THE CONQUEROR

There is a joy in the heart of a man
When he conquers the soulless earth,
As he reads the rocks that are ages old
He exults with a primal mirth.
He sinks his shafts and tunnels his way
Through earth that is aeons old
Where never a movement nor change had been
Since the cosmic mass grew cold.
A white-hot anger sears his soul
When the elements cheat his toll
Till his iron will is tempered to steel
And he conquers the stubborn soil.
For the rugged earth has been a foe
That has made of man, a man,
And mind and will have been conquerors
Since ever the fight began.
—Clara Virginia Barton,
Salem, Ore.
From "The Lariat," January, 1924

That the members of the American Association of University Women of Salem shall take up a definite study of the many educational problems that are being faced in the modern system was decided at the regular monthly meeting at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday which was attended by over 25 of the members of the organization. The president, Dean Frances E. Richards, was authorized to appoint an educational committee of seven members whose duty it shall be to prepare and introduce such questions for discussion in open forum as the question of free text books in the schools; the reorganization of the school curriculum; the establishment of kindergartens in Salem; the need of educational motion pictures in our schools and any other of the many questions bearing on that subject that may come up. The members to serve on this committee have not as yet been named.

It shall also be the duty of the committee to arrange for three public lectures by prominent educators at intervals during the coming months. These lectures are to be given free to the public, and will be of an educational nature.
During the program hour Mrs. Harwood Hall of Chemawa gave a most interesting and instructive paper telling of the work the government is doing in the Indian school at Chemawa. The Chemawa girls octette, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Turney sang a group of songs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bishop of Portland and Mr. Chauncey Bishop of Pendleton will spend the day as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bishop.

Enroute from their home in Klamath Falls to Portland, Mr. and Mrs. J. Byron Noud are stopping over for two days in Salem as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Jaskoski.

Forty two members of the Miller's mercantile organization met at the Hotel Marion Friday evening to enjoy the annual banquet. A clever feature of the evening was the burlesque style show put on by the women of the apparel department, and the remainder of the evening was full of stunts and fun evoked by the mirthmakers. During the course of the banquet speeches were made by members of the staff reviewing the business of the past year and forecasting for the business conditions of the present 1924. An interesting feature was brought to light by the announcement that 90 per cent of those present at the banquet, Friday night, attended that of a year ago.

Covers were laid for:
Mrs. H. H. Harris, A. S. Campbell, Fanny Nieswander, Katherine Balah, Mary K. Miles, E. L. Baker, Mrs. L. M. Goode, Muriel Clark, Minnie Miller, Vesta Kreutz, Mrs. A. Wilcox, Lillian Marshall, Lilly Chambers, Anna

Kiggins, Kathryn Carthew, Iona M. Wells, Leona Brown, Marjorie Blake, Ora McKenzie, Leta Boyes, Frank De Witt, Gertrude Lindon, Ammanda Schwabauer, Emma Mizner, Lucy Mills, Thelma Seime S. E. Keith, Prudence Brunk, Mollie Pearmine, Florence Walsh, Mrs. C. C. Van Slyke, A. A. Graber, Marie Jorgenson, H. B. Simpson, J. M. Larsen, Lena Brunger, Beatrice Sunderstrom, Stella Bridges, Byron Luealleen, George Richmond, C. J. Kurth, B. E. Sisson.

Maxine Glover is spending the week-end in Portland as the guest of Constance Fox. Both Maxine and her hostess were included among the guests at a smart dancing party last evening given by one of the members of the younger set of Portland.

Governor Walter M. Pierce and staff recently accepted an invitation to see "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which is playing at the Rivoli theater in Portland and the governor with his party will occupy a special section in the theater for the 8:30 performance tomorrow evening.

The invitation was presented to the governor on behalf of Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film corporation, makers of the big production, and Gus A. Metzger, managing director of the Rivoli theater.

This is reported to be the first time in the history of the state that the chief executive will have attended a showing of a motion picture production.

Miss Helen Roberts will motor to Portland tomorrow with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts. Tuesday morning she will re-enter St. Helen's hall to resume her studies for the remainder of the school year. Miss Helen has been spending the Christmas holidays at the home of her parents here.

Celebrating the occasion of her 16th birthday, Pearl Kapphahn invited 32 of her young friends to the home of her parents, Mr. and

Mrs. E. L. Kapphahn, on Court street Thursday evening for an attractive little dancing party. Holiday greenery and colors prettily decorated the rooms for the evening of merriment, which was terminated by a dainty birthday luncheon served by Mrs. Kapphahn, with the assistance of Mrs. Clyde Johnson.

