All Work and No Play Makes Jack a Dull Boy

W ALWAYS think that the younger generation is going to the demitison bow-wow, but perhaps this only argues that we are getting old ourselves. Boys and girls are very much as they always have been and always will be," says Mr. D. A. Merriman, of the American Steel & Wire Company. "It is true that many children are spoiled by overindulgent parents, but if you get back in the country you will find that boys and girls are trained to work from the cradle. "The father of the old school believes that the boy is his chattel, and whatever you can get out of him is so much profit. In consequence the boy leaves home at the first opportunity unless he has been treated as a human being. The main thing he requires is something of his own which he can sell and use the money as he sees fit. Fortunately the club system is spreading over the land and every boy now has a chance among his fellows. This is making a wonderful new generation of producers of wealth and happiness. Fortunately indeed is the boy who has a place to go fishing, because he has also learned the joys of swimming, but when it is considered that more than half of the children in America have no possible chance to learn to swim, it is high time that each community should sit up and take notice.

"It is extremely gratifying to know that there is a national movement which will enable every boy and girl to learn to swim in water, which is sanitary and safe. "There is many a lakeside community which is being driven to desperation by the pollution of its water and it is very important that the supply should be safeguarded. This is the work of the recently organized Water Safety Council of America now being launched in Chicago."

He speaks at the Woodburn Methodist church Sunday night. Portland donated $33,000 of its community chest fund for this week, he said. Boys are learning useful occupations and tractors are beginning to replace the bent stick method of ploughing. Sam Newman, formerly of OAC, is in charge of much of the agricultural work, assisted by his wife, formerly Miss Ethel Long, who is teaching domestic science to the girls. Mr. Narcross has just returned from Vancouver, B. C., where he conducted a three months' campaign.

TOURISTS TOPIC OF MR. ORMANDY

Southern Pacific General Passenger Agent Addresses Business Men

"The tourist industry is the sixth greatest industry in Oregon at present, and the trend is that it will soon surpass dairying and livestock production, which net about $22,000,000 annually," declared J. A. Ormandy, general passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, in speaking upon the tourist question and what his company is doing to attract tourists to Oregon, at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday.

"Only during the last few years has the tourist interested the general public," Mr. Ormandy continued. "The average tourist will spend more money in a three months' vacation than he will spend at home in a year. The tourist must not be regarded as a crop, but as an individual and unless he is recognized as such, efforts to interest him will result in a dismal failure."

Through dairy products bringing in $21,000,000 annually and livestock a few millions of dollars more, the tourist trade is bidding fair to surpass these in a few years and take its place near lumbering. Fruit growing netted Mr. Ormandy an additional $10,000,000, and poultry an additional $10,000,000. R. H. Sperling and wife of Albany were recent visitors in the city. L. E. Osborne, of Marion, was in the city during the week-end. Henry H. Johnson, of Silverton, was in Salem Sunday afternoon. E. E. Moore, superintendent of schools for Lane county, was in Salem yesterday conferring with State Superintendent J. A. Churchill. H. J. Eberly, deputy state forester, has gone to Marshfield on department business. Fred G. Buchtel was here yesterday from Portland. Charles R. Archerd, implement dealer, spent the week-end with his family in Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Canfield were Sunday visitors in Portland, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cravat, former Salem residents. Attorney E. M. Page left for Portland yesterday to start work as campaign manager for Senator Charles L. McNary. J. F. Steiwer, of Jefferson, was a recent visitor in Salem. Lawrence T. Goodin, of Ashland, was a guest at the Bligh hotel during the week-end. Horace W. Craft, of Roseburg, was in the city Sunday and Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hall attended a performance at the Orpheum theatre in Portland Sunday to see their son, Willard Hall, in one of the acts. Sam Weiss, a farmer living north of Hopmere, was a business caller in the city yesterday. Miss Mary Fake, now of Albany, spent the week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Fake. C. A. Bartell, of Cottage Grove, was a guest of Al Pierce, manager of the Marion hotel, at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday. Mr. Bartell is proprietor of the Bartell hotel. Out of town Legionnaires who attended the Capital post meeting last night included Joe Helgerson, Polk county district attorney and Bill Hines, of Dallas. Herbert Plank, Salem representative for an adding machine company, left Monday for a three organizations, and state departments, were in attendance as special guests of the legion. Short talks were given by a number of those present and a short musical program enjoyed.

Declaring that he believed in an adjusted compensation for ex-service men, Governor Walter M. Pierce said that this should be given with willing hands and that he would go further into the subject at a mass meeting, sponsored by the legion, at the Salem armory February 9.

"Keep yourselves in one compact body," the governor said. "Teach Americanism. Fight for purity in public as well as private American life. True Americanism should be instilled in the rising generation from end to end. Every man who has changed the trend of affairs has done so under the protection of this flag which has given him inspiration and enabled him to conquer distance and space."

Dr. W. Carlton Smith gave the address of welcome, declaring that the American legion was organized for fraternal reasons and for the purpose of keeping the ex-service men together. The legion asks no favors, he said.

Many of the visitors responded to requests for a few words. Those speaking were Sam Koser, secretary of state, who characterized the work of the American legion of today similar to that of the G. A. R. immediately after the Civil war. He urged that citizens interest themselves in governmental affairs of the state. Frank Sever, representing the state treasurer's office, spoke briefly.

Representatives of various organizations present who also spoke were Mrs. R. J. Hendricks, state war mother, who declared that to her legionnaires will always be "children" to the war mothers; King Bing Al Pierce of the Cherrians, who introduced members of his council; R. O. Snellin, president of the Rotary club; Dr. Henry E. Morris, president of the Kiwanis club; Rev. Marten Fereshtian, representing the Lions' club, who gave a stirring talk; Fred Erlison, who urged that every effort be made to "block their game," in referring to the great number of communists in this country; Col. Carl Abrams and J. C. Perry.

Musical numbers were presented by Claud Stevenson, in the Italian dialect, and Jim Smart, with his Scottish songs. Dr. Carl Wanner was the accompanist. A Johnny Jones feed was served.

Divorce Cases to Be Heard on February 13

Whether 13 is lucky or not remains to be seen but perhaps because he would hurt the feelings of Cupid, Judge Kelly set default divorce day for February 13, just one day short of St. Valentine day.

Perhaps automobiles are considered contributing causes of divorces when the automobiles in question were seized in liquor raids anyway four cases involving automobiles confiscated in moonshine raids will be tried on February 13, the same day as default divorce cases are to be heard.

Other cases set for hearing yesterday are state ex rel Haynes, against Adams and State ex rel Slaughter against Martin, February 7; Lange against Allen, February 14; Radke against Radke, and McDonald against McDonald, February 18; Montague O'Riley against Lord, February 20.
