Tribute is Paid To Hunchback of Notre Dame Film

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame is one of the best of the massive photoplays of recent release."
 That is one of the tributes which Florence Lawrence, writing for the Examiner of Los Angeles, the home of the big movie productions, has to pay to the picturization of Victor Hugo's famous novel, which opens its five-day showing in Salem at the Grand theater this evening. Continuing, she says:
 "The film relates the outstanding features of the Victor Hugo classic with well chosen sequences. It balances its love story—its romance and its adventures and portrays the intensive drama of Quasimodo the Hunchback, and the larger and more turbulent uprisings of a discontented people with striking contrast.

 "Lon Chaney, in the name role, is naturally, the outstanding figure, and in many scenes he makes this half buffon, half hero, a figure of tremendous art. There are occasional moments when the distorted face and misshapen body seem too flagrantly imposed on the vision. But in other scenes the actor handles most difficult situations with a restraint which is admirable, and in the latter reels of the film his interpretation of the role is deserving of high praise. Half blind, with what little mind he had as out of shape as the body which carried it, the poor creature is scarcely to be considered as human, yet, in point of self-sacrifice, devotion and a gallant idealism, the hideous figure is forgotten and the suffering which loyalty demanded becomes the outstanding characteristic of the actor's work.
 "Patsy Ruth Miller, the little gypsy girl, and Norman Kerry, the young officer of the guard and favorite of King Louis XI, lend grace and charm to a film in which there is of necessity much that is sordid. Raymond Hatton, Gladys Brockwell, Winifred Bryson, Nigel de Brulier as Dom Claude, and Brandon Hurst as Jehan, are all excellent, and Ernest Torrence as Clopin King of the Beggars has a role of commanding import in many scenes.
 "Director Wallace Worsley has achieved some unusual effects with his production, and in his handling of large masses of figures, and great architectural effects had really set a new pace for the silversheet.

ADDITIONAL ARMY SUPPLIES SOLD

War Materials Deal Completed with Mexican Embassy by Government

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Another sale of surplus army war materials to the Obregon government has been completed between the Mexican embassy here and officials of the Washington government.
 The transaction involves the delivery to representatives of the Mexican federal government at El Paso, Texas, of 5,000 Enfield rifles and 2,500 army Colt .45-caliber automatic pistols.
 A quantity of pistol ammunition also is included in the sale.
 This brings the surplus war materials sold by the United States to Mexico to a total of 10,000 Enfield rifles, eight airplanes, five million rounds of rifle ammunition and 2,500 revolvers or pistols.
 The Mexican government will pay slightly less than $700,000 for the entire lot.

DEATH OF LENINE BRINGS NO CHANGE

Washington Officials Feel That No Radical Change in Conduct Expected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Whatever its ultimate effect on the tangle of Russian politics, close students of Russian affairs here do not expect the death of Lenin to result in any immediate radical changes in Russia or in the conduct of that country's foreign policy.
 The long illness of the man who has been at the head of the Russian revolutionary movements since its inception has served to permit of a readjustment of power, both in the official grouping of the soviet regime and in the unofficial party organization behind it which has discounted the probable loss to party and governmental councils of the leader.

 Actual control, both of the political machinery and of governmental agencies in Russia, is expected to be confirmed in the hands of a triumvirate, headed by Kameneff, vice president both of the soviet people's commissars and of this federation of soviet republics. Kameneff has been exercising in an acting capacity most of the powers of Lenin since the latter's illness virtually incapacitated him many months ago for active leadership.

OFFICIALS LINKED WITH COMMUNISTS

American - Russian Movements Joined in Testimony Submitted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The American and Russian communist movements and official parties were linked together in testimony and documents submitted by state department officials today to the senate foreign relations sub-committee investigating the question of recommending American recognition of the Russian soviet government.
 Through many documents obtained by government agents, some in radical raids, A. W. Kliefoth, assistant chief of the state department's eastern Europe division and Robert F. Kelly of its intelligence office sought to prove that the American and Russian communists operated in close cooperation and toward a common goal. The aim, according to some of the papers presented, was an "armed uprising" in this country designed to "destroy the bourgeois government."
 Cablegrams in code from Russian officers of the Third Internationale to communist leaders in the United States were presented by the state department officials. One of these, sent from Moscow, and said to order postponement of the workers' party convention, scheduled for July, 1922, was translated.

COMPROMISE BASE IS BEING SOUGHT

House Republican Leaders Continue Efforts to Reach Agreement on Tax

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—House republican leaders continued their efforts to reach a compromise basis on the surtax rates of the Mellon tax bill despite renewed indications from the White House that President Coolidge was determined to accept no modifications in this feature of the revenue measure, considered the crux of the tax reduction scheme.
 Tax revision was discussed at today's cabinet meeting and afterward it was made plain that the president stood squarely behind the Mellon plan and its fundamental principles and would agree only to amendments designed to perfect it. There were intimations that Mr. Coolidge would regard any surtax rate above 25 per cent as urged by Secretary Mellon, as a change in the fundamental principles of the Mellon bill and a basis for a veto of a tax measure.
 Notwithstanding reports, Representative Longworth, Ohio, Republican, floor leader, called conferences relative to compromise surtax rates as between the democratic and Mellon proposals. The ways and means committee, which first must determine these rates, marked time while the majority members of the committee framed a program under which the rate schedules will be considered.

LIQUOR QUESTION ENTERS INTO TRIAL

Judge Rebukes Witnesses for Their United Lapse of Memory

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—The liquor question trickled into the Greer-Dines shooting case hearing today to supply a motive for the wounding of Courtland S. Dines, Denver oil man, at the hands of Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, film actress, New Year's night.
 Two policemen from the witness stand jingled the glassware as a background for the pistol shots that suddenly ended the afternoon and evening party in Dines' apartment.
 Judge Hanby, conducting the hearing, voiced his displeasure at the character of testimony that "I do not know," or "I do not remember," was ever-recurring replies in the evidence of Edna Purviance, film actress, who was in the Dines apartment the night of the affray, Miss Normand, who also was there, and Dines himself, at whose hospital bedside a court session was held late yesterday.
