

SALMON HATCHING WILL NOT CLOSE

Report of Selling Plant to Grange Is Officially Denied

The Mail last week copied a statement published in the Salem Statesman that the Santiam hatchery, east of Stayton, was to be discontinued and the building sold to the Grange. We are glad to state that in an interview with Ralph Ledgerwood, superintendent of the hatchery, he made it plain that there was nothing to the report.

The idea, it appears, originated in the minds of some who are not in authority and who are interested only in the propagation of trout, and who desire the hatchery closed and moved to some other location for the purpose of trout hatching only.

The Santiam hatchery propagates salmon only, and is a self-supporting institution, receiving its revenues from tonnage, licenses and fines, which are more than sufficient to carry on the work. Hence the public is not called upon to defray any of the expenses of the institution.

Last year the hatchery turned loose one and one-half millions of salmon fry and now has on hand three and a quarter millions of the little fellows which will soon be ready to turn out.

Mr. Ledgerwood has received instruction to paint the building as soon as weather conditions will permit and to make other improvements, which does not indicate that a sale of the property is contemplated.

He states that there has been some slight objection to the location by some officials on account of the alleged danger of loss of flood. However, while loss from this source is possible, it is not probable. The hatchery at Bonneville, perhaps the largest in the state, is in much more danger from high water, and whereas if the Bonneville hatchery suffered from flood the fish would practically all be lost; if the Santiam hatchery suffered from the same cause, the fish would simply be carried into the Santiam river, their eventual destination, and would not be a loss.

The Mail is glad to be able to refute the statement of the Statesman. This part of the state is entitled to a hatchery, having east of us some of the most ideal fishing grounds in the state. The location is a good one, and the place is now quite well equipped for the work. The people of this section will certainly seriously object to politics and wire-pulling closing the plant invested.—Stayton Mail.

At another bridge a posseman, experienced in the work, walked across the bridge twice before he was able to locate the guard, a venerable old gentleman of the district who was persuaded to take the job while the men who had been stationed there wandered elsewhere. That there was apparently little effort to guard closely the Aumsville-Salem road was evident about midnight Friday night, for several motorists who returned at that hour failed to see a single posseman or to be stopped. They pointed out that if the convicts were able to gain possession of an automobile, they would experience little difficulty in driving back toward Salem and head for other parts.

It is to guard against such a contingency that the radio warnings were broadcasted last night. It was emphasized that there must be no letup and every one must be

CAN SLEEP NOW SAYS OLD LADY

Could Not Rest at Night Before Taking Korex Compound

"I am an old lady of 76," says Mrs. Lydia Sehon, of Clarksburg, W. Va., "and was very weak and nervous. I could not rest at all. Sometimes I had to get up and sit up all night. Now, after taking Korex, I sleep sound until 7 o'clock every morning. My eyesight and nerves have been helped and I begin to feel more like a woman of 40. I wish all suffering women would try Korex."

Speedy satisfaction after using Korex is reported by many even in obstinate cases where the users were skeptical and lost faith in everything else. Sufferers from lessened vigor, poor circulation, aching muscles, weakness after the flu and general run-down, tired-out condition will be interested to know that the American distributors of Korex Compound, the Melton Laboratories, 548 Melton Building, Kansas City, Mo., have arranged for Korex Compound to be sold in Capital Drug Store at 405 State street, Salem, Oregon. Just ask for Korex Compound.

Why is a true, though apparently self-contradictory, statement like two physicians? Because it's a paradox.

A man from Aumsville way who is a friend of Lute Savage says that Johnson, the escaped convict who was returned to the penitentiary Friday evening, did not give himself up, as reported—but that he found himself looking down the gun barrel of Lute, who is one of the old timers among the prison guards; and he knew Lute rhymed with shoot.

Some folks go at it with the idea that faith is an urge to believe what is not so. But what is not so with one man may be as plain as day with another. That is why one man's faith may differ from another's. It is pretty hard to put either blinders or shackles on faith.
