GIBBONS AND CARPENTIER ARE MATCHED FOR BOUT ON JULY 4

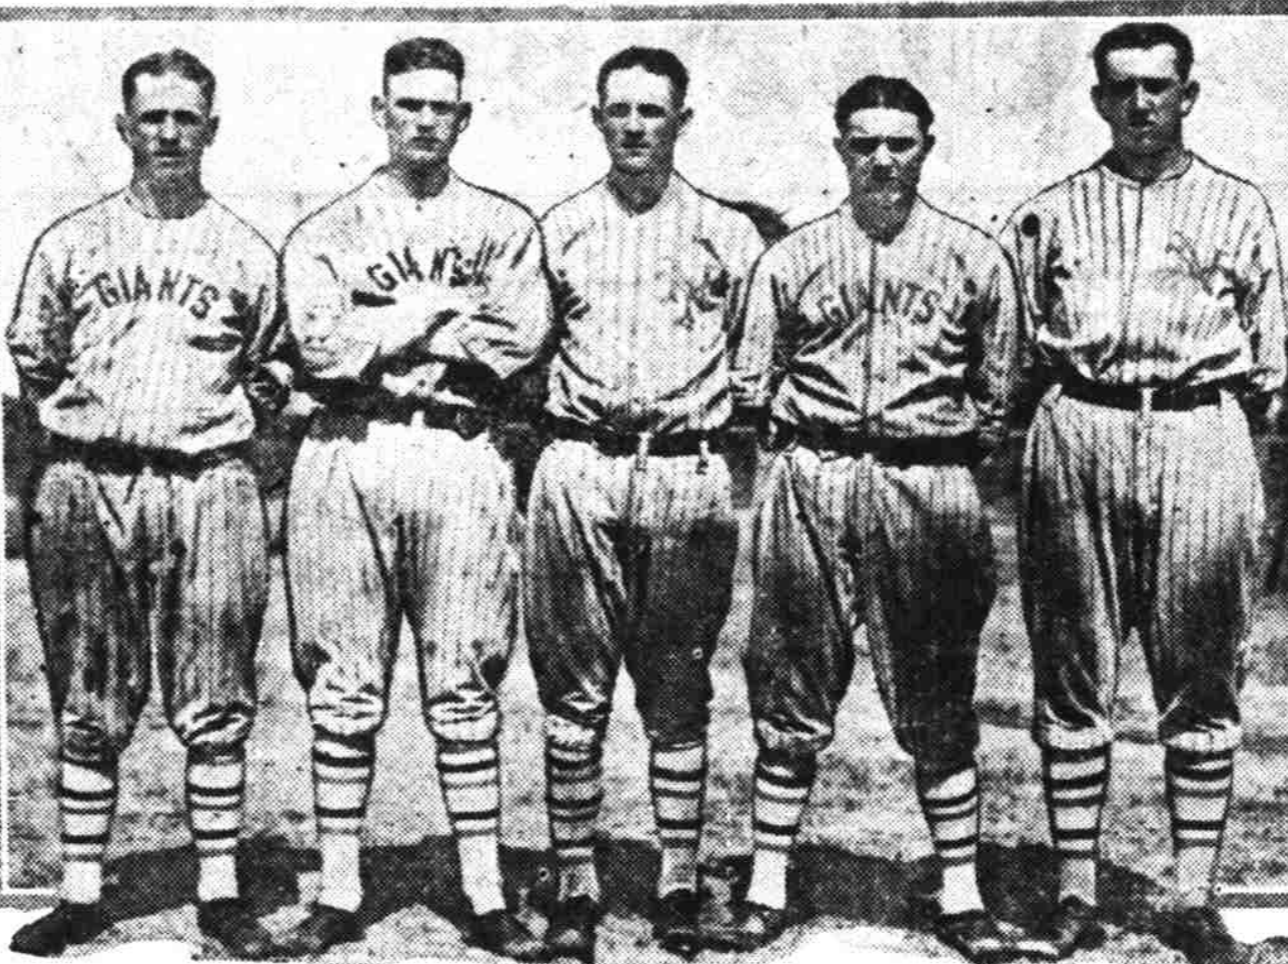

CHICAGO, March 25 (By the Associated Press).—Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship and Georges Carpentier, ring idol of France, tonight were matched to meet in a 10-round no-decision contest, either Michigan City, Ind., or Benton Harbor, Mich., on July 4.
Carpentier was guaranteed $70,000 with a privilege of 25 per cent of the receipts, while Gibbons, waiving all claims of a guarantee, accepted a flat 30 per cent. Jack Curley, representing the French light heavyweight, received a certified check for $15,000 guaranteeing the match.
Curley said that $10,000 of this sum was a guarantee of good

BOOK BY WETJEN, SOON TO BE ON SALE, IS OF PARTICULAR INTEREST TO OREGON READERS

"Captains All," the first collection of stories by Albert Richard Wetjen to be published in book form, will be on sale some time in April or early May. The book is being published by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., of New York. Mr. Wetjen is the prolific writer of sea stories, who is now living on a five-acre ranch that he recently purchased in Astoria.

