ACCORDING to Miss Marian Wyman, secretary of the local FWCA, everybody is pleased with the work accomplished by the organization during the past year, as reviewed by the various committee chairmen at the annual meeting of the board of directors yesterday morning in the association rooms. The reports evidence that the association has had a successful year, both financially and in the various projects on the program.

Plans for the financial campaign were thoroughly discussed and it was decided to launch it some time in the near future, the date to be announced later. The written resignation of Mrs. LeRoy N. Myers from her position as chairman of the Girl Reserve committee, was accepted.

With Mrs. Harry Hawkins and Mrs. John J. Roberts as hostesses of the adjutant general, and about four years ago came to Salem at the time the office was transferred from Portland here. She is the daughter of Mrs. C. J. Healy, 555 Center street.

Mr. De Jardin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. De Jardin of Gervais and has spent most of his life in and near Salem, where he was interested as a merchant until his departure for The Dalles last month. He is at present interested in the automobile business in The Dalles, where the young couple will make their home.

Mrs. G. Ed Ross will entertain the women's society of the First Baptist church at her home Friday afternoon at 2:30. Following the business session the program will be arranged as "An Hour With the Missions," followed with a social hour.

A lecture on lace and lace-making by Mrs. Alice H. Dodd will be a decided attraction of the next monthly meeting of the Salem Women's club, Saturday. Among the numerous artistic subjects upon which Mrs. Dodd is considered an authority is the romantic history of the art of weaving the old laces. She has devoted many years to the study of this subject, and to illustrate her talk will display laces of all descriptions ranging from the antiques to the foreign and domestic patterns of our own day.

A number of women who possess pieces of rare old laces are contributing to the exhibition, among them being Mrs. C. P. Blakop, Mrs. Seymour Jones, Mrs. Geo. Fearns, Mrs. Frances Richards, Mrs. W. F. Ford, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mrs. A. N. Bush and others.

From her own choice collection Mrs. Dodd will show a large variety of black laces of especial old and rare design.

Before the lecture there will be the usual session for business, and the latter part of the afternoon will be given over to the social hour over the tea cups. Mrs. Phil Newmyer will sing during the program. Hostesses who will preside at the tea hour are Mrs. Frank Myers, Mrs. G. B. Webb, Mrs. George White, Mrs. A. F. Marcus, Mrs. E. T. Basselle, Mrs. William B. Mott, Mrs. O. E. Price, Mrs. G. R. Bonnell and Mrs. Alma H. Kennedy.

Because of the inclemency of the prevailing weather conditions the meeting of the Thursday Afternoon club has been postponed to a later time, the date of which meeting is to be announced later in the week. Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, Mrs. Charles Park and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney will be hostesses.

After an absence of over ten years, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Park of Wilder, Idaho, old-time residents of the Liberty district near Salem, are visiting here for the next several weeks as guests of their daughters, Mrs. Clifford Elkin and Mrs. Al Godfrey.

Among the number of Salem folk who will be attracted to Portland by the appearance of Pavlova and her ballet russe are Mrs. G. A. White and daughter. They will leave for Portland Friday and will be joined there by another daughter, Henrietta, who is registered at St. Helen's Hall.

Mrs. Oscar Zeller is entertaining the matrons of the Adolynk Bridge club at her home this afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney are entertaining as their home guests during the week Mrs. Edwin Noreen of Shedd, Or.

In substitution for the lecture concerning dietetics, which was to have been given for the women of the Eklots club at the meeting yesterday afternoon, the members listened to a radio lecture to homemakers, by Miss Jeanette Cramer, home economist editor on a Portland paper. Two new members, Mrs. W. B. Chances, and Mrs. Claude Ellison, met with the club for the first time to take an active part in the business.

During the afternoon the fingers were busy sewing on pieces for the Salem hospital, and before the meeting adjourned each one was presented with a red rose.

In observance of red letter day, the club decided to send $5 to the scholarship loan fund.

Instead of the usual program and business session plans are under way for a visit, en corps, to the Indian school at Chemawa. The next meeting date is scheduled for the second Tuesday of February, and the plans are as yet indefinite.

With three tables of bridge, Mrs. C. J. Healy entertained the members of the U. D. club, with Mrs. James E. Heenan and Mrs. Quinn as additional guests, yesterday afternoon. The triumph of the card scores was carried away by Mrs. T. A. Barr. For the next meeting of the club, which will be Thursday, Jan. 17, Mrs. J. H. Nathan will be hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stensloff, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Chambers and Miss Dorothea Stensloff will motor to Portland tomorrow to see Pavlova at the municipal auditorium.

For the first meeting since before the holidays Mrs. James Imah was hostess for the regular twice a month afternoon bridge for the Community Bridge club. Three tables were employed for the games, the high winnings of which went to Mrs. N. C. Peterson. As a specialty invited guest Miss Sarah Patrick joined in the bridge game. On January 21 the members of the club will meet again at the invitation of Mrs. M. C. Petters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elgin announce the marriage of their daughter Florence, to Wilford Doherty of Tacoma, Wash. Although the marriage took place August 22, at the Church of England, Episcopalian, in Tacoma, it was not made known until just recently because of a contract which Mrs. Elgin entered with the Moss Syndicate company under her maiden name.

Until the expiration of her contract at the first of the year, Mrs. Doherty was connected with the syndicate company in the advertising department. She is a former Salem girl, and is well known here, where she attended grammar school and was graduated from high school with the class of 1921. Mr. Doherty is a former University of Washington student, and is at the present time manager of the Tacoma Fantages theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Doherty are living at the Avalon apartments in Tacoma until later in the season when they plan to go either to New York or California for a wedding trip.
