KAY AND SHARKEY FIGHT FOR CUP

Elliott and Farmer Eliminated in Last Week-End Tourney Play

Kay and Sharkey will fight it out for the Anderson & Brown trophy cup in the Washington tournament this next week-end as a result of the semi-finals held Saturday and Sunday at the Illihee Country club.

Nearly 60 players participated in the "grave yard" or flag tournament over the week-end, with F. A. Elliott taking first place and the Spaulding Logging company trophy; H. C. McGammon, second with half a dozen golf balls; W. C. Dyer, third, four golf balls, and Mrs. H. H. Ohlinger fourth.

with two golf balls. These were donated by Andrew Junor, professional at the club.

Interest in the country club is increasing and it is expected that between 75 and 100 will be on the course this next week-end.

Under present plans there are bright prospects of a tournament with the Albany club in the near future and a return tournament with the Tualatin Country club in the next few weeks.

During the next month or six weeks the ladies' championship and the boys' or junior championship matches, in addition to the "Good Friday" trophy, will be staged.

Meanest Man Is at Oregon Today

Probably it has never occurred to more than a few theatre goers that George M. Cohan, of the century's kings of the speaking stage, could be beaten at his own game by a star of the screen, yet that is exactly what is happening in the case of "The Meanest Man in the World," which opens at the Oregon theatre today.

Cohan played the lead in "The Meanest Man in the World" for a year on the stage in New York and won for himself the admiration of thousands. Then came the screen version of the same play, with Bert Lytell in the title role.

In the few months that it has been out several million people have seen and proclaimed Lytell as a greater "Meanest Man" than Cohan ever thought of being.

Blanche Sweet plays opposite him, and is no small factor in the success of the production. Bryant Washburn is another popular star who appears in the cast.

The story of "the meanest man in the world" surrounds the business life of Richard Clarke, young attorney. Clarke is not a success in the practise of law because he lacks the ability to place his business activities on a plain business basis—he cannot, in other words, be mean. How he is told that in order to succeed he must learn to look the world in the face without thoughts of kindness and how he begins this new mode of business and how he finally finds the one and only girl in the person of Jane Hudson (Blanche Sweet), provides six reels of smashing situations and entertainment of the highest quality.

John Gilbert, portraying a role that is at least unusual for him, as versatile as he is, comes to the Liberty today in "Just Off Broadway," a William Fox release that is rated among the best of the year.

In "Just Off Broadway," Gilbert, as a secret service operative, portrays a character who becomes a member of a gang of international thieves. Not once do they suspect him and even the girl with whom he falls in love tries to reform him. Believing that she is one of the band herself, Gilbert is just as eager to reform her. The manner in which these two straighten out the tangle of their lives and eventually perform a great service, makes one of the most dramatic pictures ever screened.

erick and Fanny Hatton, noted for their work as scenario and short story writers. A capable cast lends Mr. Gilbert commendable support.

Marian Nixon has the principal feminine role, with Ben Hendricks, Jr., Trilby Clark and Pierre Gendron in the other important parts.

SENSATIONAL LETTER SENT BY DAUGHTERY

(Continued from page 1) said Fink, acting as agent for Roxie Stinson, dropped her price for said documentary evidence and her silence from $150,000 to $50,000, agreeing to deliver the said documentary evidence to the said parties and leave the country so she could not be compelled to testify in any hearing at any investigation of the department of justice.

Demand is Refused "The above witness will testify that they advised Mr. Fink, acting as said agent for Roxie Stinson, that they would not pay her on behalf of the attorney general or for any one else, anything for her alleged evidence, the sum demanded, or any other sum. During that said conference, the said A. L. Fink, acting as said agent and representative of Roxie Stinson, made three trips to her room at the Statler hotel to confer with her and reported back each time to the conference. That the said A. L. Fink acting as said agent of Roxie Stinson requested one of the above witnesses, that is to say James W. Holcom, to accompany him to the room of said Roxie Stinson at the Statler hotel to carry on negotiations there. Said Holcomb refused to go but the witness Samuel Ungerleider did go and talked the matter over with said Fink and Roxie Stinson at her room in the Statler hotel in Cleveland and the said Fink admitted to the above witnesses that he and said Roxie Stinson came to Cleveland for the purpose of selling the silence of the said Roxie Stinson and said alleged documentary evidence to H. M. Daugherty, for money consideration as hereinbefore set forth.

"We have the honor to remain. Respectfully yours, H. M. Daugherty, By Paul Howland and George E. Chamberlain, counsel."

At any rate we shall hear less about the need of business men in government.

PEACEFUL

(By Mail) TSINGTAO, China, Feb. 6.—This usually serene and peaceful city, once the hope and center of German expansion aims in the Far East, has taken on the appearance of an armed camp.

In addition to the native military units and police force, the Japanese consular police are functioning, and the sailors and marines attached to the Chinese naval squadron anchored in the bay may be seen on the streets at any hour of the day or evening.

With five fighting contingents and a fleet of seven war vessels, Tsingtao is more strongly protected than at any time since the Kiaochow territory reverted to China. The present status is comparable to the days when the Germans maintained a strong garrison and powerful system of forts here.

People far away probably wonder how natives know the difference when there is a riot at Berlin.
