SOCIETY

AFTER spending the Christmas holidays in Salem visiting with relatives and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hofer departed for their home in San Francisco yesterday accompanied by Col. and Mrs. E. Hofer. Despite the unfavorable weather they are making the trip by motor. Colonel and Mrs. Hofer expect to be gone for about a month or six weeks, and according to their present plans will spend much of the time in the southern part of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hofer have many friends in Salem, and their visits are always the inspiration for a number of informal social events. Before their departure Sunday evening Colonel and Mrs. E. Hofer invited a number of guests to their home to enjoy an informal Sunday supper and an evening of visiting before the departure.

For the pleasure of the visitors, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burghardt, Jr., entertained with an unusually attractive dinner party at their home Saturday evening. French blue and brass predominated in the appointments of the dining room, where blue candles in brass candelabra afforded the only light for the dinner hour. A heart of old blue, outlined with the dainty smilax, centered the entire length of the long bare oak table, where on was placed a brass bowl of butterfly roses. Lace doilies of blue and tall candles in brass holders completed the artistic effect, with smilax entwined in the overhanging chandelier. Covers were laid for the guests of honor, with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thielson, Mr. and Mrs. William Walton and Mr. and Mrs. Burghardt.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. W. H. Lytle invited a number of intimate friends to spend the tea hour informally with Mrs. Hofer. The time was pleasantly passed in small groups before the cheerful warmth of the open fire chatting and visiting. With the assistance of Mrs. Fritz Slade and Mrs. O. C. Locke, the hostess, served a dainty lunch. Among the matrons who called were Mrs. Laurence Hofer, Mrs. W. H. Burghardt, Mrs. Fred Thielson, Mrs. William Walton, Mrs. F. G. Andrae, Mrs. James Linn, Mrs. John Carson, Mrs. Arthur Rahn, Mrs. Harry Hawkins, Mrs. Curtis Cross, Mrs. T. A. Lively, Mrs. Ward Irvine, Mrs. J. J. Roberts, Mrs. Max Hofer, Miss Mabel Robertson and Mrs. Allan Byron of Portland.

Real conversation centered the table over which Mr. and Mrs. James Linn presided as hosts at the Hotel Marion Friday evening complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hofer, with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thielson, Maj. and Mrs. F. G. Andrae, Asahel Bush, and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lively as additional guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hofer entertained with an 11-cover dinner party Wednesday evening, and the Sunday following Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cross entertained with a delightfully informal Sunday evening supper for the visitors.

Carol Robinson, concert pianist from Chicago, will be the second visiting artist to be presented by the Civic Music club of Salem. Miss Robinson will appear at the First Christian church next Friday evening. Included in her program will be a Schuman sonata, numbers by Liszt and Chopin and two groups of lovely modern compositions.

The followers of music in Salem are keenly anticipating the opportunity of hearing this splendid artist who has established an enjoyable reputation both as a performer and a composer.

It is the aim of the Civic Music club to present programs of artistic excellence. The first artist to come to Salem through the efforts of this club was Grace Wood Jess who charmed all her hearers with her superior interpretations of folk song.

For the pleasure of Mrs. E. A. Colony, who was supposed to have arrived in Salem Sunday to be the guest for a short time in the Hamilton home, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hamilton invited a number of Mrs. Colony's friends, Sunday evening, to make up a bob-sled party. Although the guest of honor did not arrive, the evening was spent as planned, and after the coasting party, the guests returned to the hosts' home where they enjoyed a hot chicken mulligan supper. Among those who partook of the bit of winter sports were Dr. and Mrs. Newmyer, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Zimmerman, Miss Edna Simonton and the hosts.

Mrs. Elmer T. Ludden and small son, Bennett, of Portland were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cross.

Mrs. D. C. Roberts returned Sunday evening after spending the past fortnight visiting with relatives in Astoria.

The Salem War Mothers will meet at 2:30 this afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms for their regular monthly meeting which was postponed because of the weather, from Tuesday of last week. Mrs. J. A. Carson, president of the Salem chapter, announced that all dues must be paid at this meeting, as they will have to be sent to headquarters before the close of the month. It was decided at the national convention in Kansas City, that the annual dues be changed to $1.50 which will include the subscription to the national magazine. As there is much important business to come before the meeting, all members are urged to be present.

