There is an interesting little story in connection with the poem, "The Circuit Rider," written by Mrs. J. M. Clifford, and which won honorable mention in the R. A. Booth contest. Unlike any of the many remaining competitors, Mrs. Clifford did not write the poem in response to the announcement of an award. It was written several months before any such announcement was made. On November 13, 1922, Mr. A. Philmeter Proctor, the sculptor who created the statue, came to Salem, and together with Mrs. Proctor, was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford. Mr. Proctor spoke that evening before the Salem Arts League. At that time the statue of "The Circuit Rider" was in the plaster cast at Palo, California, having not yet been cast into bronze. When the Proctors returned to California they forwarded to Murray Wade, editor of the Oregon Magazine, a picture of the statue, still in plaster, which he used for the cover of the December, 1922, issue of the Oregon Magazine. It was this cover, coming into the hands of Mrs. Clifford which inspired her to write the poem which won such recent favorable mention. The lines were written sometime in January or February of the next year, practically twelve months before Mrs. Clifford found occasion to present the work. The poem follows:

THE CIRCUIT RIDER

Out of the squalor of the crowded places
Into the sweetly wind-swept open spaces;
Out of the highways of an earlier year
Into the byways of the Pioneer;
Came the Circuit Rider.

Into the lonely, lovely, Western valleys,
Over the flower-fringed Willamette prairies;
Reading his Bible with a quickening ken,
Reading, and praying for the souls of Men;
Journeyed the Circuit Rider.

Strong was his Faith and reverent his Prayers—
Kind were his ministrations, his ministrations,
His was a valiant heart, by visions moved . . .
Dreaming and working for the West he loved
Passed out the Circuit Rider.

"Book Night" names the next program for the general meeting of the Salem Arts League which will begin on Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the public library. "Notes by a Librarian" will be the diverting contribution of Miss Covington of the Salem public library. M. D. Elliott will show the original manuscript of a poem by James Whitcomb Riley, telling how it came into his possession. Mr. Elliott will also show a copy of an old printing. Mrs. Viola Price Franklin will give some "Literary Reminiscences," including sidelights on Eugene Field, who called himself a dithyrambic.

Color Born of Sunshine

Naturally Meadowbrook Hats actually designed and made in roof garden studios—commanding one of California's finest panoramas—have caught the Sunborn color tones and the free cosmopolitan spirit of this play-piece of the world. Naturally they are smarter—more distinctive—more colorful—more correct and sold only at shops where you always expect to find only the best. The French Shop in the Masonic Building, 115 N. High street, is the exclusive Meadowbrook Hat dealer for Salem. None are genuine unless they bear the Meadowbrook Label.

will doubtless draw a deserved crowd. The program for the hour follows:

The Auction Bridge club, organized last autumn, met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Will Moore as hostess. The house was decorated with spring flowers. Luncheon was served at 5:30 o'clock. Guests of the afternoon were Miss Mattie Beatty, Mrs. Justin McEachren of Portland and Mrs. William Mullen. The members of the club include Mrs. George M. Brown, Mrs. J. A. Churchill, Mrs. John McCourt, Mrs. H. J. Bean, Mrs. John L. Rand, Mrs. W. H. Crews, Mrs. Lawrence Harris and Mrs. Will Moore.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clifford for the week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Brand, who motored up from Roseburg.

Founders' Day of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society will be observed Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church parlors in connection with the regular meeting of the society. Dr. Kirkpatrick will lead the devotions, choosing as his subject "The Arithmetic of the Gospel." Mrs. John L. Brady will give interesting "Reminiscences of Founders' Day." Mrs. Powell and Mrs. A. A. Lee are in charge of a pageant for the occasion entitled "Isabelle's Dream of the World's Children." A thank offering will be taken. During the afternoon tea will be served, the officers of the society presiding as hostesses. Wednesday will also be observed as guest day.

Among the delightful affairs of the week was the informal tea yesterday afternoon at which Mrs. J. H. Lauterman and Mrs. R. J. Hendricks were hostesses jointly. The invited matrons called at the Lauterman home where the tea hours were lovely with a delicate profusion of spring flowers.

Springtime in Painters' woods holds a new charm for a group of Salem young folk who have lately tasted of the joys of horseback riding. Saturday morning is the time when these joys are made possible by and with a horse, quiet and gentle, with a little more life perhaps, depending upon how long the lads and lassies have known the joy of the saddle, the group wanders through the woodland trails. C. M. Wilson of the Salem Riding academy pilots the parties.

Other sports for these boys and girls pale into insignificance when the sport of riding has been tasted. The parties Saturday mornings are coming to be a regular event, and among those who make up the parties, varying somewhat each week, are Mildred Roberts, Jack Jarman, Maxine Glover, Frank Spears, Jr., Charles Kay Bishop, Asel Bush, Stewart Bush, Horace Stewart, Wallace Hug, Frank Cross, Edwin Cross, Jean Patton, Marie Patton, Dorothy Bell, Margaret Bell, Ann Reed Burns, Paul Franklin, Cecil Franklin, Perry Buren, Herbert Hofer and Robert Hofer.

With the retiring officers presiding for the last time, the Woman's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met on their regular day for an instructive afternoon. Officers were elected with the following results: President, Mrs. W. W. Emmons; first vice president, Mrs. H. E. Barrett; second vice president, Mrs. W. W. Long; recording secretary, Mrs. H. E. Morris; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. W. Rosebraugh; treasurer, Mrs. Glen L. Adams; secretary of literature, Mrs. J. J. Nunn; secretary of associate members, Mrs. C. A. Lytle; secretary of young people, Mrs. I. F. Reisman.

Mrs. Julia Harms and Mrs. Ward Willis Long, Mrs. Long singing to harp accompaniment. Election of officers resulted in the naming of Mrs. W. C. Kantner as president, Mrs. John L. Brady as vice president and Mrs. George H. Thompson secretary. A noteworthy addition to the program was the illustrated presentation, by means of charts, of the racial needs of the different groups under the flag by the Methodist women. Added to this was real consideration of what is being done through the missionary societies to meet these needs. A. L. Beckendorf gave a particularly commendable address. He spoke appreciatively of the great extent of Governor Leonard Wood's work. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with daffodils and ivy.

Chapter AB of P. E. O. Sisterhood will meet tomorrow evening with Mrs. W. D. Smith and Miss Grace Elizabeth Smith, 1765 Center street.

The Thursday afternoon club will meet on Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. B. Fleming, 785 Court street, with Mrs. Richard Cartwright and Mrs. George Bingham the assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Luther Hall of Ventura, Cal., arrived in Salem in order to be with her father, W. L. Cummings, who is ill at his home on Mission street.

The members of the Salem Music Teachers' association will meet Tuesday evening at the studio of Miss Elma Waller.

Guests at the D. A. Noyes home are, Mrs. G. W. Gayle of Minneapolis and her two daughters, Mrs. B. A. Burridge of St. John, Mich., and Mrs. George A. John of Sacramento, Cal.

A silver tea at the attractive home of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Downs on Saturday, March 15, will bring many friends and members of the local branch of the American Association of University Women together for a pleasant social hour. Music will be provided. The meeting is a postponed one, having been scheduled for March 1, the absence of Dr. and Mrs. Downs having made necessary the change. Dr. and Mrs. Downs, who are in California, will return next week. The silver tea, a charmingly planned affair, is being sponsored in the interest of the club house at Washington, D. C. The calling hours will be from 3 to 5.
