 PHASE 104

MRS. F. L. UTTER and Mrs. James West entertained jointly at 1:30 o'clock luncheon on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Utter, 446 Oak street. The guest-group included Rappeterian club members with four especially invited guests. Mrs. J. F. Hughes, Mrs. George Forge, Mrs. Fred Zimmerman and Mrs. F. Small of Silverton. A pink and yellow decorative scheme, with favors suggestive of Easter, was carried out in the luncheon appointments. Primroses, gaffodils and wild currents were used about the room. Following the luncheon, instead of taking up the usual sewing, the guests participated in a group of especially interesting games. Covers were placed for Mrs. F. H. Thompson, Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Otto Wilson, Mrs. Cecil Hawley, Mrs. A. E. Stewart, Mrs. Elmo White, Mrs. Guy Smith, Mrs. Ronald Glover, Mrs. Lee Unruh, Mrs. Phil Newmeyer, Mrs. E. A. Colony, Mrs. E. A. Petzel, Mrs. Carl Abrams, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Forge, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Small, and the hostesses, Mrs. West and Mrs. Utter.

Ziegfeld Producer of Mirth in "Sally"

Florenz Ziegfeld, who prodigally provides mirth, melody and beauty for diversion of the multitude, is a Chicagoan by birth, and a citizen of the world in cosmopolitanism and experience.

His "Follies" have annually passed in gay and glittering parade until acclaimed almost a national institution. Now he brings Leon Errol, funmaker of great celebrity, to the Grand theater on Tuesday, April 8, in "Sally," a musical comedy quite different from his typical girl shows. "Sally," in its fourth year, is belated of disclosure here because of its two years in New York, with a recent capacity revival there, and
