THE AAUW SILVER TEA this afternoon will attract a charming group of women to the pleasant new home of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Downs, 2121 South High street, for an Irish program and tea. Little Miss Flavin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Downs, will open the door for the callers. A group of the music students of Professor E. W. Hobson and Professor Franklin Launer will delight the guests with Irish music. In the dining room jousts arranged in art baskets will give a bright spring atmosphere. Miss Lorna Lovett and Miss Kathryn Kirk will assist in the tea-room where, from 3 to 4 o'clock Mrs. Carl Gregg Dooney and Mrs. George H. Alden; and from 4 to 5, Miss Frances E. Richards and Mrs. Luther J. Chapin, will preside. The under the competent direction of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Powell, returned missionaries from India. The pageant very successfully depicts telling conditions in India, giving authentic insight into the idol worship and child marriages of the land. The appeal of the Hindu woman is well defined and touching. Dr. and Mrs. Powell will reveal many of their own personal experiences through these pageant scenes. They are furnishing a wealth of costumes.

The War Mothers are conducting a cooked food sale today at Stiff's.

Many invitations are out for the TNT dancing party scheduled for this evening. This anticipated high school formal will take place in Derby hall.

Mrs. J. T. Matthews of South 12th street has just returned from a five months visit in California with her son, Oliver Matthews. Mr. Matthews lives in Los Angeles. The trip was made both ways by automobile, with many interesting reports concerning the roads and California weather prospects.

The members of the Woman's Benefit association were the guests last evening of Mrs. A. T. King who invited the group to gather in a social way at her home, 463 South Capitol street. The party was the first of a delightful series planned for the coming months. Mrs. Desaline Eberhard, Mrs. Reba Smith, and Mrs. Lulu Boring assisted the hostess who served refreshments at the close of the evening.

The Yomareo Sunday school class members of the First Methodist church were delightfully entertained when they met on an evening earlier in the week with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swafford for an Irish evening. Merry games and stunts brought much pleasure. The program was full of Irish song and lore. Thirty-five guests were present for the evening. The details of the small tables at which luncheon was served followed the St. Patrick scheme. Mrs. Harvey Manella, Mrs. J. D. Foley, Mrs. Robin and Mrs. R. S. Melson assisted the hostess. The next meeting of the class will be on the second Tuesday in April.

The members of the Merrie Thymers club were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cleveland on a recent evening. Five hundred was the chosen game, three tables playing. The St. Patrick motif was again effectively used. Daffodils were combined with Ireland's green. Hosts for the next meeting of the club will be Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Elgin.

Games and stunts, following a business session, made the meeting of the OAC club on Thursday night a pleasant affair. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pearey were the hosts.

Mrs. Harry Zelsdorf entertained a few friends at the "Y" swimming class at a luncheon Wednesday at her home. Covers were placed for five, including: Mrs. E. A. Elliott, Mrs. J. H. Brockman, Mrs. Edgar Daugherty, Mrs. E. Luna, and the hostess, Mrs. Harvey Zelsdorf.

Of considerable interest to music lovers is announcement of the coming of Harold Bauer and Pablo Casals to Corvallis on the last Friday of the month. Both are world-famous artists. Casals appearing as "the world's greatest cellist," and Bauer as the "master pianist." Mr. Casals is a Spaniard, but he is acknowledged by three continents as the greatest violin-cellist alive. Mr. Bauer is an Englishman who has played "in literally every civilized part of the globe."

The Japanese dinner at the YMCA which was recently postponed will be an interesting event of Tuesday evening. Varied plans are being worked out.

The Thursday Bridge Luncheon club was very delightfully entertained with Mrs. William Walton as hostess. Mrs. Walton was hostess at 1 o'clock luncheon in the Peacock room at the Gray Belle and afterward at cards at her apartment. A wicker-shaded lamp, banked on either side with a profusion of spirea, daffodils and Japanese quince in long, narrow baskets formed a spring-like centerpiece. In the place cards and mints the St. Patrick motif was carefully developed. Covers were placed for 12. Mrs. Asabel Bush, Mrs. William Doot, Mrs. Fritz Slade, and Mrs. Shelley Saurman were guests of the club. Mrs. Dusenbury will be the next hostess for the group.

