Representatives of Industries Pledge to Aid Realtors' Association

Cooperation with the Marion-Polk County Realty association in building a community house at the auto camp grounds was pledged by representatives of various industries who met at lunch with the realtors Thursday noon. Frank Struble, of Freeman & Struble, local architects, is contributing the plans and will have these ready in a short time. Mr. Balberg will superintend the building.

It was announced that the building would have a concrete floor to facilitate cleaning with a hose and to withstand possible high water during the winter. The main part of the building will be firmly anchored to the floor to prevent washing away.

Oliver Myers, Salem manager of the Spanning Logging company, promised cooperation and was named chairman of a committee to confer with other lumber dealers. The burden would be too heavy for one firm, he told those present, but that he believed a cut of 50 per cent on current prices could be made for the material.

Others who pledged support as far as possible were Ross Miles, of the Oregon Gravel company, Frank Neer, of the Salem Brick & Tile company, who expressed the view that the house was a community affair and should be regarded as such. He held his firm would rather make a cash contribution so that the entire burden, or a major portion, would not fall upon one company.

Regarding shrubbery, Knight Feary, of Peavy Brothers, nurserymen, said that the season had passed for planting and that all nurserymen reported depleted stocks. Flowering and evergreen shrubs were urged and also it was urged that the camp ground was not a place for flower beds, partly because the tourist did not care for these and partly because of the amount of shade. He suggested Oregon grape, red flowering currant, dogwood and Scotch broom.

F. Ray Felker, advertisers' artist, is willing to contribute whatever is necessary in this line, he told the realtors. Mrs. Richard Cartwright sent word that the Women's Civic club was willing to do its share and pledged to donate as much as the men.

Attention to the advertising facilities offered in exhibiting fine grained lumber was called by Judge John H. Scott, president of the association while R. A. Harris, local realtor, suggested that the retail men be given an opportunity to share in the enterprise and that a petition for cash contributions be circulated.

SOUTH ELIMINATED IN BASKET TOURNEY

East, West and North Will Battle for National Championship

CHICAGO, April 3.—With the south eliminated tonight in the fourth round of the national interscholastic basketball championship tournament at the University of Chicago, the east, central west and far west remained to fight tomorrow for places in the semifinals.

Manchester, N. H., and Pittsfield, Mass., face each other in the fourth round tomorrow. A clash of far western teams will take place in the game between Pangulch, Utah, and Windsor, Colo., while northeast, Detroit meets Walla Walla, Wash., and Emporia, Kansas, plays Yankton, S. D., for the other positions in the semifinals.

The south's chances faded with the elimination of Florence, Miss., by Manchester and Dallas, Texas, by Yankton, S. D.

Pittsfield, Mass., defeated East High, Columbus, Ohio, 23 to 17; El Reno, Okla., by a free throw made after the whistle, held off defeat at the hands of Northwestern, Detroit, temporarily, but went under in the overtime period, 27 to 23, in the hardest fought game of the tournament.

Walla Walla, Wash., had an easy time defeating Madison, S. D., 57 to 15. The Pacific coast team scored 39 points to their opponents' 8 in the first half.

HUNDREDS VIEW STIFF DISPLAY

Haywood-Wakefield Co. Has Interesting Exhibit at Local Store

Hundreds of Salem people have paused in front of the H. L. Stiff furniture store on Court street this week to take note of the remarkable window display in connection with the national campaign being conducted by the Haywood-Wakefield company, widely known manufacturers of baby carriages. The display was arranged by M. J. Marquard, of the Stiff company.

Excellent technique is displayed in not only the arrangement of the window but in the delicate color tone and the appropriateness of the ensemble.

Three female figures are prominent in the big double window display, while two storks, the mythical bird that is supposed to be the bearer of new arrivals upon this earth, are featured.

One of the storks is in the act of depositing a baby in one of the carriages, while the other is holding a baby by strings and is in the act of presenting the youngster to one of the women. Another of the female figures is portrayed as gazing intently at the buggy in which a baby is sleeping.

The third woman is curled up in a chair in a pergola, looking over the Ladies' Home Journal, which is turned to a page advertisement of the Haywood-Wakefield company's products.

As a background there is a finely-painted terrace in which colors are chosen to blend. Imitation grass covers the floor, with a path leading to the pergola. Another trellis effect is developed at the western end of the display, the path on the floor apparently continuing through the trellised archway.

Both the store and the creator of the display have received many compliments upon the showing. Photographs are being taken to send to some national trade journals.

FORCEFUL MEASURES USED BY POINCARE

Paris, April 3.—(By The Associated Press)—Once again Premier Poincare has had to use forceful measures in the chamber of deputies to obtain decisive action. The obstructive tactics of the opposition compelled the premier to threaten the resignation of the entire cabinet unless the discussion of the government's foreign policy was completed and a vote taken.

Meanwhile, the chamber adjourned for an hour, and upon resumption of the session by a majority of the 257 expressed confidence in the government to carry on "the policy of reparations, security and economy demanded by the country." The vote was 408 to 151.

Throughout the session, the opposition continued to attack M. Poincare, though no hope was entertained of defeating or even making a strong showing against the new cabinet.

M. Poincare assured the chamber that France would remain in the Ruhr until the payment of reparations was complete. He promised the chamber that the government would not accept any suggestion of a reduction in the German debt.

Tentative Program for Circuit Rider Arranged

With the date for the unveiling of the statue of the Circuit Rider on the state house grounds approaching, a tentative dedication program has been arranged by Dr. W. W. Youngson of Portland. The statue will be unveiled April 19.

Addresses will be made by Judge Wallace McCamant of Portland and H. A. Booth of Eugene, donor of the statue. Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, president of Willamette university, will read the prize winning poem which was written by Mary Carolyn Davies of Portland. Four grandchildren of Mr. Booth, and great grandchildren of the man in whose memory the statue has been raised, will unveil the statue.

Willamette university students are taking a keen interest in the Circuit Rider, as Rev. Alvan F. Waller, for whom Waller hall was named, was one of the early Methodist circuit riders. The statue has been so placed that Waller hall forms a background for the statue when viewed from Court street.
