At Marion hotel Wednesday evening at 6:30 sharp. Many prominent guests will be present. Governor Pierce, Dr. C. J. Smith, Col. Robert Miller, O. P. Coshov; also candidates for U. S. senate, Geo. A. Mansfield, Wm. Strayer, Milton Miller, Will R. King; also a number of our local candidates. The public is invited. Tickets, $1 per plate, can be had from P. L. Frazer, Brazier Small and August Hucklestein. m29

Of Interest to Property Owners—
We are now prepared to insure your store building, and furniture and fixtures therein, for three years for twice annual premium, (a saving of 33 1/2% over present plan of insuring). We also write an attractive five-year policy, payable annually. At your service, Standley & Foley Insurance Agency, room 1, Bush Bank Bldg., phone 347. m29

Many Figure on School Job—
Nearly 20 contractors are preparing to make estimates on the new Parrish junior high school on North Capitol street, according to W. H. Burghardt, who has the plans at his office. This number is the greatest to show interest in any one building for a number of years. The new school will be of concrete construction and will cost approximately $225,000. The bids will be opened by the school board at a special meeting the night of April 2.

Will Fight Gray Diggers—
War upon the gray digger is planned by residents of the Evans valley district, northeast of Silverton. For the purpose of organizing to fight the rodent, S. H. Van Trump, county fruit inspector, and A. W. Moore, rodent man for the government, recently conferred with people in the Evans valley section. Under present plans a stretch six miles long and about a mile and a half wide will be mapped out and a general drive launched against the gray digger for the purpose of extermination. Poison can be obtained from the government and the county and will be spread under the supervision of the officials.

The Film Shop—
Has moved from the Masonic temple to the Red Cross Pharmacy. m30

Parole Denied Haines—
Elroy Haines of Newberg, sentenced to five years in the state prison for statutory rape, will not escape punishment. Haines was denied his application for a parole yesterday by Judge Bingham. The jury which heard the case was out less than two hours and the concluding arguments of District Attorney John Carson and Lyle J. Page, deputy district attorney, were very brief in contrast to the long appeal made by Attorney Kilks of McMinnville, attorney for the defendant. He filed notice of appeal to the supreme court upon behalf of his client.

Roseburg Is Interested—
Considerable interest in the signing up for the new Oregon Prune Growers Cooperative association in the Umpqua valley. It was stated by George Neuner, Jr., of Roseburg, director of the association, in a visit here on business. Growers are discussing the new association freely, but the attitude taken by the bankers and larger growers will have a vital bearing on the success or failure of the organization in the sign-up, he said. The meeting in Roseburg, similar to several held in this section, will be held next week.

Liquor Owner Sentenced—
Twenty-five dollars and costs were assessed Thomas Shandley by Judge P. J. Kuntz when he appeared in the justice court yesterday after entering a plea of guilty to the possession of intoxicating liquor. Judge Kuntz investigated his financial condition, and then made the fine with the view of leaving Shandley with sufficient funds to take him to Portland. Upon provision that he leave the community a possible jail sentence was not passed.

A Peculiar Suit—
Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Pettyjohn have been made defendants in an action brought by Lillian E. Flint of Eugene. While driving in Eugene several months ago Mrs. Pettyjohn was forced onto a sidewalk by a truck which crowded her car off the street. Miss Flint stepped from behind a telephone pole in front of the car just as it stopped. She fell and in getting up scraped her hip on the fender. Mr. and Mrs. Pettyjohn took the girl home and gave her every attention.—Silverton Appeal.

Mrs. Steiner in Storm—
Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, wife of Superintendent Steiner of the state hospital for the insane has returned from a trip to Honolulu where she visited her daughter and son-in-law, Captain and Mrs. Earl Fiegel. The vessel on which Mrs. Steiner was a passenger encountered a severe storm on the return trip. Mrs. Steiner was fortunate in that her property in the baggage room of the ship was the only baggage not damaged, and she was the only passenger who did not put in a claim for damages. The damage is said to have exceeded $100,000. Dr. Steiner met her at San Francisco.

Lions Boosting Northwest—
District No. 19 of the Lions International, comprising Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, are taking an active part in boosting the northwest. The back cover of the Lions monthly for March is devoted to this purpose, offering a welcome to all Lions to visit the Summer Playground of America. There are 11 clubs in district 19, and each of these contributed toward the advertisement. Highways, scenery and national parks are stressed while each city has a small picture of some local attraction. Salem has its court house, with the slogan, "Cherry City." A few words are given concerning the attributes of each locality represented with a Lions club.