Chas. Bedford, son of W. J. Bedford of Avonlea, Sask., is the house guest of his uncle, John E. Bedford in West Salem. He reports a depth of three feet of snow when he left his home town a short time ago.

Mr. Bedford is quite favorably impressed with Oregon and Salem especially and may decide to locate here some time in the near future.

The members of the Yomarc Sunday school class of the First Methodist church will enjoy a dress-up children's party this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Minier, 1745 Saginaw street. It is hoped that all the members of the class will join in the fun that is being planned.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Reed left during the week end for San Francisco, where they will make their home. Mr. Reed will travel for the Federal Reserve bank, in connection with the auditing department, with headquarters in San Francisco. Before her departure, Mrs. Reed spent the past week at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. W. Fawc.

The Civic Music club of Salem will meet in Beatrice Shelton's studio in the Derby building this evening at 8 o'clock. Manager Shipman will be present to further confer with the members as to the third visiting artist, the student competitions and other matters of vital importance. The election of local musicians who will appear in concert here will take place at the meeting tonight. Active members are requested to attend the meeting.

Mrs. W. H. Hamilton was a charming hostess Friday evening for the members of the Schubert Octette when she entertained with an informal evening. The hours were happily spent with music, dancing and as the midn diversion, and before the guests departed the hostess served a delicious tray lunch. Miss Minnetta Magers, the director of the octette was a special guest with the other members, Miss Flora Fletcher, Miss Gladys Stevenson, Miss Ruth Bedford, Miss Hilda Amaler, Miss Ruth Reed, Miss Della Amaler, Miss Grace Fawc, Miss Bertha Vick, the accompanist and the hostess.

"For the Love of Johnny," an interesting three-act play, will be put on at the Lahish Center school house Friday evening, January 11 at 7:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher's association. The admission charges will go toward the benefit of that organization.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Ethel Banks, household drudge (heroine); Miss Emma McClaughory; Harriet Banks, Ethel's aunt and wife of Jerry; Mrs. Harry Boehm, Jerry Banks, the home-locked husband; D. R. De Gress; Dorothy Banks, daughter of Harriet and Jerry; Miss Margaret Dunn; Phil Osborne, Dorothy's sweetheart; V. C. Bishop; Roy Ryan, in quest of brother, Mr. Potts; John Turkey-legs, the In-Wayburn the "snook," Mr. Earl Jaham; Johnny, the hero, Chester Klamp; Mr. Woods, the stranger.

Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Griffith and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meredith motored to Portland yesterday to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Metchan for a large dinner party given last evening in honor of Mrs. Griffith's birthday. The guest list included a number of prominent Portland society folk.

Observing an annual custom of entertaining in honor of a group of friends whose birthdays occur between the first and the 12th of the month, Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Griffith were hosts Saturday evening for a charming dinner party at their home. With Mrs. Frank Meredith, Mrs. Homer Smith, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Frank Durbin, Mrs. W. E. Anderson and Mr. W. H. Dancy as honor guests, additional covers were placed for Mrs. W. H. Dancy, Mr. Frank Meredith, Mr. Homer Smith, Mr. F. W. Durbin, and Mr. W. E. Anderson. Saturday was the anniversary of Mrs. Griffith's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schramm and two small daughters of Corvallis were Salem visitors during the past week. Mr. Schramm is cashier of the Corvallis State bank and both he and Mrs. Schramm are former Salem residents.

With an attractive luncheon for 12 and an afternoon of cards Mrs. Paul Hendricks entertained the members of her bridge club Thursday afternoon.

For the pleasure of Mrs. T. G. Hopkins of Albany and Miss Mina Harding, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Franklin entertained with a small informal dinner Saturday evening.

Complimenting the recent return of their daughter, Louise, from Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Healy were hosts for Sunday dinner, inviting in a number of friends to enjoy the affair. Among the guests were Lillian Cornell, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Scott and daughter, Lillian, Mary Healy, Louise Healy and the hosts.