All of the stories in "Captains All" have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, Everybody's or the Blue Book. Generally they are sea tales dealing with captains of ships flung abruptly into crucial situations.
The book should be of particular interest to Oregon readers, for of the 12 stories in the volume several relate to sea life on the Oregon coast. One of them, entitled "Value," appeared in Collier's Weekly and is concerned with the floods at Portland in the winter of 1923. Two or three other stories deal with the coastwise trade, with ships running from Astoria to Marshfield and Eureka and Newport. These ships are the fleet of small craft that sailor men derisively term "The Pickle Fleet. Fifty-seven Varieties." One story, a yarn of Coos Bay, and a storm off that port, is entitled "A Captain of the Pickle Fleet."
A complete novel by Mr. Wetjen entitled "Battle," will probably be published the coming fall. The hero of this story is a professor of biology at the University of Oregon. Another story of the Oregon coast, centered at Waldport, will probably be published late this year. The author has not yet finished this story.
Mr. Wetjen is planning to start later on a trilogy on American farm life, and Oregon pioneer life in particular.
The current issue of Novels contains a very complete story of

BASEBALL GAINING ITS USUAL FAVOR

Everybody Talking About Batting Averages and Heroes of Diamond

Baseball is fast taking the center of the athletic stage and the current sports gossip is beginning to take the form of batting averages, ability of players and scheduled games.

The Salem baseball team has turned out for the initial workout, this being held Sunday afternoon. Another practice has been called for tomorrow night at Oxford park.

Thursday night a meeting will be held at the YMCA for the purpose of organizing the Twilight league, notices having been sent out by P. D. Quisenberry, president of the league. Saturday afternoon, Chemawa will play its opening game with a team from the state prison, the contest to be played here.

The American legion will have a team in the Twilight league again this season, according to King Bartlett, who has signed up sufficient men to form two teams. He plans to be on hand Thursday night to look after the interests of his team. The legion, under the management of Biddie Bishop, won first place in the league last year and the post headquarters has the trophy on exhibition.

Six teams comprised the league last year, others being the YMCA, the Bankers', Spaulding Logging company, Yeoman lodge and the Standard Oil. This year it is expected the number will be increased, and possibly the Central pharmacy, Anderson & Brown, Hauser Brothers and the Union Oil people will place teams in the field as they did during the basketball season.

Eleven games have been scheduled by Chemawa, the first of these regular contests being with Salem high school at Chemawa in April. The game with the penitentiary Saturday is in the nature of a workout in order to give Coach Downie an opportunity to get a line-up on his men.
Chemawa's schedule for the season is as follows:
April 15—Salem high school at Chemawa.
April 18—Columbia university at Portland.
April 19—Commerce high school at Portland.
April 26—Mt. Angel at Mt. Angel.
April 30—Pacific college at Chemawa.
May 3—Monmouth normal at

Comedy and Mystery Unite in Picture At Oregon Theatre

In "Her Temporary Husband," which is being shown at the Oregon theatre, the three elements—drama, mystery, comedy—are all in the one picture!
When a film holds an audience's interest, first through its straight dramatic situations, then with a true mystery angle and lastly with bang-up comedy, that picture is worth-while entertainment.

It is enacted by a capable cast and is one of the most delightful of the season. There is nothing heavily dramatic about it; there are no tedious situations worked in for the sake of false suspense; the comedy is not trite nor far fetched.
Owen Moore is the hero of the picture.
Sidney Chaplin, playing the role of a butler, once again proves that he is an artist of pantomime.
Sylvia Breamer, the heroine, plays the difficult role of being the from the second Louisiana district to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative H. Garland Dupre, according to virtually complete returns tabulated by the Times-Picayune.

Mr. Spearling's majority over his two opponents, Genevieve Clark Thompson, wife of James H. Thompson, publisher of the New Orleans Item, and T. Semmes Walmsley, assistant attorney general, with one small country precinct missing, was given by the newspaper, 1369. The vote was: Spearling 16756; Thompson 12,746; Walmsley 2624.
