BIG MEETING FOR BOYS IN PROGRESS

The reconstruction work that he saw in progress there. French cities and towns, he said, are being rebuilt on modern ideas with broad streets and modern sanitation through the efforts of the property-owners and the government. He spoke of the acres of white crosses where lie buried the young Frenchmen who lost their lives in the war. This he described as a loss that cannot be repaid. Now and then he found a black cross where a German or an Austrian soldier was buried, and he deplored this symbol of hatred that persists to the present day.

Ideals are Common

Mr. Moran next went to Austria where he met a group of 20 boys at one city. He found that they have everything in common with American boys, he said, play the same games and have the same hobbies. He asked them about their favorite moving picture heroes and found that Charley Chaplin and Jackie Coogan were the favorites.

Mr. Moran said he used to be very proud of the American subways and of the Brooklyn bridge, but at Buda-Pesth, which he called Gypsyland, he found the first subway that was ever built, and over the Danube a fine suspension bridge that was built in 1840, long before the Brooklyn bridge was constructed.

All the boys he had met thus far, Mr. Moran believed could be brought into a conference such as that now in Salem and easily find themselves at home. He was very doubtful, however, about the boys he found at Bucharest, in Rumania, who were of a lower type, dirty, and who did not care, apparently, about being clean.

Turkey Is Visited

The speaker told interestingly about his trip to Turkey. At Stamboul, where it isn't considered safe for an American to go out after 10 o'clock, he visited the YMCA and met the basketball team. The five members of the team, the champion team of the city, were all of different nationalities.

In Greece a conference of 500 Greek and Armenian boys was attended on the plains of Marathon, and later he attended a Christian conference of boys in Germany. He found that the German youth had been "fed up" on the same kind of propaganda the American youth has had relative to the atrocious character of the opposing nationality. In personal talks with the German boys, he said, they decided that hatred between the two countries would be eliminated by understanding. He closed with a plea for racial and religious tolerance, even toward the Mohammedans, who, even in their horrid ceremonial, are reaching out for contact with a superior being.

