ANOTHER GOOD COW MAKES BIG RECORD

Durbin & Son Have Holstein That Registered High Production Mark

Extraordinary records for the production of butter were made recently by two purebred Holstein cows in the herd of F. W. Durbin & Son at Salem. According to the advanced registry department of the Holstein-Friesian association of America one of these cows, Wisconsin Bess Pontiac 3d, seven years of age, produced in seven days 592.7 pounds milk and 20.141 pounds butterfat—equal to 25.17 pounds butter. This cow completed a fourteen-day record with 1,131.7 pounds milk and 37.924 pounds butterfat, equivalent to 47.4 pounds butter. The other cow, Aggie Jettine Pontiac, at the age of five years, produced in seven days 580.1 pounds milk and 22.019 pounds butterfat—equal to 27.52 pounds butter. To prove the productive capacity of its cows, the dairy breed associations maintain advanced registry departments, which, in conjunction with the state agricultural colleges, carry on an organized system of officially testing the cows of the breed for milk and butterfat. These official tests are conducted by disinterested men appointed by the state agricultural colleges, are surrounded by every safeguard, and the results are universally accepted as reliable in all respects. This method for making tests originated with the Holstein-Friesian association of America, but has now been adopted in some of its forms by all of the associations of breeders of dairy cattle.

GRIMM ALFALFA IS HAVING ATTENTION

Some Pointers on This Important New Crop From the College People

(The following is from the department of industrial journalism of the Oregon Agricultural college, and should have the attention of the farmers of the Salem district.) Alfalfa—especially Grimm—is the subject of more inquiries coming to the Oregon experiment station at Corvallis than any other crop. Grimm alfalfa is one of the most drought and cold resistant varieties known and it flourishes in all parts of the state. Grimm has a tendency to stop growing in the fall and get ready for winter. Coupled with this in giving winter resistance is the low-set crown and a somewhat branched root system which show their value in cold and drought resistance. Farmers making a specialty of producing seed from Grimm alfalfa, a variety well worth their attention, as there is a strong demand for this seed. Because of this demand it usually brings a higher price than common alfalfa, usually ranging between 45 and 55 cents a pound. Only when certified can Grimm alfalfa be distinguished from common varieties in the seed. Certified seed may be obtained from the Grimm Alfalfa Seed Growers' association of Blackfoot, Idaho. Several organizations in Montana have certified seed, the names of the farm crops department of the Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis.

To make success more nearly which may be had by writing to certain the seed on soil seeded with alfalfa for the first time is inoculated. Seeding is at the rate of 15 pounds per acre. Many facts about growing alfalfa are not known to the person growing alfalfa for the first time. Those wishing additional information may write the experiment station for a bulletin now being prepared on the subject. Media for inoculation may be obtained from the department of bacteriology at a low cost.

Prayer meeting will be held next Thursday night at Mrs. Karl Harritt's. Brush College Helpers will meet

The celebrated Polk county road controversy came to an end yesterday with an opinion of the supreme court which affirmed Judge George R. Bagley of the lower court in the case of R. M. Walker et al against the Polk county court. This is a denial of a petition of the plaintiffs for an injunction to prevent the county court from selling $40,000 in county road bonds to pay the county's share for the West Side highway pavement. The plaintiffs took the position that a special bond issue of $265,000 voted by the people of the county carried with it a designation of the particular roads on which the money was to be used and that the West Side highway was not so designated south of Monmouth, but that the highway was to be routed through Dallas and Independence. The plaintiffs were Independence men.

Community Club Is Now Chamber of Commerce
SILVERTON, Ore., March 11.—(Special to The Statesman.)—At the March meeting of the Silver-ton Community club the name was changed from "The Silver-ton Community club" to that of "The Silver-ton Chamber of Commerce."

HALL'S FERRY
Sharpe Brothers have completed their wood contract with J. B. Cummings and expect to leave in a few days for the logging camps on the Columbia.

Thomas and August Haman, brothers of Mrs. Oscar Purcell visited a few days at the latter's home last week. The Haman brothers spent the winter in the wilds of southern Curry county, trapping and hunting. They report Curry county as a hunter's paradise, they having seen as many as 40 deer in one drove and were successful in bagging three bear and a cougar, besides numerous smaller fur-bearing animals. Due to the present high market-price of furs the trip was a financial success as well as being a real winter outing.

Arrangements are being made for a St. Patrick's day entertainment at the Methodist Episcopal church. An excellent program and a good time are promised. B. D. An epidemic of severe colds is prevalent throughout this district. William Snyder the oldest native born citizen is cutting wood on the lot north of the hall. In spite of the three score and 10 years that have passed over his head, "Shorty" still swines a 12 pound sledge. The trustees of the Methodist Episcopal church held a business meeting Monday evening at the Mother home.

Signboards Removed on Coast By Standard Oil
The Standard Oil company is planning to dismantle 1200 sign boards on the Pacific coast, which cost from $30 to $60 each, according to A. K. Rankin, who announces it in the advertising columns of the Statesman this morning. This is the first big move in response to the wide spread agitation for a discontinuance of the uglies.

Convinced that highway advertising signs detract from the natural beauty of the great routes of travel of the Pacific coast, this company has decided that it will erect no more such signs and that it will immediately remove all of its signs of this nature now standing. Hereafter the company will confine the use of signs to commercial locations. The company feels that the splendid scenery so characteristic of nearly all of the highways of California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Arizona should be unmarred, and on that account is willing to sacrifice the advertising value of the signs.

What Are You Missing?

NO one can want anything until he knows of its existence. That is why ancient folk managed to live fairly contented lives without window glass, soap, automobiles, stoves, toothbrushes, telephones and so many of the things we consider the bare necessities of life. Advertising has done more than any one thing to make this era of ours so rich in comforts and conveniences. To advertising is directly due much of the multiplication of products and services which are now at the disposal of every one.

There is no denying the fact that advertising has ironed out the mechanics of existence. It has made life easier and more pleasant by bringing to our attention countless necessities which years ago a king's ransom could not have bought.

Folks dress better, eat better, sleep better and live better because of advertising.

You owe much to advertising---and you miss much when you fail to read it.
