HIDDEN WOUNDS

By CECIL FANNING (Baritone who sings tonight at the Grand theater)

Now doesn't it seem both strange and queer That those whom we hold in life most dear Wound us more often than we can tell, But they do it thoughtlessly. Ah! Well!

Sometimes it's the hand too lightly prest, Sometimes a silence when words are best; Sometimes a forgotten goodnight kiss, Sometimes it's the goodbye word we miss;

Sometimes it's the laugh that comes in wrong, Sometimes a frown when we need a song: Sometimes a smile they forgot to smile, Sometimes a tear through a bitter trial.

No doubt we wound in the selfsame way, And seem as thoughtless. Well, who can say? Life is so easy to misconstrue And shirk the things we ought to de.

But we go on loving them the more, And try to smile, though our hearts are sore. Could they understand if we tried to tell How they wound us thoughtlessly? Ah! Well!

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beauifully darkened, glossy and attracive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other in-gredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the

A well known downtown drug-gist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.-Adv. Biverton highway.
