Woodburn Pioneer Dies—
Mrs. Nancy R. Cooley, who crossed the plains in 1847, died at the home of her son, Rex Cooley of Woodburn, Tuesday morning following a lingering illness. Mrs. Cooley lived near Woodburn for a great many years and was one of the oldest pioneers in that section of the county. She is survived by her son and brother, Judge W. C. Hubbard, of 467 South Twelfth street, Salem. The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Many Learn to Swim—
As a result of the recent visit to Salem of George H. Corsan, nationally known swimming instructor who was here in the interests of the YMCA campaign, 130 boys and girls in the local schools have learned to swim. Mr. Corsan has left for San Francisco where he will have charge of classes at the central YMCA for a week.

Girl Wins Race, But—?
Though Gertrude H. Houck of Eugene won an exciting automobile race on the Pacific highway with Virgil Creson, she will not receive a prize, but instead will remit $25 to Justice of the Peace P. J. Kuntz. Each of the racers was accompanied by a companion. Creson, when he appeared in the justice court, admitted that the girl won. He will also contribute $25 for making a race course out of the highway. The racers were arrested by State Traffic Officer G. Max Flannery, and will visit the judge at 10 o'clock this morning.

Banquet Plans Progressing—
Plans for the entertainment of Edmund F. Arras, international president of the Kiwanis club, who will be in the city Sunday and Monday, are taking shape and include the meeting of the Shasta at 8:36 o'clock Sunday night by nearly all members of the club. Mr. Arras will speak at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday noon and at a big banquet at Chemawa Monday night. Because of the Kiwanis club will not hold its weekly luncheon at the Marion Tuesday noon. Inasmuch as this will be the first time that large delegations from all the Kiwanis club in Oregon get together and that Salem will be the first stop made in the northwest by the visitor, it was necessary to hold the banquet at Chemawa in order to accommodate the crowd. Club members are expected to attend this banquet and to make arrangements to bring their wives.

The Used Car Man—
Tracy is the used car merchant with the F. W. Pettyjohn Co.—a25tf.

Military Training Stressed—
In a letter to the Kiwanis club Sergeant C. R. Lucy, of the army recruiting service, called attention to the citizen's training camp at Camp Lewis in June and urged that some of our Kiwanians attend the session. In speaking upon the training camp plans, Colonel Carl Abrams said that it provided a wonderful recreational vacation, and for the benefit of ex-service men, announced that three times the regular camp food ration of the regular army was provided for those attending the camp. Military drill is incidental, while a great portion of the time is spent out of doors. The plan is not militaristic, he said, but preparedness is necessary as fire insurance, police protection and the fire department. Governor Walter M. Pierce said that he was not militaristic, but gave his whole-souled endorsement to preparedness and to the summer camp.

Eastern Oregon Jurist Now Holding Court in Salem.

Judge J. W. Knowles who is in Salem holding court for Judge Bingham, is one of the best known jurists in the state. He is a candidate for associate justice of the supreme court and has many friends in Salem who will do what they can to further his political interests.

Judge Knowles has been judge of the Tenth Judicial District, comprising Union and Willowa counties, continuously since 1901. He was born in Circleville, Ohio, May 18, 1861, at an early age removed with his parents to southern Kansas, received his education in the public schools of Eldorado, Kans., and at Baker university, a Methodist college at Baldwin. After he was admitted to the bar in 1888 he practiced law for a time with his brother, then removed to La Grande in 1891 where he has since resided. He was city attorney of La Grande for eight years and was deputy district attorney under John L. Rand, now associate justice of the Oregon supreme court.

of government," Mr. Jobelman said. "It has worked out favorably throughout the country in cities the size of Salem. The few failures were the result of the personal equation or politics. I have been called a dreamer, and I am a dreamer, but of practical things. I can see a great future for Salem."

Mr. Jobelman admitted he had been a student of economics and of municipal affairs for a great many years, and is interested in this line of activities.

Public Sentiment Can End War, Southworth Declares

If public sentiment can cause wars, this same sentiment can stop wars, according to Ward R. Southworth, son of the late Dr. C. W. Southworth, who spoke on the world court at the Tuesday luncheon of the Kiwanis club. American public sentiment will ultimately be the determining factor with American builders playing an important part, he said.

The world court has three considerations, the speaker pointed out. These are the veils expressed by the late President W. G. Harding, that it would not involve connections with the league of nations; that the court does not offer instantaneous solution to questions of peace or war, but of matters of a legal nature, and finally that it is of an evolutionary nature, developed from international law. Forty-seven nations are participating at present, Mr. Southworth said.

Included in its jurisdiction are the settlements of legal disputes of an international character while others are voluntarily submitted, or if compulsory, only by agreements between the contesting parties. As confidence increases the scope of the work will be widened, he said. Decisions are enforced by public opinion.

In closing the speaker stressed the permanency of the court, pointing out that this permanency tends toward economy, efficiency and means prestige. Justice is the aim, with questions of right and not of policy, to be decided.

The attendance prize, donated by Harry Keeney, was won by Scott Page.

Two Railroads Report Losses in Last Year

The Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railroad company and the Carlton & Coast Railroad company both lost money in their operations in Oregon in 1923, according to the annual reports filed yesterday with the public service commission.

The S. P. & S. report shows operating revenues of $8,704,943.31, operating expenses of $5,554,836.62, and deductions sufficient to cut the net income to $1,503,935.72 on the red side of the ledger.

The operating revenues of the Carlton & Coast were $57,227.68, operating expenses of $90,586.86, and deductions sufficient to cut the net income to $1,503,935.72 on the red side of the ledger.

The Oregon Trunk and the Portland, Astoria & Pacific fared better. Their reports show the following figures:

Oregon Trunk—Operating revenues, $715,422.62; operating expenses, $534,945.57; net income, $424,508.58.

Portland, Astoria & Pacific—Operating revenues, $393,842.53; operating expenses, $195,407.67; net income, $63,771.89.

Jobelman Offers Cash Prize For Essay on Government

Ten dollars in cash is the prize offered by Fred W. Jobelman, night clerk at the Bligh hotel, for the best essay on "Why Salem Should Have a Managerial Form of City Government." Korex Has Put Me Back 30 Years, Says Mining Engineer.

"I was in pretty bad shape," says John Lord, mining engineer of Salisbury, North Carolina, "before taking korex compound and I had just about lost all hope of regaining the efficiency and alertness of my prime. Immediately upon commencing the treatment, I felt an invigorator and I am still in splendid condition. I am convinced that the benefits are lasting and permanent. Time has put me back 30 years or more."

"Thousands the world over are now using this wonder compound and many are the enthusiastic reports received of speedy relief in cases of lack of appetite, aching muscles, poor circulation, weakness after the flu and premature old age. Those feeling the need of such an invigorator will be interested in learning that the American distributors of korex compound, The Melton Laboratories, 546 Melton Building, Kansas City, Mo., have arranged for korex to be sold in Capital Drug Store at 405 State St., Salem, Ore.—Adv.