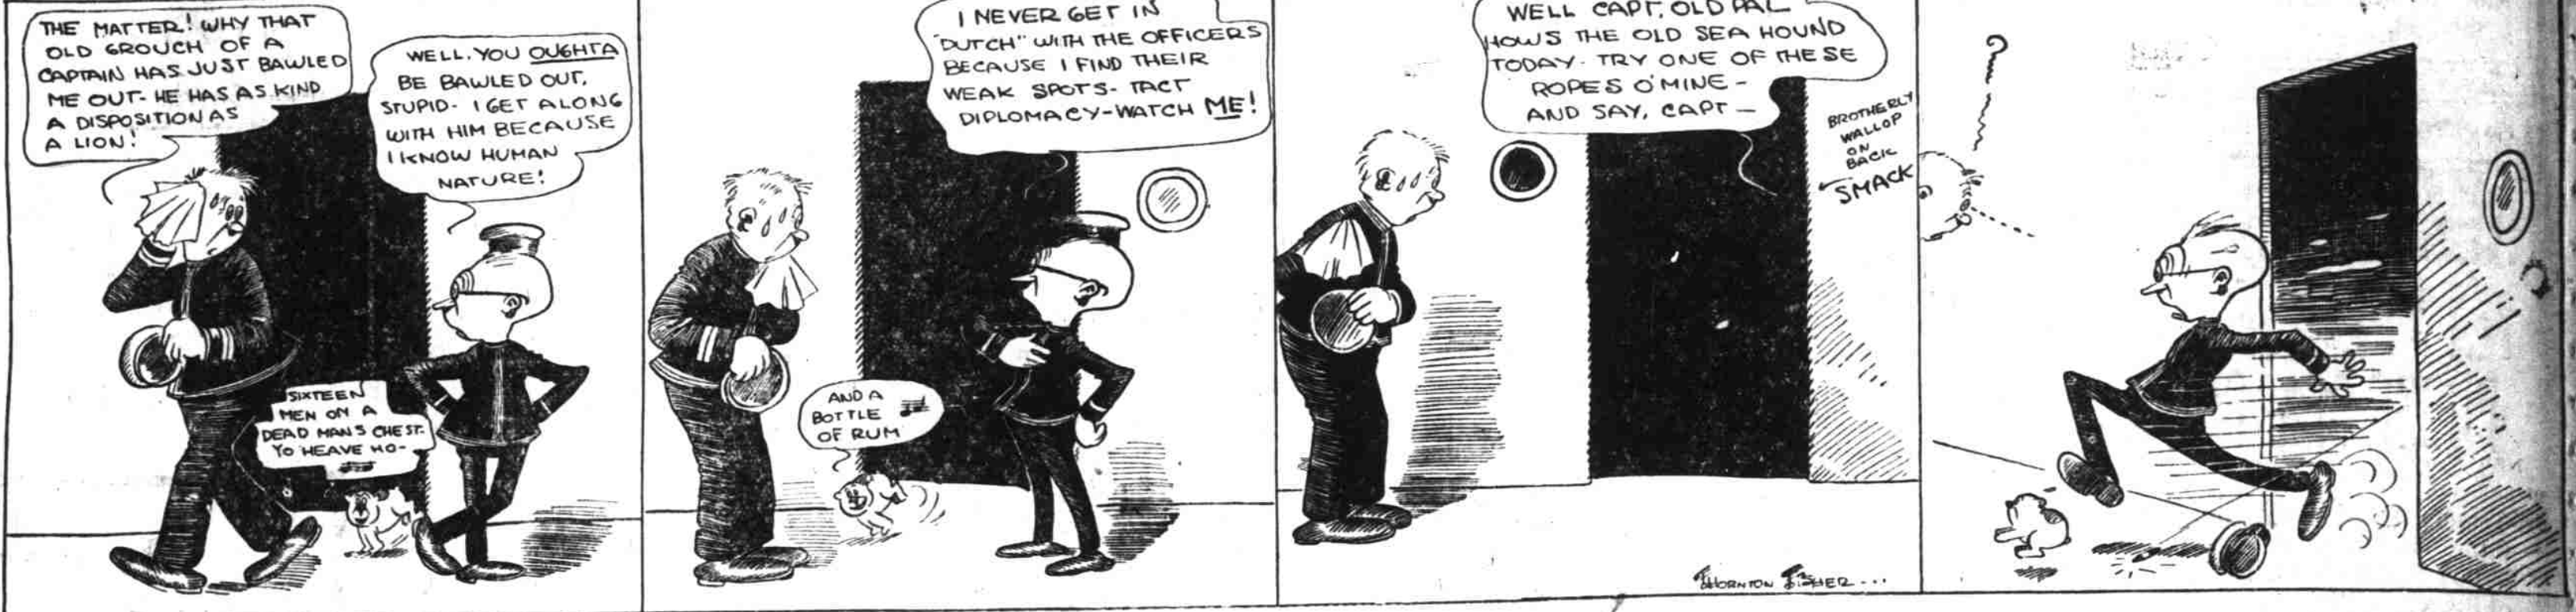

Acquaintance Needed

"If we could get acquainted," said Mr. Moran, "there would be no hatred. Racial hatred and propaganda are used to make us think we are different. We have the same emotions, the same desires, the same ideals and the same problems, and only the superficialities of race, custom and conventionalities separate us. Over the whole world boys are interested in the same things. They are one big brotherhood, and universal peace can come only through the existence of these common interests among the boys."

Mrs. Jean Morris Ellis of Portland, vocational guidance expert, gave an enlightening address. She mentioned the little things that keep boys apart, such as a difference in attire. She spoke of their ambitions and the need of vocational guidance. All day today Mrs. Ellis will give personal interviews with boys.

The conference will continue today and tomorrow.

MUCH INTEREST IN GOLF TOURNEY

Captains Tournament Will Be Played at Illihee Links Sunday

More than the usual amount of interest is being shown in the "Captains' Tournament" to be played at the Illihee Country club Sunday, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning. Fourteen two-men teams have been selected by each of the captains, G. P. Sharkey and Erceel Kay, the survivors of the Washington tournament. These matches will be played in foursomes. The Nassua system of scoring will be used, a point on each nine and a point for the 18. Players are requested to get in touch with their opponents and arrange for the time of play. The winning team will be feted at a dinner at the Gray Belle Tuesday night at the expense of the losers.

Discussion of plans for the season will be featured at the dinner, according to Fred A. Williams, chairman of the tournament committee. The Illihee club may affiliate with the northwest association.

Andrew Junor, professional, who was injured in an automobile accident on the Pacific highway north of Salem about two weeks ago, has left the hospital and is now on the grounds. It is expected that he will be in condition to resume his class instruction early next week.

The following men have been matched for playing Sunday:

Graham Sharkey, captain; Erceel Kay, captain.

H. H. Olinger, vs. J. H. Farrar, Hugh McCammon vs. A. Hutchison.

L. C. Farmer, vs. Chester Cox, Rex Sanford, vs. Fred Thielsen, Johnny Roberts, vs. T. B. Kay, James Marr, vs. Homer H. Smith.

Jack Elliott, vs. Orris Fry, Lee Unruh, vs. C. H. Robertson.

John Harbison, vs. W. H. Paulus, Frank Spears, vs. F. W. Steusloff.

George G. Brown, vs. O. F. Franklin.

L. F. Griffith, vs. Arthur Rahn, Bill Burgart, vs. Dr. Bill Lytle, Dave Eyre, vs. Fritz Slade.

Beyond question this will be the best year the club has ever seen, as at as early a date as this the promise of 18 holes and the recognition of the Northwest association is almost assured. Mr. Junor, the professional of the club has the idea of putting a team in the field to represent Illihee at the northwest in June this is rather in advance of the plans so far.

Falls City to Have Good Baseball Team in Field

Falls City expects to have a good baseball team in the field this season. The grounds are being put into first class condition and the boys are anxious to get

Oregon Senator One of Three Most on Job

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Of the entire number of senators now in office the three who have shown the greatest attention to the interests of their constituents, and who have been most consistently in their seats are Senators McNary, Capper and Shepard.

Such is the statement of Assistant Secretary Henry M. Rose of the United States senate, who has custody of the roll calls during the terms of the senators.

So far as Senator McNary is concerned his record is almost perfect. The only time he was away from roll calls since he came to the senate was during the time of the death and funeral of his wife some years ago, and later when he was confined to his hotel by the gripple.

Official figures tell the story of Senator McNary's devotion to Oregon and the United States. He has not missed a single roll call or been absent from his desk during all the session since this congress met in December.

well satisfied with conditions here, stating that the 36x150 pickling plant on Young street would be constructed by his company next month. He is having cucumber acreage contracts signed at his Woodburn representative's, the Bank of Woodburn, and while the different tracts are small, it is just as he desires and it is pleasing that the total acreage signed up will warrant the company going ahead. Many more intend contracting so that it is expected the full 200 acres requested will be secured. Cucumber seed can now be obtained at the Bank of Woodburn.

It is also Mr. Paus' purpose to contract in this section for 500 tons of cabbage for sauer kraut, part of which has been contracted for. Full information can be acquired by calling at the Bank of Woodburn.

LAND OPENED

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Opening to homestead and desert land entry of 46,000 acres of public lands in Pueblo and Huerfano counties, Colorado, and Teton and Chouteau counties, Montana, was announced today by the interior department.