Guests for the evening were: Maxine Glover, Faye Woltz, Rosalie Jones, Josephine Jaskoski, Maxine Renfro, Helen and Lois Gorse-lie, Dorothy Swegie, Gladys Murphy, Violet Dusenberry, Dorothy Bell, Virginia Donnell, Ila Campbell, Pauline Johnson, Harold Olinger, John George, Howard Kirk, John Schel, Albert Walker, Lyle Shepard, Paul Phillips, Nickols Brinkley, Lawrence Simpson, Jack Spong, Frank Taylor, Kenneth Seeley, Lee Ross, Craighton Jones and Willard Kapphahn.

Preceding the usual evening service at the First Congregational church this evening there will be a special musical service of the old favorite hymns and songs which will be illustrated with the stereopticon while being sung by the choir and audience. Preceding the sermon by Dr. Kantner the musical service will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Dorothy Von Bert, a student at the University of Oregon, spent the week as the guest at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Hickman.

For the regular monthly meeting of the women of the WFMS of the First Methodist church will be the guests of Mrs. Harriet Durkheimer at the Alpha Phi Alpha sorority house, 1100 Oak street, Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 9. An interesting program of music will be given by the members of the Alpha Phi Alpha sorority, and Mrs. C. A. Edwards will review the chapter "Religious Resources and Problems." Mrs. George Gutekunst will read the devotional and later the hostess, assisted by the girls of the sorority, will serve refreshments.

Members of the club who were present for the evening were Mildred Gilbert, Helen Marcus, Doris Nye, Lorraine Pierce, Rowena Eyre, Dorothy Kezar, Jean Shipp, Frances Tucker, Maureen Styles, Fay Wassam, Vivian Elker, Geraldine Selig, Mary Drager, Virginia Dorcas, Charlotte Zieher and Jean Hobson.

Carol Robinson, pianist soloist with the Boston Symphony orchestra, Peoples' orchestra, Boston, and the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will appear in recital before the musical people of Salem Friday evening, Jan. 11, under the auspices of the Salem Civic Music club.

Miss Robinson is one of the interesting young musicians who dares to be individual in her concert work. She has had much experience in ensemble playing, and is intensely interested in composition, often playing pieces of her own. She is a modernist by inclination, and when requested, will play programs of modern compositions, manuscripts, and first performances of new pieces. In 1916 she was the district and national winner of piano in the contests conducted every two years by the National Federation of Musical clubs, and in the following contest she was the winner for the best art song by an American composer.

Not only does she come from a very musical American family, but she is also entirely American trained. Her mother was a professional singer and pianist, and was her teacher until, while still quite young, she began to study with Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler.

Mr. Herman Devries, in the Chicago American, says of Miss Robinson: "she has remarkably clean and effective technique, a magnificent left hand,—a tone that lends itself with utter readiness to her will and mood, interpretative imagination, intelligence and authority."

From her concert in Eugene on January 9, Miss Robinson will come to Salem to be the guest of Elma Weller, a pianist here. Miss Robinson and Miss Weller have been friends for the past nine years, and in 1916, just after receiving the prize offered by the national federation, she visited Miss Weller for two weeks at her home here. This is the first time the two friends have met since that time.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts will motor to Portland tomorrow with Helen, who will re-enter St. Helen's hall, where she has been attending school during the winter. Miss Helen has been spending her vacation in Salem at the home of her parents.

A large number of Salem folk are planning on motoring to Portland for the wonderful diversions in which Anna Pavlova will be seen when the Russian dancer and her ballet russe come to the Auditorium in Portland for the three performances on Thursday and Friday of this week.

vikoff, her premier danseuse, and a complete corps de ballet, is another beautiful selection down for presentation, while the "Giovette Pavlova," which has brought the star a goodly measure of her world-fame, will be given during her engagement in Portland. The "Giovette Pavlova" is set to music by Linne, and is danced in company with another of Pavlova's leading artists, M. Vagninski. There will be seven diversions upon each of the three programs by the Ballet Russe, with but one repetition, "The Death of a Swan," which will be given Thursday evening and at the Friday matinee. The engagement will close with the Friday evening performance.

Among the people who will motor to Portland from Salem will be Mrs. Ralph White, Luella Patton, Elizabeth Brown, Josephine Bross, Valerie Briggs, Marie Briggs, Fay Wassam and Pauline Marbach.

