Two Radio Classes are Organized at Association

To meet the demand for instruction in radio, two classes are being organized by the YMCA, one for men and the other for boys. The first class will be in charge of F. S. Barton, of the Salem Electric company and will meet at the YMCA Monday night at 8 o'clock. Some of the technicalities of radio, instruction and explanation of principles will be featured. The boys' class will be in charge of Eric Butler, manager of the Western Union, and will meet in a week or two. As a majority of the boys are better radio men than their fathers, this class will be somewhat of an advanced class and Mr. Butler will give instructions in receiving and sending codes. An aerial will be completed over the building this week and Mr. Barton will provide a radio set for the Monday night classes. Efforts are being made by the YMCA to have its own radio set and it is expected this will materialize in the near future. Both classes are open to the public and anyone interested in radio activities is invited to enroll in the class. Enrollment can be made by getting in touch with C. A. Kells, executive secretary for the YMCA.

Wheatland Ferry Service Is Subject of Complaint

The Association of Businessmen of Dayton, Or., has written the public service commission asking what steps are necessary for remedying the poor service and dangerous condition of the Wheatland ferry, on the road between Dayton and Salem.

"The ferry is said to be in a leaky condition," says the letter, "and a party desiring to cross may have to wait a long period of time for the ferryman's pleasure." It is said to be a matter of much inconvenience to the people of Grand Island and vicinity.