The Woman's club chorus have completed plans to give a concert Sunday evening at Chemawa, according to a recent announcement and in anticipation of the event the chorus met last evening for its first rehearsal since before the Christmas holidays.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society meets on Wednesday at 2:30 with Mrs. H. M. Durkheimer at the Alpha Phi Alpha house, corner of Twelfth and Oak streets. Mrs. George Gutekunst has charge of the devotionals and Mrs. C. A. Edwards will be the program leader. There will be special music. The hostess, assisted by the Alpha Phi Alpha girls, will serve tea. Every woman of the church is most cordially invited to attend this meeting. The January meeting was set as a time for each member of the WFM's to bring in a new member.

The Sons of Veterans' auxiliary will hold its regular business session this evening at the armory at 8 o'clock. Installation of officers will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in IOOF hall. The Daughters of Veterans and the Sons of Veterans will hold their installation at the same time.

The ladies' aid society of the WRC will meet Thursday for an all-day meeting at the armory. There will be a pot-luck dinner at noon and the women are asked to bring their own silver and dishes.

Two lectures by Miss Lella Meeklin, secretary of the American Federation of Art, with accompanying stereopticon slides will be read at the general meeting of the Salem Arts league which will take place this evening in the educational room of the city library. One lecture is concerning American art from its very earliest beginnings to the contemporary artists, and the slides will show reproductions of the artists' best work. The second is to be a lecture on American illustrators with accompanying slides showing the advance in the technique of the illustrators and the evolution of the new and employment of the different mediums. Many reproductions of the work of the best modern illustrators will be shown, and the characteristics of each will be pointed out.

The class in interior decoration will be organized at the meeting this evening under the leadership of Mrs. Monroe Gilbert. This section bids fair to have many followers, as already 16 have signed for the work. It is planned to take up the study of color for the first lessons.

The executive council of the Salem Arts league met at the Gilbert studio last evening to discuss important matters of business.

which have accumulated since the last session.

A group of about 25 skating enthusiasts appeared at the slough Sunday afternoon to test the thickness of the ice. Many of the less cautious ones went out for some distance and found it to be sufficiently strong to bear a bit of skating. With the thaw of yesterday, however, the ice is reported to be too thin for such sport.

STATESMAN READERS ARE ASKED TO VOTE

policy or internal administration of any foreign state.

The United States Will Maintain The Monroe Doctrine

In uniting its efforts with those of other States for the preservation of peace and the promotion of the common welfare, the United States does not abandon its traditional attitude concerning American independence of the Old World and does not consent to submit its long established policy concerning questions regarded by it as purely American to the recommendation or decision of other Powers.

The United States Proposes That Moral Judgment and Public Opinion Be Substituted for Force

II. The United States will assume no obligations under Article X, in its present form in the Covenant, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

The United States will assume no obligations under Article XVI, in its present form in the Covenant, or in its amended form as now proposed, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

The United States proposes that Articles X and XVI be either dropped altogether or so amended and changed as to eliminate any suggestion of a general agreement to use coercion for obtaining conformity to the pledges of the Covenant.

No Obligations Under the Versailles Treaty Except as Congress Approves

III. The United States will accept no responsibility and assume no obligation in connection with any duties imposed upon the League by the peace treaties, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action. The United States Proposes That Membership Be Opened to Any Self-governing State

IV. The United States proposes that Article I of the Covenant be construed and applied, or, if necessary, re-drafted, so that admission to the League shall be assured by any self-governing state that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the Assembly.

The Continuing Development of International Law Must Be Provided For

V. As a further condition of its participation in the work and councils of the League, the United States asks that the Assembly and Council consent—or obtain authority—to begin collaboration for the revision and development of international law, employing, for this purpose, the aid of a commission of jurists. This commission would be directed to formulate anew existing rules of the law of nations, to reconcile divergent opinions, to consider points hitherto inadequately provided for but vital to the maintenance of international justice, and in general to define the social rights and duties of States. The recommendations of the Commission would be presented from time to time, in proper form for consideration, to the Assembly as to a recommending if not a law-making body.