After spending the Christmas holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Miss Dorothy Livesley departed for Palo Alto yesterday morning where she is registered in the Castilleja school for girls. Miss De Beck, a sister of Mrs. Livesley, who has been visiting her mother in Vancouver, B. C., joined Dorothy here, and the two made the trip as far south as San Francisco together.

Dr. and Mrs. Kantner entertained the members of the choir of the First Congregational church at their home Friday evening after the usual weekly rehearsal with an evening of music and conversation. A gorgeous scarlet cymalmen centered the table where later in the evening the guests were seated to enjoy an oyster supper. Mr. William F. McKibbin and Mr. Harriek J. Griffith were additional guests with the members of the choir, Mrs. H. H. Harms soprano, Mrs. John J. Roberts contralto, Mr. C. I. Munston tenor, and Mr. Albert Gille basso.

Lena Belle Tartar will feature a series of studio recitals throughout the remainder of the year by the members of her vocal class. The first of these programs will be Tuesday, Jan. 15, and the following students will sing: Helen Marcus, Mary McCrone, Ruth Tucker, Gene Parmentier, Myra Gleeson and Mrs. Carl Hartley.

Pink was effectively carried out as the color scheme for the prettily appointed table over which Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Marsters presided as hosts for a 6 o'clock dinner Friday evening. A begonia of a dainty shade made a lovely centerpiece, with pink candles burning in crystal holders on either side. Around the table were seated Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Marsters and their daughters, Vivian and Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Marsters and children, Sylvia, Byrl, Waldo and Collas.

The Merry-Go-Round club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fleming Tuesday evening. Because of the severeness of the weather the meeting was postponed from Tuesday evening of last week.

For the installation of officers for the year the members of the Brush College grange will meet at the school house Friday evening, Jan. 11. It is expected that Mr. Palmeter of Hood River, the state grange master, will be the installing officer of the evening. The newly elected officers of the Brush College grange are: Mr. A. E. Utley, master; Mr. L. A. Grote, overseer; Mr. Glenn Adams, secretary; Mr. C. C. Chaffee, treasurer; Mr. Ralph Allen, steward; Mr. Roy Barker, assistant steward; Mrs. Charles McCarter, lecturer; Mr. U. G. Lehman, chaplain; Mrs. Carl Harritt, lady assistant steward; Mrs. C. C. Chaffee, Ceres; Mrs. R. N. Allen, Flora; Mrs. Roy Barker, Pomona; Mrs. W. F. McCall, organist, and Mrs. A. E. Utley, chorister.

In keeping with the tradition of the grange, the men are busy preparing the large installation dinner with which they entertain the women of the order.

Mrs. S. W. Thompson and Miss Lou Thompson are planning to return during the week from their visit to Vancouver, B. C., where they spent the Christmas holidays as the guests of Mrs. William Klitz, Jr. The Thompsons are spending the week-end in Seattle before returning here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Fry, Jr., are leaving for New York today where they expect to remain for the next six weeks or more. They will go east by way of Milwaukee and will return by the southern route, stopping for visits with relatives and friends in New Orleans and other cities in southern California.

Salem music folk may have the privilege of hearing Renee Chemet, the French violinist, if plans being considered by the Civic Music club are completed. This violinist is ranked as "second only to Kreisler" by leading critics, and all acclaim her as the greatest woman violinist of the day. During the past month she appeared in two New York recitals.

Renee Chemet will be in the northwest during February, and efforts will be made by the leaders in the Civic Music club movement to secure her for the third visiting artist of their course.

The home of Miss Vivian Elker was the scene of a pretty party Friday evening when the maids of the Cecilia Music club of the Salem high school entertained a number of guests with a charming informal evening of dancing. Christmas greens and decorations were used in the rooms of the Elker home to serve as an appropriate background for the merry-makers. The guests included Max Davidson, Chandler Coffey, Edwin Goodenough, Benoit McCroskey, Dale Austrian, Clarke Jackson, Verne Matthis, Jack Minto, Weldon Leisy, Vernon Perry, Daryl Myers, Eugene Young, Gerald Merro and Glenn Daugherty.

A feature of the Epiphany party which will be held in St. Paul's parish house tomorrow evening will be the Epiphany cake with the surprise ingredients, the person receiving the ring in his or her piece of cake will be the host for the party of next year. Reports from all the societies of the parish will be presented and the new officials for 1924 will be elected. After the 6:30 dinner the remainder of the evening will be given over to a social time. This is the first Epiphany party the parish has enjoyed, but from this year on it is planned to make it an annual event on the church calendar.

