SALEM DEFEATS NEWBERG TEAM

Visitors Come Dangerously Near Upsetting Victory in Last Quarter

Newberg almost overcame the lead of Salem high school in the last few minutes of the return basketball contest last night but the whistle saved the locals who edged out a victory by the narrow margin of 18 to 17. Salem led for three quarters, annexing 13 points to the visitors' 6 in the first half and starting the final canto with a 6 to 11 score. Two neat field goals, from an angle, tossed into the hoop by Hanville, Newberg captain, brought the visitors into the danger zone. Patterson missed three consecutive free throws, and a few seconds before the final whistle, Babcock, forward, tossed in another one from the center of the floor. Drager, Salem center, dropped a neat one from a long try with one minute to go.

It took both teams three quarters to get down to business, and when they opened up in earnest exhibited some pretty basketball.

Plenty of Money to Fight Oregon Predatory Animals

Plenty of funds are at hand for the war against predatory animals in this state during 1924, says a statement made by Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian and secretary of the state livestock sanitary board. This board administers the fund.

The legislature of 1923 appropriated $40,000 for the two years, 1923-24, the money to be allotted to the counties as matched by them, and no county to receive any of the fund otherwise.

Of the $40,000 the board allotted $17,000 for 1923, and of this amount $13,633 was matched, leaving $3,367 unmatched for the year.

Of a total appropriation of $27,266 for the year, which is the $13,633 appropriated by the counties and the equal amount available from the state under the match agreement, $18,055.96 was expended, leaving a balance unexpended of $9,210.04. To this is added $3,997.57 in receipts from fur sales, making the unexpended balance for the year $13,207.51.

TILLAMOOK WINS COVETED TROPHY

Oregonian Award Goes to Unit Making Best Showing for Drill

Company K, 162nd infantry, Tillamook, was yesterday awarded the Oregonian trophy for the largest average attendance at armory drills during the year 1923, according to announcement of Brig. Gen. George A. White, adjutant general of the state. The award was made by a board of officers at national guard headquarters following a check of all the records of attendance at drill of the 33 organizations of the state.

Tillamook won the Oregonian trophy in a nip and tuck contest with a Portland company, Company G, 168th infantry. The average attendance at drill of the winning company was 66.2 per cent. The winning company is commanded by Capt. Jacob W. Shearer of Tillamook and Company G by Capt. Fred Mahnke of Portland.

The Oregonian trophy, a large silver cup, was given by the Oregonian Publishing company to the national guard as a stimulus to drill attendance, the condition being that the trophy shall be held each year by the company turning out the largest percentage of men for each drill.

The Tillamook company will hold the cup until the end of the present year and then must surrender it unless it succeeds in having the highest drill attendance during the current year.

Battery D, 249th artillery, of Newport and Toledo, took third place, and the machine gun company of the 166th infantry at Cottage Grove fourth place, the hospital company at Lebanon fifth place, and the howitzer company 166th infantry at Woodburn, sixth place. The machine gun company at Corvallis and the infantry company at Dallas were the two low companies in drill attendance in the state.

CHANGE ASKED IN HIGHWAY RULING

Scotts Mills and Mt. Angel Men Want Load Minimum Deferred

A delegation of Scotts Mills and Mt. Angel business men have asked the county court to make exception to the blanket ruling which reduces the load which may be carried on unpaved roads until April 1.

Those making the request offered to put up the money to keep the road in order, and the case will be up for hearing Monday by the court. It was said by members of the court that the request would probably be granted since those interested were willing to pay for any damage which might be done, putting up the money for this to the court.

The Butte Creek Lumber company is the interested party in the request. It is claimed by those who appeared before the court that the monthly payroll of the company is $100,000, and that it will have to shut down for a time if the request is not granted.

Residents of Mt. Angel and Scotts Mills are employed at the mill. The road in question is the macadam road between Pine Tree corner and Scotts Mills, and cost $6,500 to build.