"Half Past Ten" Is U. S. Return for Mah Jongg

New American Game "Takes" China as Theirs "Took" Us

If an epidemic of women's rights breaks out in China any time soon, Chinese husbands will probably wreak vengeance on J. M. Tees, the gallant American who has just introduced Chinese women to the new game of Sop Tim Bom. Although Mah Jongg was played in China by men for hundreds of years, women were barred by custom from any participation in it. Wistfully, according to Mr. Tees, they watched their husbands Mah Jongg away the family income. Faithfully they put the rice back on the stove when no husband arrived from the nearest Mah Jongg joint at the supper hour. But always they yearned to try their hand at this enticing pastime. "So," says Mr. Tees, who has recently returned from a long sojourn in Shanghai, "I made them a substitute, but something that they will find just as good and then some. Besides, I felt we owed the Chinese something for Mah Jongg which they gave to us." Sop Tim Bom is played on the principle of the American Twenty-one. The Mandarin interpretation of the name is half past ten—loosely ten and a half. It is played with tiles like Mah Jongg and resembles it in other ways. Not content with contributing largely to the introduction of Mah Jongg in America and Sop Tim Bom in China, Mr. Tees had an American friend write a Chinese waltz called "Half Past Ten" (Sop Tim Bom) to which the women of China might play their new game. The new waltz has not been played here yet but the reception it has had from feminine China indicates that it will be a worthy successor to our own "Three O'Clock in the Morning."

The Williamette University Men's Glee club which leaves next Friday for their northern trip is issuing the following advance:

The club offers an extensive repertoire of both heavy and light numbers. The evening program includes "The Wreck of the Julie Plante," by the club, with Mr. Lloyd Thompson carrying the solo parts; the negro folk song, "Who swallowed Jonah," the spiritual, "Heaven, Heaven," and other popular concert numbers.

In addition to this the club has plenty of comedy. There are in history famous pairs such as Romeo and Juliet, Mutt and Jeff, and Gallagher and Shean,—but the WU Glee club is blessed with Phillips and Heath. One is six feet four, the other four feet six. They put on a clever vaudeville stunt. Lloyd Waltz accompanies the club as reader and impersonator, offering dramatic selections and negro impersonations of the most realistic sort.

Another special feature of this years concert tour is the appearance of the Willamette Yell King, Joe Nee, in the Scottish Highlander costume, singing his famous Scotch melodies. And Mr. Byron Arnold, soloist of excellent technique.

Last year the club went on a tour of Washington and Oregon, totaling some 2000 miles, giving concerts in 30 of the more important cities. This year's itinerary includes a trip through Southern Oregon and one through Western Washington up as far as Vancouver, B. C.

The club offers a well balanced and enjoyable program lasting approximately two hours.

The local concert will be an event of early April.

The meeting of the Thursday bridge club, at which Mrs. Cal. Patton was to have been hostess, was unexpectedly postponed.

The Blazed Trail

WORKERS in the woods frequently find the trail blazed by the axes of those who have gone before. Guided by these marks, they easily find their way.

Advertisements perform a similar duty for you in the important business of spending your money. They point the way to values of which you would never know if they were not there to guide you.

Do you read them? Wise shoppers do. They are the economical buyers—the ones who keep themselves strictly up-to-date on the best opportunities for saving money, or spending it judiciously, which is one and the same thing.

Read the advertisements in The Statesman. Read them to know what's what in the shopping district. Read them because they place before your eyes a moving panorama of business progress. Read them to save money—to save steps—to save disappointments. Read them because they blaze your trail to satisfaction in your every-day buying.

Read them regularly. Follow their guidance. It pays.