After the holiday vacation the classes of Mrs. Ralph White's dancing academy have begun the work of the new year in earnest, with all efforts being directed toward the annual spring recital to be given some time during the month of May. The "Cinderella" ballet has been chosen as the chief diversionment of the affair, which will be presented by the members of both the juvenile and senior departments.

Old Father Time will turn back the hands of the clock for the members of the Yomarcos Sunday school class of the First Methodist church Tuesday evening when they meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Minier, 1745 Saginaw street, for a real "kids' party. Much fun is in store for the evening, and it is hoped that the entire class will be present to enjoy his full share.

Word comes from Miss Nell Thielson and Miss Beatrice Walton saying that they expect to remain in San Francisco until after the event of the Quetz Arts ball which will take place at the Fairmount hotel in Oakland January 18. The ball is a fancy dress affair and is considered a large social event among the society folk of San Francisco, Berkeley and Oakland. While Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clew (Formerly Genevieve Hailey) are living at the Fairmount hotel Miss Thielson and Miss Walton are making the Clew home in San Francisco their headquarters.

Miss Thielson states that during the past two weeks they have met a number of Salem people who were either visiting in the city or passing through on their way south. On Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Barsch (nee Catherine Carson) of Oakland, entertained with a dinner party, inviting as guests Mrs. W. P. Lord, Miss Elizabeth Lord, Miss Thielson and Miss Walton.

Of much social interest is the annual Cherrian banquet of Tuesday evening at 6:30 at the Hotel Marion, when the members of the organizations with their lady guests will appear in uniform for the annual dinner. Informal dress evening. Through King Bing Hamilton, letters were sent out to those who assisted in the Cherrian's Music Box Revue, inviting them to attend the functions of the evening. After the banquet the members with their guests will adjourn to the armory where they will celebrate the annual inaugural ball.

EVALINA SHOPPING GOES

YOU recall the old Greek myth of Juno, the god who faced two ways? "How appropriately was this month of January named for that god!" was the thought that occurred to me as I shopped through the ready to wear department at MILLER'S. The speeding way of old things—the greeting of the new; winter apparel in the background—the advancing styles of Spring. The very newest things in gowns are the straight line models in soft satins, with only a few frills or a bit of bright color for trim. The new spring coats are deliciously soft and woolsey, and those chic little satin chapeaux with the colored scarfs that run on down and take a twist around the neck, are simply irresistible!

The little black hat is very much in vogue again today. It is often of plush, the brim thrusting out at strange angles, and its trimming is usually silver faulle ribbon.

Lingerie of mauve and black silk crepe forms a striking costume note. This type of undergarments is trimmed with many rows of tiny silk violets in black and heliotrope.

"HATS! HATS!" cried the Merry Hatter.
"Some in brown; some in blue. Some in velvets, lace-trimmed, too."

M. BUFFE MORRISON, at the FRENCH SHOP, has caught the spirit of the erier, and is offering some amazing concessions on all millinery in the shop. Just think of it! The most exclusive models, up to 15, are being offered for only $5! Are you going to be among the "one a minute" variety who let such things pass?

THE COMMERCIAL BOOK STORE presents Zane Gray to Salem folk through his very newest novel, "The Call of the Canyon." And it is every bit as good as all his others—if anything, better. How the hero and his fiancée find in the lure of the mountains and canyons of Arizona a strange test of their love makes a tale which you will follow breathlessly, with keen satisfaction from the very start to the dramatic close.

Carrying out the Chinese motif, one evening gown shown today decorates itself with flat little triangular shaped bells such as might hang on a pagoda. Beautifully enameled, they form the shoulder straps and a braid-like length down the front, tinkling constantly.

Among the latest novel coiffure ornaments is one of distinctly Japanese origin. It is a wide, straight comb of amber carved to represent flowers and leaves and it is worn straight across the top of the head.

Yellow of the lovely buttercup shade is combined with silver in a sumptuous brocade now used for lingerie. The brocade is in panels or ruffles, the rest of the garment being in clear yellow georgette.

THAT same stinging wind and the chill of snow that makes the eyes snap and the cheeks glow leaves the skin dry and harsh and chapped. But if carefully cared for with the proper creams the tenderest of skins can withstand the severest of weather without injury. MRS. IRENE SCOTT at the MARINELLO BEAUTY SHOP carries a line of seven different kinds of Marinello creams—a kind for every skin, and for every season of the year.

Little golden tassels, made of heavy silk cord, are sewn all over some of the newer evening cloaks, inside and out.