Jurist Is Speaker—
Justice O. P. Coshov, of the Oregon supreme court, will speak on "Lincoln" at the Six O'clock club Monday night at the Leslie Methodist church. This program is the one that was slated for February but which had been postponed. The members of this organization are men from the three Salem Methodist churches.

Fire Call Answered—
The fire department last night answered a fire alarm turned in from 435 North Winter street. The fire was in the chimney of the Henry H. Vandevort home.

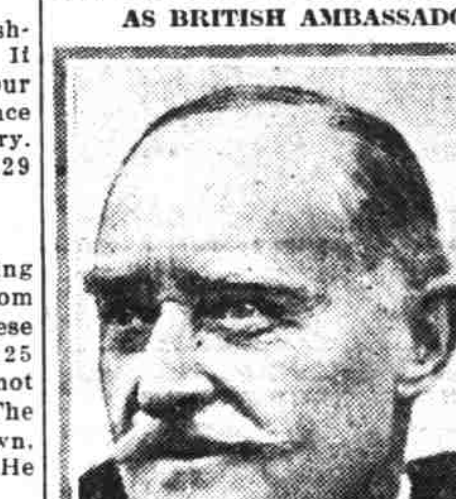

Will Meet Today—
A meeting of architects and members of the Marion-Polk County Realtors association will be held today noon at the Gray Belle, to discuss plans for the building of the proposed community house at the Salem auto park. Fred A. Erixon will meet with members of the realty board and offer suggestions based on his experience as a builder. At the meeting of the Salem Federation of clubs last night Dr. Henry E. Morris, president, appointed George H. Grabenhorst, chairman, to serve with the Marion-Polk County Realtors association in planning and providing means for the erection of the community house as suggested by the realtors.

PERSONALS
S. P. House of Mill City was in the city Friday morning.
A. A. Spencer of Eugene was a business visitor in the city yesterday.
Judge A. C. Shaw of Portland is in the city looking after some business matters.
Claude Basiek of Woodburn was a recent Salem visitor.
Ralph Cronise, of the Albany Democrat, was in Salem yesterday.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST
It was a good record—
No escapes from the penitentiary for a long while—
And then a guard looked the other way for just a few minutes, and six went over the wall. Eternal vigilance is the price of immunity from prison escapes. And that is not possible. The escapees prison has not been worked out. There will be escapes as long as there are prisons.
Newton D. Baker, ex-secretary of war, says he recently traveled over a wide expanse of country and talked to many people, and did not find one who was generous enough to admit that there might possibly be one honest man in Washington.
Work at the state flax plant was interrupted by the escapes yesterday. So the flax threshers were not started. They are expected to be going Monday.
The Scandinavian peoples have not been mixed up in a war for more than 100 years. This is another reason why Uncle Sam is disposed to prefer the Nordic races as immigrants.
Some one suggests that perhaps President Coolidge occasionally look back longingly to the quiet, hum-drum days when Boston policemen were on strike.
Explorer McGovern describes a race in the mountains of Tibet where every woman has seven husbands. Someone suggests that he should take a squint at the mountain.

SIR ESME HOWARD HERE AS BRITISH AMBASSADOR

This photograph of Sir Esme was made when he arrived in New York on board the steamship Olympic. He was recently Ambassador to Spain and from 1906 to 1908 was Counsellor to the British Embassy in Washington while James Bryce was Ambassador. Slim of stature, with a pleasant smile, sparse sandy hair tinged with gray at the temples, and a light mustache pointed at the ends, Sir Esme suggests the successful business man rather than the diplomat.

KILLS SWEETHEART WHILE ON STREET
small .32 caliber automatic.
Walking from the business college late this afternoon, the two were nearing the outskirts of the central business district, when he stopped holding her arm and stepped along behind Miss Ford. Suddenly he unbuckled his overcoat despite the snow storm which had started and took out a small revolver. Without warning shot from behind at the girl, the bullet entering her body at the left rear side of the neck and coming out through the mouth. Miss Ford dropped to the sidewalk. Then Mortimer quickly pressed the revolver against his right temple and fired the second shot. He fell across her body as it lay on the walk. The girl died a few minutes after the officers arrived on the scene, but he lived for an hour after being placed in the hospital.