Among these conditions Numbers I and II have already been discussed. Number III is a logical consequence of the refusal of the United States Senate to ratify the treaty of Versailles, and of the settled policy of the United States which is characterized in the first reservation. Concerning Numbers IV and V this may be said:

Anything less than a world-conference, especially when Great Powers are excluded, must incur, in proportion to the exclusions, the suspicion of being an alliance, rather than a family of nations. The United States can render service in emphasizing this lesson, learned in the Hague Conference, and in thus helping to reconstitute the family of nations as it really is. Such a conference or assembly must obviously bear the chief responsibility for the development of new parts of the law of nations, devised to fit changed and changing conditions, to extend the sway of justice, and to help in preserving peace and security.

BRICK REPLACES OLD CHINATOWN

Wooden Structures Being Razed at High and Ferry—Stores Going Up

Demolition of Chinatown, one of Salem's historic landmarks, has begun and in the near future a one-story brick building will be located on the northwest corner of High and Ferry.

Permission to erect the building, which will cost $40,000 was given yesterday to John Hughes, manager of the late John Hughes estate, by Marten Poulsen, city recorder. The building will have six entrances on High and three on Ferry. According to specifications the building will front 150 feet on High and 150 feet on Ferry. The north and west sides of the building will run back 75 feet, leaving a court on the northwest corner.

Each of the nine stores will have its own heating plant, while the fronts will be of modern design, with full plate glass windows. The frame buildings which at present stand on the site of the new building have been there for nearly a quarter of a century. One old frame building, adjacent to the alley west on Ferry, is now in the process of being torn down. It is understood that Mr. Hughes also contemplates the building of a modern structure on the northeast corner of High, facing the new property.

Mammon Davis will build a one-story brick garage at 2430 Fairgrounds road, to cost $3500.

Building permits issued so far this month are now in excess of $60,000, which is said to be an exceptional amount for so early in the year.

Season baked beans with olive oil instead of pork or butter. The flavor is fine and the dish is more easily digested. The olive oil may also take the place of butter with mashed potatoes and make a nutritious and palatable addition to the menu.

By warming an orange or lemon before using it I get nearly twice as much juice from it.

Talks To The People of Salem on Community Building—Outlines Program of Development to Make This Most Prosperous Home and Industrial Center of The West.

Suppose Salem could be advertised to the world as the city having the greatest percentage of resident population owning an interest in its local industries.

This would draw the attention of every man looking for a location for a new industry.

An employer knows that a community where the people own their homes and in addition own a few shares of stock in a prosperous local industry, is an ideal place to operate.

A workman knows that in such a community there will be steady employment, good wages and freedom from industrial disturbances that can thrive only in a discontented community.

The people of Salem have seen the payrolls grow and business increase as new industries have come to the city, and old ones have enlarged.

Nothing would encourage industrial growth in Salem and vicinity more than for the fact to be advertised that local workmen as well as local capitalists were taking an interest in making Salem a city where every resident was saving to become a stock or bond holder in some company doing business in this territory.

This is not an advertisement to boost any particular company, but is to boost the idea that it is to the advantage of every man and woman to own not only a home, but an interest, to the extent of their ability, in some business whose payroll makes the ownership of a home possible.

A few of our local industries such as the paper mill have already made it possible for workmen and others to secure stock.

It is a well established policy of public utility companies to sell their securities to customers and employees. Typical of such companies serving Salem are the P. R. L. & P. Co. and the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Railroads such as the Southern Pacific and the Hill lines are encouraging local ownership of their securities.

The Standard Oil Co., the Union Oil Co., the Associated Oil Co. and the Shell Oil Co. which serve this city number among their stockholders tens of thousands of residents including employees in the territories where they operate.

Sound industrial organizations such as these have contributed greatly to the growth of this community.

We believe that the next ten years will see Salem a city of 40,000 population. We have just begun to grow industrially. As a bank, we feel it is our duty to call the attention of local people to the necessity and advantage of beginning to think industrially for by so doing they will bring in new business and by ownership in this business they will profit financially.

This does not mean to invest your money in every wildcat scheme proposed. Investigate thoroughly, talk the matter over with your banker and choose wisely between good and bad investments.

But start now to save $50, $100 or $500 to have on hand when the right opportunity comes which it will in the near future. If you cannot secure an interest in the business that employs you, eventually become a stockholder in some other business operating in this community. While you are saving for your start your money can be drawing interest in our savings bank department.

Let us start now to make Salem known as a city where both workmen and employers are the men who take an active interest in the success of every employing industry.
