa served each one to a candle from the tree which proved to be a disguised after dinner candy.

At a late hour the party adjourned, with each participant declaring it the very best and very joyous of the class parties held during the past year.
